INCOMES IN 1928 SET RECORD FOR U.S. PROSPERITY

511 Report More Than a Million.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—How income soared to dizzy heights in the orgy of stock speculation was disclosed today by the internal revenue bureau in a 500 page book on "Statistics of Income for 1928."

It was shown that 511 persons reported incomes of $1,000,000 or more during the calendar year 1928, the peak year of the wave of stock market speculation, as compared with 290 in 1927 and 331 in 1926. Of the 511, there were 26 with incomes of $5,000,000 or more, compared with 11 in this class in the previous year. Fifty-seven of the 511 were Illinoisans, three of them attaining rank in the select $5,000,000 income class. There were more than twice as many Illinoisans with large incomes as in 1927, when 25 reported more than $1,000,000, only one of whom boasted more than $5,000,000.

511 Report Total Over Billion.

The 511 persons with incomes of a million or more reported an aggregate net income of more than a billion. The exact total was $1,103,863,041, which far outdistanced the total of $868,840,846 reported by 290 persons in 1927. The totals eclipsed the records of the year 1916 when American manufacturers made large profits on the sale of war supplies to European nations prior to our entry into the world war. In 1916 206 persons reported incomes of $1,000,000 or more, with an aggregate net income of $464,263,644.

A hint of the way the million dollar incomes may disappear in the tax returns of next March for the year 1930 is contained in the figures for 1921, the year of the last serious business depression, when there were only 21 of the million dollar or greater incomes, with an aggregate of a mere $40,411,329.

In the orgy of stock market speculation incomes increased all along the line in all classes above $5,000. The classes below this figure showed a decrease as the small salaried men climbed into the higher groups by side turnings through the stock market. There were, for example, 628,766 persons with incomes between $5,000 and $10,000 in 1928, compared with 567,700 in 1927, 270,389 between $10,000 and $20,000, compared with 252,079; 5,578 between $150,000 and $200,000, compared with 3,873, and 983 between $500,000 and $1,000,000, compared with 467.

Expected to Remain a Record.

The 1928 incomes are expected to remain a record for many years to come, as income for the calendar year 1929, on which detailed statistics will not be available for some time, will show a decrease with the offsetting of stock market profits of the early months of the year, when the height of the speculative period was reached, with losses which followed the stock market crash in the fall of 1929. The statistics made public today, which have been in preparation for a year, are based on returns filed in 1929 and on taxes paid in 1929 on 1928 incomes.

One of the tabulations was illuminating as showing the increase in speculation. A classification of sources of income revealed that 10.10 per cent of all individual income in 1928 was from profits from the sale of stocks and bonds and real estate other than capital net gain from the sale of assets held more than two years, which are grouped separately. This was a much greater part of the total than in previous years, the percentage being 6.92 in 1927, 3.80 in 1924, 1.98 in 1921, and 1.44 in 1918.

Speculative Profits Near Three Billion.

The total income in 1928 under this classification which includes stock market profits, was $2,928,141,616 out of a grand total of gross income of $14,867,484,519. Wages and salaries accounted for 37.47 per cent or $10,862,-[illegible]. Total gross income reported for 1927 was $26,208,560,568 and for 1926 $47,435,831. Net income after making various deductions, including $[illegible] for losses in the sale of stocks, bonds, and real estate, amounted to $25,224,326,912 in 1928, as against $22,958,805,-[illegible] in 1927, and $[illegible] in 1926.

Of the 511 persons with incomes of $1,000,000 or more in 1928, 248 had incomes between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000, 106 between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000, 91 between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000, 25 between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000, 11 between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000, and 26 of $5,000,000 or more.

Seventy-three women were included among the 511 persons with incomes of $1,000,000 or more in 1928. Of these

FEUDIST RAIDER OF JAIL CAUGHT; 2 MORE HUNTED

Salem, Ind., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Feud law, which flared here yesterday with a storming of the local jail and climaxed with the killing of one feudist and the shooting of three deputies, dissipated today as roused authorities guarded the jail, sought one feudist in his home and dispatched armed posses into the country to round up two others.

Two prisoners, the objective of the raiding feudists, were spirited to Jeffersonville prison to frustrate other attempts against their lives. The secreted prisoners are John and Cleas Spurlock, brothers, held as the alleged feud slayers of Patton Gibson.

Notches Match Tombstones.

It was the killing of Gibson which precipitated yesterday's spectacular shooting, but the bad blood was the heritage from an earlier generation originating in the Tennessee hills. Gibson had notched gun marks which were matched by Spurlock tombstones. Two weeks ago he was killed, allegedly by Cleas Spurlock as he was held by John.

The Spurlocks fled to Lee county, Va., but were seized, and returned here ten days ago by Sheriff Milton Trinkle, and lodged in jail. There was no stir, no portend of what was to occur yesterday. The sons of Patton Gibson went about their work. Yesterday four of them, Otis, Gilfred, Dan and Alonzo, made a sudden sortie on the jail to take the Spurlock brothers. Otis remained outside, the others entered. Unable to pass Sheriff Trinkle and his wife, Ida, a deputy, one of the trio fired, dropping both the law officers, and escaped. Meanwhile Otis was faced outside by Town Marshal Elmer Gerald. Otis drew his revolver and fired, wounding the marshal in the abdomen. Gerald sent a bullet into Otis' body and killed him.

Citizens Guard Jail.

Word of the feud spread through Salem as quickly as the sound of the shots, and struck terror throughout the town. The Trinkles were taken to the New Albany hospital, and ranking law officers quickly summoned ablebodied villagers to the jail. A cordon of riflemen was thrown about it, with instructions to fire if attempts were repeated to take the Spurlocks.

The night passed peacefully, however. At dawn citizens rallied from Washington county to Salem, joined with officers and members of the American Legion, and set out to stamp down the feud. Three automobile loads of possemen went to the home of Gilfred Gibson and ordered him out. He surrendered and was locked in the Salem jail from which the Spurlocks had been removed a short time before.

Two Posses Formed.

Two posses gathered under George Moore, former sheriff of Washington county, and searched through the hilly districts surrounding Salem for Dan and Alonzo Gibson. Another brother, William, had been sought at first, but was not molested when it was learned that Gilfred and not he had been in the jail raid. Gilfred is accused by Sheriff Trinkle of shooting him and his wife.

The Gibson-Spurlock feud was brought to Salem from Blackwater, Tenn., from which both families came recently. Salem has in recent years absorbed a large number of families from Tennessee, Virginia, and Kentucky.

Shortly before Patton Gibson, the father, was killed, he had told friends, officers said, that he had visited West Virginia previously and killed his fifth feud victim—supposedly the father of the Spurlock boys.

Java Volcano Dead 1,300; Hundreds Still Missing

BATAVIA, Java., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Relief workers, toiling through districts engulfed by whitehot lava from Merapi volcano some two weeks ago, estimated tonight that 1,300 had died from the recent eruption. In addition, several hundred are missing. The volcano is still pouring out sand and lava. The entire surrounding area has been evacuated.

SHIPMENT OF CHOICE LIQUORS LANDED IN U. S. FOR EMBASSIES

Boston, Mass., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Choice liquors for embassies at Washington reached here today in the American steamer Bellflower from Manchester and Liverpool. The lots were manifested as so many "bales" doubtless because the containers were protected with shock resisting material, covered with burlap and insulated against excessive changes in temperature.

Lavish entertainment by the Mexican embassy is guessed by the quantity of spirits, comprising 29 bales of wine and cider.

The Polish embassy is set down for 19 bales of spirits and wines and cider, while the Costa Rica legation has but one bale of wine and spirits.

YOUTH HOLDS UP THEATER OFFICE; LOOT IS $11,000

New York, Dec. 29 [Monday].—[Special.]—A youth armed with a pistol held up two employes in the treasurer's office of the Paramount theater on the sixth floor of the theater building in Times square, early today, and escaped with $11,000, receipts of the midnight show.

Within three minutes one of the employes had telephoned an alarm downstairs. All of the exits were closed at once and within a few minutes 20 uniformed policemen, a squad of detectives, and an emergency squad had surrounded the building. No one was permitted to leave until the end of the stow.

Meanwhile the two employes who had been guarding the money when the robbery occurred scanned the faces of all men filing out through the door, but found no trace of the man they were hunting.

Several hours earlier two men, one armed with a submachine gun, escaped with $2,500 from the San Jose theater, 5th avenue and 110th street, after trussing up the manager and his assistant and sticking adhesive tape over their mouths.

Navy Finds Chicagoans Are Getting Less Flat Footed

Flat feet aren't what they used to be in Chicago, according to Lieut. O. R. Sutherland, in charge of recruiting here for the United States navy. Whereas flat feet used to be the chief cause for rejections of candidates for enlistment, they have now been relegated to third place. Bad teeth ranked first for 1930, and defective eyesight second.

11 "Forgotten" Heroes Recall Anarchist Riot

On a mild May night in 1886—the night of May 4—six divisions of helmeted policemen swung out of the Des Plaines street station, marched half a block north to Randolph street and there in Haymarket square attempted to disperse a group of anarchists, one of whom hurled a bomb into their ranks. Nine policemen were killed by the blast.

Yesterday afternoon eleven ageing men, survivors of the 176 who answered the riot call, came back to the rickety station still standing at 120 North Des Plaines street. They assembled in the musty courtroom on the second floor, transacted the business of the Association of Haymarket Riot Veterans and renewed recollections of a major event in Chicago's history which they feel the public has forgotten.

Capt. Tyrrell, 75, Presides.

Among the early arrivals was the president of the association, Capt. Frank P. Tyrrell, still physically active despite his 75 years. He occupied the judge's bench and the other ten, some of them still breathing hard from the exertion of climbing the stairs, took seats in the jury box. In a quavering voice the financial secretary, Freeman Steele, called the roll, revealing seven of the eighteen members absent on account of illness or the infirmities of age. Among the absentees was the corresponding secretary, James B. Short.

The treasurer, Jeremiah Kennedy, read a list of bills; flowers for the funerals of two comrades who died during the year, and salaries of $12.50 each to the officers. A motion was adopted to send flowers to the sickroom of Comrade Short.

Officers Are Reelected.

Capt. Tyrrell then called for the nomination of new officers and vacated the chair. Up rose John Kinsella, 88 years old, orator and historian of the association, with an objection.

"We're old men now," he said. "I move the present officers be retained. Let the secretary cast a unanimous ballot and we'll have this business over with." The motion carried.

Those present at the meeting included Thomas Meany, vice president, and Andrew O'Day, John Gibbons, John J. Brown, Hugh McNeill, John Sisk, and George Raycraft.

The president, pointing out that Comrade Kinsella had been kept from the meetings two years on account of illness, suggested he might be induced to deliver a brief memorial speech as in former years to refresh the memories of his comrades on the history of the association.

Then Kinsella in vivid language told how the six divisions marched out under command of Inspector Bonfield and Capt. Ward; how the anarchists shouted: "Here come the bloodhounds now"; how Capt. Ward turned to his men, saying: "You do your duty and I'll do mine."

He sketched the picture of the sputtering bomb, striking earth between the ranks of the first and second divisions, of the square covered with dead and injured policemen and citizens, of the station corridors clogged with cots.

Thus the meeting closed. As the veterans stepped carefully down the stairs and dispersed a young police recruit, just reporting for the day's duty, asked a sergeant of the station who they were.

"Search me," came the reply. "Some crowd of old timers having a little meeting of their own. Pensioners, I guess."

HUSBAND (ELIAS) KILLS PARROT WHEN PET SQUAWKS 'NICE FRANK'

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Elias Abbas has executed his once cherished parrot in the presence of the police and tranquility reigns once more in the Abbas household. Elias is a Turkish peddler and liked his parrot, which always had treated him very friendly and companionlike, but when he returned from his last trip to the state of Michoacan, the parrot greeted him with a cold distant stare and then squawked derisively "Pancho Lindo" ("Nice Frank").

Elias flew into a rage and began to beat his wife, Raguel Casim, demanding to know all about Frank. A policeman stopped in and brought man, wife and parrot to police headquarters, where Col. Casimiro Talamente heard Elias' story. After checking his mirth, the colonel investigated, finding Frank was a parrot vendor, the original owner of the bird.

Elias promptly twisted the parrot's neck beyond repair and made up with his wife.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Fred P. King of Burlington, Ia., is a tactful man, and being tactful has paid him. Months ago King visited his uncle, Jacob Katt, an aged recluse who died here recently. A block from his uncle's house King remembered Katt chewed a particularly strong type of tobacco when last he had seen him in Iowa. He turned back and bought a 10 cent plug. The gift so impressed Katt that he bequeathed $12,000 to King "for his thoughtfulness," it was revealed today when his will was prepared for execution.

Haberdashery Store Fire Causes Loss of $15,000

Fire, supposedly caused by a faulty furnace flue, destroyed the interior of the one-story Morrison haberdashery store at 701 South Crawford avenue late last night, with a loss of the entire stock. Earlier in the night John Morrison, 3915 West Polk street, one of the owners, had fired up the furnace. He estimated the damage to stock and building at $15,000.

Wed 63 Years; Death Parts Them 4 Days

"I hope I'm the first to die. But, anyway, I know that we'll soon be together."

With these words on his lips, Charles W. Bullard, 84 years old, retired Maywood banker, died at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He referred in his dying comment to the wife whom he married nearly 64 years ago. He did not know that she had died last Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, exactly 100 hours before his own death.

The wedding of Mr. Bullard and Emily Ann Watts took place on March 20, 1867. For the last 54 years the two had lived in Maywood, at 216 North 2d avenue.

Death Cannot Part Them.

A few weeks ago Mrs. Bullard became ill. Her husband grieved and worried. Last Tuesday night he became so seriously ill that he also was put under a physician's care. The next morning Mrs. Bullard died. Her husband was not notified and she was buried while he was expressing the wish that he would be the first to die.

Mr. Bullard came to Chicago in 1866 at the age of 20 years. He entered the employ of Larrabee & North, wholesale hardware dealers. A year later he was married. Seven sons were born to the couple, four of whom are still living. They are Joel E., Aubert S., C. Harry, and Kenneth K. Bullard, all of Maywood. Eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren also survive.

Enters Hardware Firm.

In 1883 Mr. Bullard became a member of the firm of Bullard, Gormley, & Blackburn, later known as Bullard & Gormley, dealers in builders' hardware. He resigned from the firm in 1904 to become president of the Maywood Trust and Savings bank. He remained with the bank until it merged last October with the Maywood State bank.

Mrs. Bullard was born in Somersetshire, England. She came to this country in 1857, settling at what is now known as Barrington. In 1860 her family moved to Chicago. After the marriage in 1867 Mr. and Mrs. Bullard lived for nine years in Chicago, moving in 1876 to Maywood.

Tomorrow afternoon, after funeral services at 2 o'clock in the chapel at Lake street and 2d avenue, Maywood, the body of Mr. Bullard will be laid beside that of his wife in a lot in Forest Home cemetery which they purchased together in 1881.

RABBIS SUSPEND SHOCHTIM HEADS IN RACKET FIGHT

Suspension of the six officers of the Chicago Shochtim, the authorized organization for the killing of kosher fowl for orthodox Jews, was ordered yesterday by the council of rabbis of the Chicago rabbinate as another step in the effort to wipe out racketeering in the organization.

The suspension, ordered at a mass meeting at the Union of Orthodox Hebrew Congregations at 3600 Roosevelt road, affected S. L. Zevion, president of the Shochtim; J. M. Glicksberg, vice president; and D. Seigel, J. Karsh, S. Zaretsky, and S. Saldich, members of the executive board.

The rabbinate appealed to all orthodox Jews to abide by its decision and obey the ban placed on fowl until the Shochtim agrees to recognize the regulations set up by the rabbis in their war on racketeering.

The suspension of the officers prevents them from killing any chickens until the ban is lifted. If they disobey the ban, the rabbis said, the officers would be permanently expelled.

HERO OF MARNE FALLS IN COMA AS DEATH NEARS

Expect Marshal to Die Any Moment.

BY HENRY WALES.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 28.—Marshal Joffre is slowly expiring. A communique issued at 5:45 p. m. today stated that the hero of the Marne had passed into a state of coma. This is considered to mean that the marshal has but a few hours to live. Two hours later doctors said his condition was "stationary."

Reports that the 73 year old soldier underwent another operation above the knee, or that it had been found necessary to amputate the left foot, were formally denied by physicians at the Hôpital St. Jean de Dieu today.

At both the hospital and at the marshal's staff offices at the superior war college a feeling of hopelessness was admitted. Death is expected within 24 hours.

Recognizes War Chief.

Marshal Joffre's condition of coma lifted momentarily late tonight, precipitating a moving scene between the dying man and Louis Barthou, minister of war.

The incident was related by the war chief himself upon leaving the hospital. Entering the sickroom he softly addressed the marshal. The latter's eyelid's fluttered. His eyes opened as though he wished to respond. M. Barthou leaned over and kissed the soldier's furrowed cheeks, and then hastened from the room, choking down his emotion.

Dr. Boulin, one of the attending physicians, left his patient at 9 p. m., remarking:

Admits Death Is Near.

He admitted, however, that the marshal's "sleep" was one from which he might not awaken.

A national funeral awaits the hero of the Marne. Whether the obsequies will take that form depends upon Marshal Joffre's wishes, expressed in his will and testament or verbally expressed to his wife.

It is widely anticipated that the reading of his testament will indicate that he has flatly turned down such honors. It is believed that his resentment at being relieved from the supreme command of the French army and his further humiliation by being completely removed from active service in the war and sent to the United States on a mission of propaganda has been strong enough to make him refuse posthumous honors.

Hospital Busy Place.

Feverish activity reigned earlier in the day in the quiet and somber Rue Oudinot, where the hospital is located. Dr. Boulin arrived at the hospital at 7 a. m. Then Maj. Nicaise appeared, representing the ministry of war, inquiring for the latest news.

At 9 o'clock Prof. Le Riche, who performed the amputation, drove up. The doctors examined the wound, which shows signs of gangrenous infection. They then issued a communique announcing that the patient had passed a quiet night with slight improvement.

After a fitful sleep Marshal Joffre sank again before noon into a semicomatose condition. It was impossible to arouse him but for a few seconds at a time.

Police Keep Crowd Moving.

The group of reporters and photographers in front of the hospital swelled as the hours wore on and their presence attracted a large crowd despite the gendarmes' efforts to keep every one who did not possess a police card moving.

The monks in charge of the hospital today again persisted that the marshal was not a patient there. Reporters who succeeded in entering were referred to Antibes on the Riviera, where the marshal has a summer home, for news of his condition.

Col. Des Mazes, chief officer of the marshal's personal staff at the war college, however, did not attempt to conceal the desperate condition of his chief. He admitted that Joffre has been suffering for a long time.

First Stricken June 21.

It was on June 21, when the monument to Marshal Joffre at Cantilly, location of the general headquarters during the first two months of the war, was dedicated that the marshal evinced the first serious symptoms of the arterial malady with which he was stricken. Marshal Joffre experienced difficulty in remaining standing during the speeches. During the following week, when he went to the Invalides to take the salute of his former regiment of infantry, he was unable to stand and was forced to sit in a chair.

By August Marshal Joffre was unable to walk more than a few steps, and he was then moved from his Avenue Lambelle town house to his chateau in Louveciennes, a Paris suburb.

Dr. Boulin at that time diagnosed his condition as arteritis, due to diabetes, from which the soldier has been a long sufferer. The diabetic condition is considered responsible for the gangrenous infection which set in in the right foot a fortnight ago.

Early Hopes for Recovery.

Former President Millerand, after calling at the hospital this morning, said:

"The marshal is entirely lucid and we hope that the seriousness has passed."

Gen. Goursaud, military governor of Paris, followed with:

"The fact that the marshal passed a good night permits hope."

Mme. Lafliet, the marshal's daughter, also visited the sickroom and later said she believed his improvement was very slight. She left the hospital in tears when doctors requested that Joffre be left alone with his wife.

From early morning until dusk there was a continual stream of callers.

They included Lieut. Col. Garin, representing President Doumergue; Mme. Foch, wife of the late commander of the allied forces; Gen. Weygand, French chief of staff; Lord Tyrrell, British ambassador to Paris, and Norman Armour, United States charge d'affaires.

Joffre's Famous Battle Order.

PARIS, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The conditions under which Marshal Joffre wrote his world known message to the French troops just before the battle of the Marne were revealed today by Frenchmen who quote the beloved marshal himself as their authority.

Many Frenchmen have always held that this famous "ordre du jour" has the beauty and sanctity of a prayer.

It begins:

"At a moment when begins a battle upon which depends the salvation of our country, it behooves recalling to all that the time has passed to glance backward: our every effort must be employed in attacking and driving back the enemy."

"Stand and Fight."

The message continues: "Troops which are unable to advance must at whatever price hold the ground gained and die on the spot rather than retreat. With conditions as they are no weakness can be tolerated."

It was when copies of this message, autographed by Joffre, were being sold for the benefit of maimed soldiers that the marshal detailed its genesis.

"Everything was ready for a great battle," he said, "every army corps knew exactly what was expected. Then it came to me that I should tell my troops what France expected from them and impart to them the collective order of sacrifice and the will and passion to conquer."

Text Phoned to Front.

He said when the text which he had outlined was submitted to him he made some modifications quickly and ordered the text be telephoned to every section of the front. He naturally had other pressing problems, he said, and the short exhortation to France's army could not be permitted to long absorb him.

"Nevertheless," he said, "this word to my boys was an indispensable emanation of the flame which it was necessary to breathe into the armies. I had established my headquarters at Chatillon-sur-Seine, and words, like acts, had to be directed to forcing the enemy do fall back."

1930 HEALTHIEST YEAR ON RECORD FOR U. S., CANADA

New York, Dec. 28.—[Special.]—The best health conditions ever known in the United States and Canada prevailed during the first 11 months of 1930, statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, basing their findings upon mortality statistics of 19 million industrial policy holders in the company, announced through the Metropolitan's information service today.

They found that no widespread outbreak of contagious or infectious diseases were reported; that a break was indicated in the long series of annual cancer mortality gains, and that "the single unfavorable item in the 1930 mortality statistics will be a considerable rise in the suicide death rate."

The cumulative death rate for the Metropolitan's industrial policy holders was only 8.6 per thousand at the end of November, compared with 9.4 in 1929.

U. S. BULL FIGHTER BOOED IN MEXICO FOR SLOW KILL

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 28.—(AP)—A young Mexican bullfighter, David Liceaga, today stole first honors in the bull ring from Sidney Franklin of Brooklyn, N. Y., who for two years performed in the arenas of Spain.

Both Franklin and the Mexican killed their first two bulls with one thrust, drawing great cheers, but the crowd showed disapproval when the Brooklyn youth used three thrusts for the third. Liceaga, on the other hand, was carried out on the shoulders of the fans and was awarded the ear of the last bull.

A crowd of 12,000, generously sprinkled with Americans, saw Franklin in his first Mexico City fight since he learned the art of the arena here two years ago. His fight today was a novillada, or beginner's contest, since Franklin is still a novillero [novice] in Mexico, although he is a full fledged torero in Spain.

GIRL KILLED BY AUTO; DRIVER HURRIES AWAY

Cook County Death Toll Now 1,116.

Miss Lillian Vojacek, 23 years old, 1723 South Jefferson street, was killed last night when struck by a hit and run driver while she was waiting for a surface car at 73d street and Western avenue. Spectators said the car, a sedan, was going too fast to catch the license number. They said Miss Vojacek was hurled 20 feet.

This death and one other raised the 1930 Cook county auto toll to 1,116.

Joseph Siwock, 26 years old, 3549 South Marshfield avenue, was killed shortly after midnight this morning at Ashland avenue and 36th street by an automobile driven by Bernard Finnegan, a tailor, 2908 Throop street. Finnegan told the police Siwock walked in front of his car and he did not see him until he struck him. Finnegan was held for the inquest today.

Indiana Blacksmith Dies.

Andrew Calish, 29 years old, a blacksmith, 1006 6th avenue, Roby, Ind., who was struck Saturday by a hit and run driver as he was waiting for a surface car at 112th street and Indianapolis boulevard, died last night at St. Margaret's hospital, Hammond.

Mrs. Mary E. Huggett, 82 years old, of Grand Rapids, Mich., suffered a fracture of the left shoulder last night when she fell out of the automobile of her son, Martin C. Huggett, 1641 Hinman avenue, Evanston, in Sheridan road, near the south boundary of Wilmette. The door, unsecurely locked, opened when Huggett rounded a curve, and she fell to the pavement. Mrs. Huggett was taken to the Evanston hospital.

Four Hurt in Crash.

Four persons were injured, two of them seriously, early this morning when two speeding automobiles collided head-on on South Park way near 83d street. Lingard T. Rountree, 48 years old, 6842 Chappel avenue, president of the Randolph Box and Label company, 843 West Van Buren street, and his wife were in one car, and in the other machine were Steve Sasso, 50 years old, 11336 Langley avenue, and Tony Guerko, 13419 Baltimore avenue.

All four were taken to Auburn Park hospital after a fire truck had extricated Guerko from the wreckage. He and Mrs. Rountree were believed to be suffering from skull fractures.

Sugar Grove township—Ina Rollins.

St. Charles township—Amy Yoeman, South St. Charles.

The law providing for woman jurors was validated by popular referendum at the November election.

ARREST GAMBLER WITH FAKE CHIPS AT MONTE CARLO

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

MONTE CARLO, Dec. 28.—The use of imitation counters led to the arrest yesterday in the casino of a German hotel keeper, who had been gambling on the roulette table. They were, it is stated, an excellent counterfeit of 10 franc counters, which the casino gives in exchange for money.

The gambler was found to have 126 of them in his possession, representing about $50. When his rooms were searched it was discovered he had 800 more.

He told police that he had bought the counters in Monte Carlo from a stranger, believing them to be Casino counters.

Waukegan Father Here to Hunt Missing Daughter

Thomas C. Racine, Waukegan contractor, was in Chicago yesterday aiding in the search for his 14 year old daughter, June Shirley, a Waukegan High school freshman, who disappeared last Friday with Charles Tabbert, 17, another Waukegan High school student. Racine has obtained a warrant for the youth charging abduction. Mr. Racine said his daughter's disappearance has prostrated her mother.

RAID GAMBLING BARGE! 26 MEN ARE CAPTURED

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Twenty-six men were in jail cells today and the gambling barge Johanna Smith was under seizure by authorities as the result of two swift blows struck against alleged gangsters operating two offshore gambling ships. Seven of the men were taken from the Rose Isle, sister ship, which has not been seized.

Three speedboats which carried patrons of the games from shore to ship and considerable gambling paraphernalia also was seized by raiders Friday and last night.

The second and most effective raid last night found the Johanna Smith filled with patrons. Several hundred persons were ordered ashore under the escort of raiding officers. Non-compliance was overcome by threats of arrest as material witnesses.

The arrested men were identified as operators of the barges, dealers in gambling games, waiters, musicians, and operators of passenger carrying water taxis.

District Attorney Buron Fitts, who personally led 52 officers in the first raid, also directed the second attack. More than a score of his dry squad officers, anti-gangster squad men and police of Long Beach, off which the barges are anchored, swooped down on the ships last night.

Games were in full tilt when the raiders stepped into the gambling salons, announcing to the crowd of well-dressed men and women that the ship was under seizure.

BORAH WILL NOT HEAD ANY THIRD PARTY PROJECT

Pinchot Has the Field to Himself.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Should insurgent agitation result in the formation of a third party Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Ida.] is not going to be the head of it. One of the chief supporters of it, he made that clear in a statement today which followed suggestions that he might be the logical presidential candidate to lead a progressive ticket in 1932.

Coming on top of Senator George W. Norris' [Rep., Neb.] definite denial a day ago of any presidential aspirations, Senator Borah's rejection of the tendered crown virtually eliminates the only two eligibles in the senate radical Republican bloc, and leaves the field open to Governor Elect Pinchot of Pennsylvania or any one else the insurgents wants to support.

In his statement Senator Borah expressed a belief in political evolution rather than in political revolution.

New Parties Spontaneous.

"My observation and my reading lead me to the opinion that new parties cannot be successfully organized by a few men or a few leaders, however able and sincere they may be," he said. "New parties have to come up from the grass roots. It takes some single dominating issue, accompanied by a dramatic crisis, to sweep people from their old moorings into new positions.

"There are at least four or five vital issues before our people and a third party could not agree on a platform on all of them and could not satisfy the constituencies on all of them any more than can the old parties.

"I do not see any new party, but I do see some realignments which will be evidenced in legislative matters rather than in any open announcement on the part of either leaders or constituencies. That has already taken place to a marked degree."

Representative Will R. Wood of Indiana, chairman of the Republican congressional committee, kept the Norris-Lucas controversy boiling again terming Senator Norris a demagogue. In a recent statement Senator Norris asserted that the power trust was behind the reported movement to urge Owen D. Young as a Democratic presidential nominee. Representative Wood seized upon this statement on which to hang his new attack.

Says Norris Is Democrat.

"In another one of his frontal seeking interviews with the newspaper correspondents, Senator Norris furnishes additional evidence in proof of my statement that he is not a Republican but a demagogue," he said. "Moreover, he now is assuming the role of a dictator to the Democratic party. 'Although he campaigned for Hoover only last month as a Republican and was elected as such, he throws down the Republican mantle and proceeds to dictate to the Democratic party. It shall and shall not nominate. It shall not the presidency in 1932, if it expects to find him battling under its banners in the next campaign as it did in 1928. Does anybody need any better proof that he is not a Republican and obtained his reelection under false colors?'"

Senator Norris denied reports crediting him as saying he was ready to support Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York for the presidency.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 27.—(AP) The American Association of University Professors tomorrow will vote on a proposal to place four Mississippi educational institutions on the ineligible list, as an aftermath of the dismissal by Gov. Theodore G. Bilbo of 179 faculty members last summer. The proposal was drawn up today by a special investigating committee headed by Prof. W. W. Cook of Johns Hopkins university. Convention officials considered its passage a matter of form.

Institutions to be affected are the University of Mississippi, the Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical college, the Mississippi State College for Women, and the Mississippi State Teachers' college.

MELLON BLAMED FOR VETS' FAILURE TO ACT ON CASH CONVERSION

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Representative Patman [Dem., Tex.] said today successful application of the "gag rule" by "Mr. Mellon's cohorts" at the Boston American Legion convention was responsible for the failure of that group to act on proposals for cash conversion of veterans' compensation certificates.

Patman said the organization had not committed itself against conversion, adding that at the convention "misleading and false statements were circulated that the Legion should not take action on my proposal because it was strictly a partisan matter and I was attempting to throw mud on the administration that passed the 'tombstone bonus bill.'"

"This was false," Patman said, "but Mr. Mellon's cohorts were successful in applying the gag rule to the extent that free discussion and a fair vote on the merits of the proposal were denied."

He quoted O. L. Bodenhamer, a former commander of the Legion, as having said the Boston action "meant simply that they did not care, at that particular time, to discuss or pass judgment upon the matter."

The present commander, Ralph T. O'Neil, Patman said, had expressed the opinion the Legion should not initiate such legislation, "but we most certainly will not oppose it."

ROBBER VICTIMS CANNOT IDENTIFY GIRL PRISONER

Victims of recent robberies who viewed 206 prisoners yesterday at the weekly police showup failed to identify Elizabeth [Billy] Rupp, 27 years old, who was captured with a man companion on Saturday after they and two other men had held up Joseph Scherer's jewelry store at 3422 Lincoln avenue.

ELIZABETH RUPP. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Rupp was seized by Scherer as the four started to leave after grabbing a number of diamond rings from a tray. Sam Lovecchio, 26 years old, 1545 Fullerton avenue, was arrested later at Fullerton and Clybourn avenues and led police to a cache where he had concealed rings valued at $1,000.

The other two men, who abandoned an automobile without license plates in front of the store, have not been apprehended. The Rupp woman says she was merely keeping a "date" with Lovecchio and knows nothing of the robbery.

NYE REASSERTS LUCAS FUND TO DEFEAT NORRIS

"Apology" to Nutt Repeats Charge.

Miami Beach, Fla., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Senator Gerald Nye of North Dakota today issued what he termed his "response" to demands of Joseph R. Nutt, treasurer of the Republican national committee, for a public apology for remarks attributed to Nye in regard to an alleged campaign "slush fund."

The statement, given out on Senator Nye's arrival here this morning, said: "It is barely possible that further investigation may reveal that the $40,000 was not a slush fund. However, the committee already has as a part of its record testimony that the money was on deposit as security for other funds which were used for baseless and shameful purposes in connection with the fight centering around Senator Norris of Nebraska."

No Other "Apology."

Senator Nye was asked if he had any statement to make regarding Nutt's direct demand for a public apology.

"That is my apology," he responded.

Nutt's demand was made yesterday in a dictated statement to Republican national headquarters from his home in Ohio. The statement said $50,000 was placed in a local bank "merely for bookkeeping convenience," that $32,000 of it was expended exclusively in congressional campaigns, and a detailed report of the expenditures was on file in Washington when Nye called it a slush fund. He said none of it was used to oppose any senator.

"For Convenience of Lucas."

Wade H. Cooper, president of the Commercial National bank of Washington, testified before Nye's campaign fund committee Monday that Nutt opened a $40,000 account with the bank Oct. 23 for the convenience of Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the national committee. It was to this sum Senator Nye referred today.

Senator Nye's statement as to the placing of money as security for funds in a campaign against Senator Norris referred to testimony that the special fund was pledged as security for a personal loan to Lucas, part of which went for literature to be used in the campaign against Senator Norris.

Extension of the Lincoln avenue surface line from Berwyn avenue to Mozart street was celebrated yesterday with a pageant of progress exposition of the development of street railway service and speeches by community leaders who had taken part in securing the extension. The different eras of transportation from the horse car of the early days to the latest 1930 model were on display. Ald. Curtis Mellin of the 50th ward and Thomas J. Bowler, president of the sanitary district trustees, were on the program. The line is now being extended northwest to Peterson avenue.

SPECIAL RADIO SET DEVELOPED FOR AIRPLANES

New York, Dec. 27.—(AP)—Development of sptcial radio apparatus for use in airplanes was announced today by Francis M. Ryan of the Bell Telephone laboratories in a bulletin to the engineering foundation.

New types of transmitting and receiving instruments are included in the development.

A hand type microphone has been developed in which the mouthpiece is held tightly over the lips of the pilot. A phonette type of receiver also has been perfected. This weighs less than one ounce and is constructed with ear molds to fit the ears of individual pilots.

Other equipment, including a three-inch generator, was announced.

FOUND DEAD IN LOOP HOTEL.

Richard Welles, 55 years old, a resident of the Bismarck hotel, was found dead in bed yesterday afternoon. A house physician said he apparently had died of a heart attack. Welles was a widower and had been a resident of the hotel for more than ten years. He was a retired manufacturer of automobile headlamps.

CUBAN MAYOR IS JAILED AS REBEL; YACHT CLUB SHUT

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

HAVANA, Dec. 28.—Miguel Hernandez Rivero, former mayor of San Antonio de las Vegas, Havana province, was arrested here today and confined in Cabanas prison indefinitely, charged with being implicated in a revolutionary plot last Christmas eve.

The Havana Yacht club, one of the largest and oldest social clubs in Havana, was ordered closed indefinitely tonight by order of Secretary of the Interior Vivancos, who charges the club is one of various centers of activities and conspiracy against President Machado's administration.

Public dances or the holding of elections in clubs, societies, social organizations and unions, or wherever public gatherings are nececcary, were ordered prohibited today by Vivancos as long as constitutional and individual rights are suspended. New Year's public dances are prohibited as long as present conditions of unrest subsist.

Body of Youth, Missing Since Party, Found in River

The body of Roger Johnson, 21 years old, who was reported missing last Nov. 23, was recovered yesterday from the north branch of the Chicago river, near Western avenue and Nelson street. The body was identified by the youth's father, Alfred Johnson, a mail carrier, of 5112 North St. Louis avenue, who said he believed his son had been murdered. Johnson said his son, who was a carpenter, disappeared after attending a dance in the loop on Nov. 23. Young Johnson's automobile, in which he started home from the dance, has not been found.

SANITARY BOARD PREPARES FOR TASKS OF 1931

$4,000,000 Flood Claims Settled for $100,000.

During the last year 83 flood claims, by means of which it was sought to recover a total of $4,000,000 from the sanitary district, were settled out of court for $100,000, according to a report drawn up by Walter E. Beebe, retiring attorney for the district.

The outstanding legal victory of the year, Mr. Beebe said, occurred last February, within the Appellate court reversed without remanding for trial a judgment against the district for $116,750 in the Christy land damage suit.

Fight Trade Wastes in Canal.

Suits which may lead to the cessation of the practice of discharging manufacturing wastes into the drainage canal have been started, the attorney said.

"Special and supplemental bills have been filed in the so-called trade waste suits which will be tried next month, and these may lead to an injunction forbidding the practice of discharging trade wastes into the drainage canal or to an agreement that interests responsible for the creation of such wastes must bear a proportionate share of the cost of sewage disposal," Mr. Beebe said.

Hopes for Sewage Disposal.

Hope that in the near future all sewage pollution now entering the Chicago river would be cared for by a sewage disposal plant was expressed by Edward J. Kelly, chief engineer for the sanitary district.

"The drainage board," he said, "plans soon to award a contract for the construction of the last section of the west side sewer, which will carry all sewage now entering the river to the sewage disposal plant in Stickney.

"To keep pace with the construction program necessary to comply with the federal Supreme court's decision we plan to have more than half of the Calumet plant extension under contract by the end of 1931 and propose to award contracts for the entire west side sedimentation project.

Seek $20,000,000 in Bonds.

"The sum of $20,000,000, required to finance the 1931 program, must be provided through bond issues which it is proposed to submit to the voters in the February election."

The full construction program now being undertaken by the sanitary district will not reach completion until 1938, Mr. Kelly said. At present, he pointed out, sewage from about two-thirds of Chicago's population is being artificially treated in plants operated by the district.

GIRL TAKES POISON; RECOVERING.

Josephine Austri, 19 years old, 1137 Felton court, was in Henrotin hospital yesterday recovering from the effects of poison she had taken after a quarrel with her father Saturday night.

K. OF C. CHIEF ILL

MARTIN H. CARMODY.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Dec. 28.—(AP)—The condition of Martin H. Carmody, supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus, who is ill with pneumonia in a hospital here, was reported unchanged today. Mr. Carmody's condition is considered serious. He is 58 years old.

NORTH DAKOTA CAPITOL BURNS; RECORDS LOST

Flames Make Quick Work of Old Building.

Bismarck, N. D., Dec. 28.—(AP)—North Dakota's capitol was destroyed by fire today. Official records and documents of virtually every state department housed in the four story brick structure were consumed by the flames, which started on the upper floor. Origin of the fire was not determined.

The capitol was erected in 1884, when North and South Dakota were one unit of government under the title of "Dakota Territory."

The state legislature, which convenes Jan. 6, is left homeless, but plans are under way to have members meet on the regular date in the new county world war memorial and in the city auditorium. State officials are prepared to submit immediately an emergency bill for appropriations to construct a new building.

Only Hollow Shell Left.

Three hours after discovery of the flames the four walls stood virtually as a hollow shell. The fire was discovered by Joseph Winkel, janitor and night watchman, at 7:35 a. m. He gave the alarm, but before firemen could arrive the flames already had eaten through the roof and covered the entire top floor.

State officials worked to save records as the fire worked downward, floor by floor. They were able to remove a large number from lower floors, but could not reach those above.

Firemen, sending streams through the windows, were powerless to check the flames' spread. Limited hose supply and weakened water pressure hindered their efforts, and a moderate breeze acted as a draft to the flames.

Former Governors Volunteers.

Former Govs. Walter E. Maddock and Joseph Devine, T. H. Thoreson, former state tax commissioner; Auditor John Steen, S. A. Olsness, commissioner of insurance; James Morris, attorney general; Joseph E. Kutchen, commissioner of agriculture and labor; Secretary of State Byrne, Frank Bryant, secretary to Gov. Shafer, and virtually every state employé who was in the city hurried to the scene to aid the fire fighters and to try to save records.

Olsness entered the burning building and brought out numerous books, files and records and personal property. Gov. Shafer, who had been in St. Paul, arrived in the morning while the fire was still burning.

New Capitol Recommended.

For many years governors have recommended a new capitol building, but it was not until 1929 that the legislature enacted a law to levy a one-twentieth mill tax for the succeeding six years, the proceeds—estimated at $650,000—to go into the capitol fund, in which there is already $900,000, derived from land grants.

Gov. Shafer, who is preparing his inaugural message to the legislators, had inserted a few days ago a recommendation that a new capitol be constructed.

Free Prisoners from Cells as Fort Catches on Fire

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OSLO, Norway, Dec. 28.—A fire broke out this afternoon at the Akershus prison fortress, near Oslo harbor. All prisoners were released from their cells. After two hours the fire brigade subdued the flames. There were no casualties.

SEEK TO MAKE KANSAS FRATS PAY TAXES; UP TO HIGH COURT TODAY

Lawrence, Kas., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Answering the challenge of University of Kansas and Baker university Greek letter organizations, attorneys for Douglas county filed a motion to quash the alternative writ of mandamus granted the "Greeks" by Chief Justice Johnston of the Kansas Supreme court.

The motion was filed by M. A. Gorrill and Henry H. Asher, special counsel for the county; Harry Frazee, county attorney, and C. B. Randall, attorney for the state tax commission.

The representatives of the county set forth seven specific reasons why the fraternities should be required to pay taxes for personal, real estate, and special improvement purposes, and the mandamus action should not have been granted.

The case will be heard before the Supreme court tomorrow.

Hold Woman for Inquest Into Shooting of Cousin

Police last night continued the questioning of Mrs. Viola Miller, 42 year old divorcee, who on Saturday night shot and killed her cousin, George Gleichaus, in her home at 7755 Cregier avenue. Capt. Patrick Macaulay of the Grand Crossing police said he was convinced that her explanation that the shooting was an accident was true, but she was ordered held in the Hyde Park women's annex for the inquest today.

COLD WEATHER IS HANGING ON IN CALIFORNIA

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 28.—(AP)—California shivered into its second week of freezing and near freezing weather today. Continuation of subnormal temperatures and frosts was forecast by the United States weather bureau.

Despite continuous smudging of citrus and orange belts, orchardists said the prolonged cold was certain to result in more damage to crops.

At Porterville, where the mercury hovered around 21, smudge pots have been burning for ten days—the longest in their memory, orange growers of the district said.

Readings of 20 above were reported from Chico, Merced, Oroville, and Colusa. Other low marks included Del Monte, 28; Eureka, 33; Hetch Hetchy, 21; Fresno, 32; Los Angeles, 50, and Red Bluff, 26; Sacramento, 30; San Diego, 46, and San Francisco, 41.

Ideal Skating Weather Brings Crowds to Parks

Ideal skating weather, just cold enough to keep the ice firm and yet not too cold for the comfort even of the spectators, brought thousands of skaters yesterday to Chicago park lagoons and to the playgrounds that had been flooded in the small neighborhood parks. The temperature yesterday ranged from 26 degrees between 4 a.m. and 8 a.m. to a maximum of 33, one degree above the freezing point, at noon, and the forecast issued by the Chicago weather bureau last night said there would be no decided change today or tomorrow.

How to Deal with Soft, Spongy Gums

Combat Two Things—Tartar and Germs—to Prevent Serious Trouble

Tartar forming on the teeth keeps growing and growing down into the gums until it literally separates the gums from the teeth. Inflammation is set up in the gums which is further aggravated by the collection of germs in the sore tissue. Then you have a dangerous condition which may cause loss of teeth and, through poisons formed, ruin your whole health. Be wary of any unfavorable gum condition. See your dentist regularly. In the meantime, follow this simple regime. Brush your teeth faithfully every day and in the right way. Brush the upper teeth downward and the lower upward. Rinse your mouth thoroughly morning and evening with a solution of one part Extol and three parts water. Following this, massage gums gently with your finger. Be sure you use the Extol, as it is absolutely necessary to kill the germs.

Reach the Hidden Germs!

Extol is the amazing new antiseptic mouth wash and throat gargle you hear discussed everywhere today. It is of revolutionary germicidal and penetrative powers. It kills germs faster than any mouth wash heretofore known—so fast it is called the "10-second germicide." It is so highly germicidal that diluted even 1 to 3 it is far more effective than any ordinary mouth wash used straight. Also, and equally important, it is extremely penetrating! Antiseptics to be effective, must be able to penetrate the folds and crevices in the mouth and throat; also the mucous membrane so it can reach germs that lie hidden underneath the outer layer of the mucous. That is what Extol does—it penetrates through to those hidden germs that ordinary mouth washes miss.

Harmless to Tissue Delightful to Taste

Efficient as it is, Extol is absolutely harmless to tissue and most delightful in taste and sensation. And it not only costs less than most mouth washes, but is more economical to use, because you have to use so little at a time. All McKesson Service Druggists and other independent drug stores carry Extol. Get a bottle today and keep your mouth, throat and gums in the clean, wholesome condition that health of mouth and body demands. Note the name, EXTOL—a McKesson & Robbins product.

250 HURT IN INDIA AT NATIONALIST FLAG CEREMONY

Police Charges Break Up Banned Rites.

BOMBAY, Dec. 28.—(AP)—More than 250 persons were injured today when police dispersed crowds attempting to hold a ceremony of salute to the national flag in defiance of a police ban.

Eight policemen were injured by stones hurled by the crowds in various rallies as the police made repeated charges with their bamboo staves across the Maidan. The president and four members of the local congress war council were arrested.

Authorities said 50 persons were treated on the Maidan for minor injuries and 200 others in congress hospitals. Of the latter, 150 were held for further treatment, 12 of them being seriously injured.

Burma Rebels Well Armed.

RANGOON, Burma, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The government expedition of 1,000 trained troops against raiding Burmese rebels in the Tharawaddy district is expected to be confronted with a difficult task, as the natives have established themselves in strongly fortified positions.

Reports received here are they have plenty of ammunition and guns and have taken up a position behind five miles of impenetrable jungle. They are said to have skillfully strengthened their position by the erection of strong barriers of felled trees and a highly developed scout system has been organized to prevent them from being taken by surprise.

The raiding rebels, estimated at more than 1,000, have looted villages and have killed a number of police.

Charge Wholesale Murder.

The chief secretary of the Burma government in a telegram to all deputy commissioners in the province accuses the rebels of murder, looting and destruction.

"The facts of the Tharawaddy outbreak are as follows," says the telegram.

"The rebels come from villages southeast of Tharawaddy and northeast of Insein. The rising was clearly organized in advance and started without any attempt to represent grievances. The rebels committed brutal outrages, murdering government officials, European and Burmese, private persons without distinction of race or station, looting and destroying property, and have shown themselves outlaws deserving of no sympathy. They can plead no excuse either on political or economic grounds.

"The police have already achieved considerable success and the situation is improving daily. The government intends to continue operations until the rebellion has been put down and law and order completely restored."

FILIPINOS CELEBRATE NATIONAL HOLIDAY

Queen Is Selected

One thousand Chicago Filipinos celebrated their annual national holiday, dedicated to the memory of Dr. José Rizal y Merrado, Filipino patriot and martyr, at a banquet last night at the Hotel Sherman. The affair was held under the auspices of the Filipino Association of Chicago. Among the speakers were Pedro Orpilla, president of the association; Coroner Herman N. Bundesen; Prof. B. Dickson, dean of foreign students, University of Chicago, and the Rev. William B. O'Neil. An event of the celebration was the crowning of Miss Eleutera Magibin as Rizal day queen.

40,000 Watch Italy's New Warship Slide Into Sea

LEGHORN, Italy, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The speedy 10,000 ton cruiser Gorizia was launched successfully today before 40,000 persons. The ship was blessed by Bishop Piccioni of Leghorn. The Gorizia gives the Italian navy five post-war, or so called Washington treaty cruisers, of 10,000 tons displacement.

Detroit Student Flyer Killed in Plane Crash

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Howell Hooten, student aviator, was killed in an airplane accident today. Gerald Francis, instructor, escaped with minor injuries.

HEAD OF FARM UNION STRIKES BACK AT LEGGE

Oklahoma City, Okla., Dec. 28.—(AP)—John A. Simpson, National Farmers' union president, has challenged Alexander Legge, farm board chairman, to join in urging passage in the senate of the Walsh resolution calling for investigation of the board's marketing activities.

In a letter to Legge, Simpson asserted that "shouting liar" did not clear the chairman of charges he sought to break the price of wheat and had testified he opposed an advance in the cotton price.

"Were I so inclined," Simpson said in his letter, "I feel sure that I could win over you in any name calling contest, you may have acquired experience in shouting and bellowing at underlings while you were head of the harvester trust, but I have driven mules and called hogs to the feed trough."

ADMITS KILLING DOG FANCIER AND SHOOTING ARTIST

Young Scudder Near Death After Shooting.

A rambling story which included details of a "$4,000 murder plot" was told yesterday by Andrew Dasko, 43 years old, Bellwood shoemaker, as he admitted the killing Saturday night of Joseph Farmer, 67 years old, dog and poultry fancier of Bellwood, and the shooting of Thomas Scudder, 29 years old, New York artist, who may die. Mr. Scudder is the son of J. Arnold Scudder, 200 East Pearson street, realty operator and well known in Chicago society.

Chief of Police Henry Eggebrecht of Bellwood declared that Dasko's story, which set up a self-defense motive, appeared incredible. He said that the shooting was apparently the outgrowth of a drunken quarrel between Dasko and Farmer in which Scudder was wounded when he tried to interfere. Mrs. Laura Farmer, 46 years old, wife of Farmer, was shot three times in the right hand when she also sought to intervene.

His Story of Killing.

Dasko was intoxicated when arrested shortly after the shooting. Somewhat sobered yesterday afternoon he told police the following story:

"About three weeks ago Farmer told me he knew of a way by which I could make some money. He said he wanted a Chicago bootlegger killed—bumped off. He said he'd give me $4,000 for doing the job. He gave me $50 to buy a revolver and I bought one for $10 from Arthur Lawendowski of Bellwood.

"I had no intention of committing the murder, but I thought I might be able to get some money out of Farmer. I showed him the gun and he supplied me with bullets. Saturday night we were sitting in his home and drinking together. Scudder came in. The three of us and Mrs. Farmer drank together. Farmer and Scudder began picking on me and Farmer grabbed the gun and waved it.

"I jumped for him and took the gun away. I fired blindly several times. I didn't know what I was doing."

Scudder Makes Statement.

Scudder, who is in a "very serious" condition at the Westlake hospital, according to Dr. L. B. Joslyn, gave a brief statement in which he said he had visited Farmer's place to inquire about several dogs he had boarded there. He saw Dasko with the gun and grappled with him, he said. He was wounded in the head and jaw.

Mrs. Farmer said that Dasko became violently intoxicated and was waving his revolver when the others tried to stop him and he began shooting.

Dasko was pursuing Scudder down the road outside the Farmer home when Policeman Henry Merkel heard the shooting and captured Dasko.

Dasko changed his story several times, at one time saying that Scudder was the man for whose slaying he was to be paid $4,000.

Lewandowski, who sold the revolver to Dasko, was taken into custody. He admitted the sale, saying that the weapon was one which he had in his home and that he sold it because he and his family were penniless.

Dasko was taken to the Oak Park police station and held for an inquest at 10 o'clock this morning in the county morgue.

FRENCH DEFEAT TRIBAL INVADERS IN FIERCE FIGHT

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Dec. 28.—On Christmas afternoon and again yesterday a French punitive expedition fought a furious battle with Moroccan tribesmen who, on Wednesday had invaded Algerian territory and attacked a camp of friendly natives, killing their chief and carrying off 100 camels.

The attack occurred ten miles from Abadia, the invading force being estimated at 200 rifles. As soon as the news reached Abadia a strong force was sent by automobile, camel and air.

The airmen discovered the raiding party Christmas day and, attacking with machine guns, held the invaders until the troops arrived. The fighting lasted until dark, when the Moroccans retreated. The airmen started again in pursuit yesterday morning and again overtook the raiders, who fled in all directions. On the French side the losses were four natives killed and two wounded, while the invaders had 15 killed and a large number wounded.

LYLE SAYS HIS JOB NOW IS TO CLEAN UP CRIME

Asks Mayoralty Backers Not to Clog Court.

So many telegrams, letters, telephone calls, and personal visits have been received by Judge John H. Lyle, candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor in the Feb. 24 primary, that the judge announced yesterday that his mayoralty campaign must not interfere with his work in the Felony court.

"Since my candidacy was announced," wrote Lyle in an "open letter" to his supporters, "I have been swamped with letters and telegrams from friends. I have also been besieged with telephone calls and visits at the Felony court to the extent that answering them is seriously interfering with my work in that court,

An Appeal to His Friends.

"I am making this public appeal to my friends and well-wishers not to call me on the telephone in the Felony court nor to communicate with me during the day or visit me there on matters relative to the mayoralty campaign.

"The courtroom is no place in which or from which to conduct a campaign for office. My work in the Felony court is a campaign to rid Chicago of the curse of Capone, Sammons, Barker, White and other gangsters, and the political-criminal alliance they represent. My work there is to drive the gunmen, bombers, racketeers, gangsters, killers and kidnapers from Chicago.

"By so doing I will be discharging my duty to the good people of Chicago to whom I am responsible for my official conduct, and secondly will be discharging my duty to my associate, Chief Justice Sonsteby, who has assigned me to the Felony court."

One of the letters Judge Lyle exhibited was from Julius Rosenwald, philanthropist, under the date of Nov. 26. It was as follows:

"Permit me as a citizen to express my most sincere appreciation for your courage, and the fine example you set for such judges who are inclined to interpret the law in a manner more favorable to criminals with a previous bad record.

"It is highly gratifying that the frightfully 'rotten' bail situation which has existed is to be remedied. More power to your elbow."

Judge Lyle, as well as the two other candidates now entered for the Republican primary, Mayor Thompson and Charles V. Barrett, was awaiting the outcome of the deliberations of the Snow-Brundage-Deneen-Robertson group, which will meet again today to discuss the possibility of another candidate. At political headquarters it was expected the Deneen faction would sponsor the candidacy of Ald. Arthur F. Albert of the Forty-third ward.

Democrat Plans Go Forward.

Organization Democrats, who are united behind Anton J. Cermak, president of the county board and chairman of the Democratic county committee, at present the sole Democratic candidate for mayor, were proceeding with the expectation that Cermak will be unopposed.

A caucus of Democratic members of the state legislature was called for tomorrow afternoon at the Hotel Sherman. The present program calls for the selection of National Committeeman Michael L. Igoe as the Democratic candidate for speaker of the house, and Senator Thomas J. Courtney as the candidate for president pro tem of the senate.

Resolutions then are to be introduced commending the Cermak mayoralty platform and promising to work for the adoption of the necessary legislation. The platform includes consolidation of taxing agencies, tax reforms, a greater measure of home rule for Chicago, and redistricting on the basis of proper representation for Chicago and Cook county in the legislature.

STOLEN CAR IS RECOVERED.

An automobile stolen from Max Siegel, 1459 Scott street, Hubbard Woods, on Saturday night, was recovered by the Fillmore police yesterday in the possession of Patrick O'Reilly, 19 years old, of 4758 Madison street, and Clifford Hilbert, 19, of Clarendon Hills. The youths were held for investigation.

OPEN STORES TO SOVIET OUTCAST; ASK HUGE PRICES

MOSCOW, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The soviet government has gone into business in competition with the fast disappearing private trader in an effort to extract elusive roubles from the pockets of the outcast classes who are excluded from the coöperative stores.

Twenty-five "open shops" have been opened in Moscow by the commissariat of supply where any one may buy anything available at any time—at a price. These shops are stocked with food and clothing and practically everything to be found in the coöperatives which kulaks (former land owners), clergymen and former aristocrats are prohibited from patronizing.

Here, however, are the prices: Butter, five dollars a pound; rice, $1.25 a pound; cheese, $8 a pound; smoked sausage, $6 a pound; potatoes, 25 cents a pound; a head of cabbage, $1; apples, $1 a pound; smoked fish, $5 a pound, and ham, $4.50 a pound.

INCOMES IN 1928 SET RECORD FOR U. S. PROSPERITY

511 Persons Reported Over a Million.

29 were single women, not heads of families. The 29 included 18 with incomes between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000, three between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000, and two each in the classes between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000, $3,000,000 and $4,000,000, $4,000,000 and $5,000,000, and $5,000,000 or more. There were 41 wives filing separate returns, 19 of them having incomes of from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000, 11 from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000, eight from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000, two from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000, and one from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000. Three single women, heads of families, reported incomes from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000.

Illinois with its total of 97 was second to New York state in the number of persons with incomes of $1,000,000 or more. New York's total was 243.

Illinois Millionaires.

Of the 57 Illinoisans with incomes of $1,000,000 or more, 31 had incomes ranging from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000, ten between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000, eight between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000, three between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000, two between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000, and three of $5,000,000 or more. The three in the highest class had an aggregate income of $19,609,678.

Among the central states Michigan ranked next to Illinois in the number of large taxpayers.

There was one person with an income of $5,000,000 or more among the four from Wisconsin with incomes above $1,000,000. Of the others two had incomes of from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000, and one from $2,000,000 to $3,000,000. The aggregate income of the four was $10,315,311.

The total number of individual tax returns filed for 1928 earnings was 4,070,851, which was a decrease of about 30,000 from 1927, and a decrease of about 3,600,000 from 1923 before increased exemptions cut the number of taxpayers almost in half.

Total taxes collected on 1928 individual incomes amounted to $1,164,264,037, as compared with $830,639,434 in 1927, and $732,470,790 in 1926.

Returns by Corporations.

Returns filed by corporations for the year 1928 totaled 495,892, of which 268,783 showed a net income aggregating $10,600,000,000 while 174,828 reported an aggregate deficit of $2,400,000,000, and 52,281 were inactive. In 1927 corporation net income totaled $8,982,000,000 while deficits aggregated $2,472,000,000.

The total income tax paid by corporations on 1928 earnings was $1,184,147,142, as against $1,130,674,128 in 1927. There were 10 corporations which reported net income in excess of $5,000,000 while 186 reported net income between $1,000,000 and $5,000,000.

There were 30,444 Illinois corporations which filed returns, 17,668 of them reporting an aggregate gross income of $15,634,945,727 and a net income of $1,012,940,140. These corporations paid taxes amounting to $115,222,042. Illinois corporations numbering 10,370 reported a gross income of $4,704,848,516, but after making deductions, computed an aggregate deficit of $179,767,433. There were 2,406 other Illinois corporations which were reported as inactive.

Estate tax returns filed during 1929 totaled 3,582 and reported gross estates valued at $3,843,514,150 with a net taxable value of $2,268,328,442.

U. S. REFUNDS $126,836,333 IN TAXES; $15,000,000 TO STEEL CORPORATION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—Fifteen business houses, four of them in Chicago, received federal tax refunds of more than $1,000,000 each during the government's fiscal year ending last June 30. The total refunded to all taxpayers was $126,836,333.

The names of individuals, firms and estates who during the year were handed back more than $500 each in erroneously collected income, capital stock, estate, sales and other kinds of taxes was made public today when the treasury transmitted the list to congress in accordance with a law passed in 1922. From 1922 to 1930 inclusive the amount paid back totaled $1,201,789,692. The refunds in 1926 were $190,164,359.

Single Refund of $15,000,000.

With a single income tax refund of $15,205,343, the United States Steel corporation of New York was the largest single beneficiary during 1930. A subsidiary of the same corporation, the Carnegie Steel company of New Jersey, topped the list in 1929 with a refund of $25,847,259.

Second from the standpoint of size in 1930 was a refund of $7,068,924 to Swift & Co. of Chicago, and third, a refund of $3,765,901 to Libby, McNeill and Libby of Chicago. Other concerns receiving more than one million dollars each were:

Eastman Kodak company, Rochester, N. Y., $3,416,218; the Philadelphia company, Pittsburgh, $2,791,404; Baldwin Locomotive works, Philadelphia, $2,099,879; Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad company, Chicago, $1,790,250; Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway company, Topeka, Kas., $1,645,337; Plankinton Packing company, Milwaukee, $1,543,797; Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, Washington, D. C., $1,393,268; Southern Pacific company, New York, $1,334,907; the Pullman company, Chicago, $1,147,285; Central Steel company, Massillon, O., $1,058,121; Metropolitan Life Insurance company, New York, $1,057,002; United Fuel Gas company, Charleston, W. Va., $1,016,750.

122 in Illinois Benefit.

One hundred twenty-two individuals and business concerns in Illinois received refunds of more than $5,000 each, while 2,000 were given amounts of more than $500. By far the largest part of these were paid to Chicagoans.

Mayor Thompson is $2,464 better off as a result of Uncle Sam's tax repayments. Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick received $86,797, and Julius Rosenwald $12,430. Other prominent Chicagoans on the list included: Edward T. Blair, $1,363; Henry A. Blair, $1,378; S. W. Elmore, $1,971; A. W. Goodrich, $787; Albert W. Harris, $800; James Stanley Joyce, $1,360; Martin J. Insull, $747; Lawrence H. Whiting, $3,190, and J. C. Shaffer, $64,572.

Rockefellers Get $462,000.

A galaxy of well known personages in other states benefited to a large or small extent from the treasury refunds, among them the following:

John D. Rockefeller, $448,406; John D. Rockefeller Jr., $14,370; John Jacob Astor, $463,236; Waldorf Astor, $1,520; Frank J. Gould, $36,043; J. C. Penney, $7,716; Mrs. Daniel Guggenheim, $1,734; O. P. Van Sweringen, $22,647; M. J. Van Sweringen, $27,820; Irene E. du Pont, $867; Robert Dollar, $11,159; Henry Ford, $46,060; William Harrison Dempsey, $1,115; William James Durant, $2,026; Bernard M. Baruch, $1,660; Madame Alla Nazimova, $562; Montague Love, $1,616; Ignace Jan Paderewski, $4,359; James W. Gerard, $2,748; James Cousens, $3,877; Bertrand F. Snell, $4,516; Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, $964.

The estate of William Jennings Bryan, administered by Ruth Bryan Owen and W. J. Bryan Jr., received $7,241; the estate of Phebe A. Hearst, $5,500; the estate of Frank Munsey, $11,789, and the estate of George A. Brennan, $2,352.

Dodge Estate Leads in Michigan.

The estate of Horace E. Dodge, Detroit, was the largest single refund made in Michigan, the Plankinton Packing company, already mentioned, had the largest in Wisconsin, while the Advance-Rumely company, La Porte, had the largest in Indiana, $151,659. The Mississippi River Power company, with offices at St. Louis, Mo., topped the list in the Iowa district.

Other large beneficiaries in the Chicago area states in order of the size of their refunds follow:

MICHIGAN — Estate of John F. Dodge, Detroit, $973,016; Fisher Body corporation, Detroit, $238,459; McCord Manufacturing Company of New York, Chicago, $99,253; Cummer Diggins company, Cadillac, $51,038; Cage Coal company, Bay City, $44,895; Lawrence D. MUNICIPAL COURT JUDGMENTS IN YEAR 30 MILLION

Money judgments amounting to $29,976,978 were given in the Municipal courts during 1930, according to the annual report announced yesterday by Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby.

There was a total of 482,804 cases filed, and 438,265 cases disposed of. Of this number 323,561 were criminal and quasi-criminal cases, and 159,243 were civil matters. In the Felony court 10,101 cases were heard, resulting in 4,673 discharges and 5,428 grand jury holdings. Writs served by the bailiff's office totaled 100,300. At a cost of $139,842, 8,930 jurors were drawn. Bonds issued were 6,383, with 1,391 forfeitures. Traffic cases gave a revenue of $285,413 in collected fines.

An annual report given out by Harry Olson, who retired recently as chief justice, shows a decrease in murder cases for the year. In 1930 there were 94 cases of murder, compared with 132 for 1929, 205 for 1928, and 213 for 1927. There were also fewer cases of manslaughter, robbery, and burglary in 1930 than in the preceding three years.

TURKEY ACTS TO CRUSH REVOLT EMBERS OF ISLAM

Arrest 500 of Old Order; Prepare for Executions.

ISTANBUL, Dec. 28. — (AP) — The Turkish government today began wholesale arrests to squelch the latest movement for restoration of the Caliphate [rule of the church], abolished by the Nationalist government in 1922.

At the same time Premier Ismet Pasha, after conferring with President Mustapha Kemal Pasha, departed for Angora to present before parliament a law which would give the government drastic powers in curbing adherents of the former Islamic control of the state.

Forecast Executions.

Officials said a religious revolt at Menenmen Wednesday necessitated the government's wiping out all adherents of the old order, admitted to number thousands. This was interpreted as meaning that leaders of the movement would be executed.

With about 500 persons arrested throughout Turkey, including many dervishes, priests, sheiks and some officials of Fethi Bey's Liberal party, which recently gave up formal opposition to Kemal Pasha, the authorities also may establish the Turkish chekas. These bodies, called tribunals, of independence, were responsible for breaking the last religious revolt, led by Sheik Said in 1925.

The current trouble grows out of an attempted revolution incited at Menemen last Wednesday by a group of dervishes. Wearing the forbidden fezzes, they entered the village, which is near Smyrna, under a religious banner and harangued the populace on the evils of the forced introduction of the occidental hat and the new alphabet, which replaces the ancient and complicated Turkish script.

The Head School Teacher.

Some of the populace joined them, and a young school teacher who protested, attempting to call the police, was beheaded. After killing two gendarmes and wounding four civilians, the rebels fled, leaving behind three dead and one prisoner.

When the chekas hanged Sheik Said and 21 of his followers five years ago, outspoken agitation for restoration of the caliphate ceased for a time.

Kurds Again Active.

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

TEHERAN, Persia, Dec. 28.—Fresh details of the renewal of the Kurdish revolt against the Turks are now available, and from authoritative information it is apparent that there has been stiff fighting and heavy losses on both sides.

The revolt was reported to have ceased on Sept. 10 when Ihsan Pasha Al Nuri, the Kurdish rebel commander-in-chief, surrendered to Teheran authorities, but was paroled because he was merely a political offender.

Turkish troops then occupied the 17,000 foot high Mount Aghri, but later withdrew and encamped in a valley, owing to heavy snows. When Nuri Pasha learned of the Turkish evacuation of Mount Aghri he immediately fled from Teheran, breaking his parole, and regained the hills on Dec. 5, occupying the village of Batnus as headquarters, and published a proclamation to the Kurdish tribes, calling on them to join a new rising.

Turks Kill 37 Rebels.

On Dec. 12 a body of 350 picked rebel warriors crossed the frontier into Turkey. The losses were considerable on both sides. Other battles took place at Kera Ali and at Kezar fortress, where 37 rebels were killed when they engaged a Turkish corps. A rebel detachment also attacked and looted a large motor caravan, proceeding from Siwarik to Diarbekir.

GOATHERD FINDS PERSIAN RELICS OF 2,500 YRS. AGO

Art Coffin, Crystal Wine Bottle to Go to London.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TEHERAN, Persia, Dec. 28.—Two ancient art objects representing the art and religion of the followers of Zoroaster who, according to tradition, founded the great Irano-Persian empire in 600 B. C., will soon be added to the Persian collection at the London arts exhibition which will take place during January and February of the coming year.

The two art objects, a wood coffin and a crystal wine bottle, were discovered in a Zoroastrian graveyard, or "tower of silence," by a Mohammedan shepherd who was searching for a lost goat among the hills near Turbat-i-Haidari in northeast Persia.

Adorned with Gold Wire.

The coffin, which has a convex top, is made of strong wood planks in two layers. One of the woods had not been identified, but the other is fragrant aloe. The colors on the coffin, which are well preserved, are green, azure and red, and over it are undeciphered writings and decorations in very thin gold wire.

The upper half of the top can be raised and bears several pictures which may have religious significance. In the center are raised figures of a bull, a pigeon and a dragon with a man's head. At the right of this group are pictures of sunfish and birds, and at the left a building and two mythological animals.

Unfortunately, some of the pictures were damaged by the shepherd who made the discovery, as Mohammedans, who have an intense hatred for Zoroastrianism, have little respect even for priceless ancient relics of the cult.

Bottle Has Icebox.

The crystal bottle was found inside the coffin. It is designed to hold three pints of wine. It has an ingenious chamber below it for ice. On this chamber are enameled with rural scenes a figure somewhat resembling a Mogul or Chinese king. Undeciphered writing appears about the neck of the bottle.

These objects will enhance the value of the Persian exhibition, which already contains invaluable Persian rugs and textiles.

30,000 CHINESE MASSACRED BY MOSLEM HORDE

Loot, Burn and Kill in Bloody Uprising.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Delayed Chinese dispatches from Lanchow said today that at least 30,000 Chinese in northwestern Kansu province had been massacred during the last two months by roving armies of Mohammedans attempting to start a revolution against the Chinese government.

The dispatches said the Mohammedans were again seeking to obliterate all evidence of Chinese encroachments in that far western province of China by massacring, recklessly burning towns and laying waste to the countryside. Two years ago the Mohammedans in opposing Chinese authority in Kansu went on the warpath and pillaged, looted and murdered uncounted thousands of Chinese with medieval cruelty.

The Mohammedans, the dispatches said, in an effort to prevent news of their depredations from getting to the outside world had severed telegraph wires and censored the mails. The advices said a Liangchow resident managed to escape to Langchow, capital of the province, where he finally was able to get word of the stricken province to the outside world.

Asks China for Troops.

The dispatches received here appealed to the Nationalist government to send troops to oppose the Mohammedans, adding "otherwise every living Chinese of northwest Kansu, where Mohammedan authority now reigns supreme, will be slain."

Few details or names of towns destroyed were given.

An army of lawless Mohammedans, it was related, "entered one town of 20,000 inhabitants, looted everything, and then killed in cold blood every person before burning the town with its streets piled high with corpses."

Shoot 4,000 Men.

The sack of another town was described by saying the Mohammedans "entered another village, lined up 4,000 men, shot them all, then left, taking the women as prisoners. The children were abandoned, destined to freeze or starve to death."

Many districts near Liangchow were reported ravaged and the majority of Chinese there slain. The bodies were left unburied, scattered over the countryside, where wolves were feeding nightly.

Leaders of the despoilers were identified as military generals, sworn enemies of the Chinese and the Nationalist government.

Northwest Kansu province is one of the most isolated spots in the entire world. With communications into that area being practically nonexistent, it is possible that such affairs could be kept from the rest of the world until weeks later.

The region is also occasionally the scene of terrific earthquakes. Thousands sometimes are killed and entire mountains crumbled, the world being none the wiser until months later.

Faroe Islanders Seek End of Danish Rule; Fight for Own Flag and Language

BY PALL PATURSSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

THORSHAVN, Faroe Islands, Dec. 28.—Incidents in the Faroe islands' resistance to Danish policies, centered in demands for a flag and charges that the Faroe language is being suppressed, continue with greater intensity.

A demonstration occurred recently when a cutter which was to have brought a bridal group from one of the islands to Thorshavn arrived there flying a Danish flag. The captain of the cutter was told by the pair about to be married and by the islanders that unless he took the flag down he would have to return without them. The feelings of the crowd grew and finally the cutter was boarded, the flag staffs were broken, and Faroe flags were hoisted through the island.

Faroe Nationalism Awake.

A long story of struggle against Denmark inspired by an awakened nationalism lies behind the turbulent political scenes witnessed recently in the Faroe islands, a cause now crystallized in demands for a national flag.

The fight for a Faroe constitution dates from 1906. The first public effort to gain recognition of a Faroe flag was made by a group of Faroese students in Copenhagen in 1919, but this was merely the initiation of a struggle already taken up by private organizations on the islands themselves.

The flag was a red and blue cross on white bunting. Since then the islanders have recognized it as the national emblem.

Have Bird as Emblem.

Prior to this the Faroese had two colors. The oldest was a white ram painted on blue and red bunting. The ram symbolized the islands, whose name originates from the Norwegian "fjor," meaning sheep. In the original Norse tongue, the Faroe islands are the Sheep islands. The second flag had a "tjaldur," a bird, painted in blue bunting with a red border.

The bird signified the Faroe national hero, Poul Nolsöe, slain in 1809, who defended the islanders against Danish governmental officers as the "tjaldur" defends small birds from birds of prey. Use of all these flags has been prohibited by the Danes.

Their resistance dates from the end of the 18th century when Danish authorities accused Faroe nationalists of strong sympathies for Norway, whence their forefathers came. Since then fear that the islands would come under the domination of Norway has prompted and sustained a fixed policy in the Danish government to put down all nationalist movements in the Faroe islands.

As is often the case, suppression has served only to stimulate patriotic activity.

Protest Danish Charge.

The union of Faroe schoolmasters has protested in the newspaper Tingakrossur against the Danish charge that children in their care do not get satisfactory instruction in the Danish language, a recurrence of an accusation brought seven months ago. On that occasion Danish officials personally took over the schools, excluded the teachers and tested the children's knowledge of Danish by dictation. They found that children in 52 out of 65 schools knew Danish better than Faroese.

The Faroe teachers protest further against Danish statements that teachers appointed in the islands have no knowledge of Danish, whereas the fact is that Danish schoolmasters have been appointed who had no knowledge whatever.

Another cause of complaint on the islands arises from the forthcoming publication of a description of all districts of Denmark and its possessions. Men closely familiar with the various regions were to have been selected to write the book. Danish Prime Minister Staunting is writing about Faroe, but has been here only for about ten days altogether, when he visited the islands on two different occasions to attend festivities here. Then he visited only three country villages out of the islands' total of 110. This Faroe nationalists take as a mark of Danish scorn.

Faroe is the name of a group of islands in the north Atlantic, resting in the 62d parallel, about midway between Norway and Iceland. There are 24 islands, 18 of which are inhabited. The entire population numbers 25,000. The capital city is Thorshavn, with 2,500 inhabitants. The total area of the Faroes is about 502 square miles.

The Faroe people live mostly on fishing, agriculture, bird catching, and to a smaller degree, whaling. About 100 small whales are caught annually.

VOLCANO CRATER BARES LUXURIOUS AZTEC BATHTUB

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Further evidence of the development to the point of luxury of the ancient Aztec princes and the ingenuity of their servants has been found at Texcutzingo mountain, a few miles from Mexico City, where a great stone watering place in the center of a once volcanic mountain is being excavated.

Explorers have just come upon the fourth large round stone bathtub with stone frogs carved on its rim. A well formed stone stairway leads from the top of the crater down to the bathing place, which was built to use hot and mineral waters which once existed in the volcano. The district has come to be known as the "baths of King Netzahualcoyotl."

Algerian Landslide Toll Reaches 50; Find 10 Bodies

ALGIERS, Algeria, Dec. 28.—(AP)—About fifty persons, including an entire native wedding party, were buried under an avalanche of rocks and stones in a landslide at an Arab village near here. Ten bodies have been recovered.

GUNMAN THREATENS WOMAN.

Mrs. Lubica Milanick, 35 years old, 1449 North Laramie avenue, lost her purse, containing $9, last night when a man with a gun seized it and threatened her with a gun as she was walking along Hirsch street near North Lockwood avenue.

ANOTHER FAMILY GIVEN NEW START BY GOOD FELLOWS

Able to Relinquish Help of Hotel Group.

"Family No. 14—Back compensation granted. Will have $115 a month from now on."

That notation on the records of the Central Charity bureau means that THE TRIBUNE Good Fellows have scored for the sixth time. That the sixth family taken under their wings for the winter has passed its financial crisis and will be able to relinquish its claim to their assistance in favor of others still more needy. This time it was Uncle Sam who proved the savior.

It had been a long and a hard row for family fourteen. Dennis M——, the father, is a world war veteran whose health broke due to service in France, where he arrived among the first American troops. Before war was declared he was a gunner in battery E, 13th field artillery, and his honorable discharge shows that he participated in the Meuse Argonne, Aisne, and St. Mihiel offensives. After the armistice he was with the army of occupation in Germany, near Coblenz, for nearly a year.

U. S. Pays $115 Monthly.

It was the adjusted compensation he received from the government, amounting to more than $200, and the provision of $115 monthly during the time he remains a patient in the Hines Memorial hospital that relieved the Good Fellows of further responsibility. The government check will cover the needs of the family, consisting of the parents and five children, of whom Mary Helen, 9, is the oldest, and Anita, 2, the baby.

Later on the social service agencies may again be called on to help out the M——s, for his condition will not permit the father to do heavy work, and after his hospital release the income will cease.

Home on leave to spend Christmas with the youngsters, Dennis M—— was preparing to return to the hospital when a caller dropped in yesterday. A frank faced young Irishman with a wealth of wavy black hair, he handled the children left in his care as tenderly as a woman while he discussed their circumstances and prospects.

Hotel Group Helps Them.

"We'll be doing all right for a while now," he assured the company. "I'm sorry my wife stepped out to see a lady who's sick and who's been mighty good to us, because she could tell you more about how we stand. The women who came and brought us things were fine and we did appreciate it."

He gestured toward a small, decorated Christmas tree and the several toys scattered about, reminiscent of a call from Santa Claus. Those toys and the aid given the family came from one of the largest and most generous groups of Good Fellows on THE TRIBUNE'S list, who deserve honorable mention for the job well done.

They include the cashiers, the waitresses, the bus boys, dishwashers and other employes of the Japanese tearoom at the Stevens hotel who have given not only gladly, but until it hurt. Miss Elsie Jones, manager of the restaurant, organized the group of nearly 70 persons and recorded their donations, which totaled about $375 per month.

With this fund the group has been caring for five separate destitute families. Not only necessities were provided, as indicated in the budget prepared by the charity bureaus, but many extras were purchased during Christmas week and sent to the homes where otherwise the holiday would have passed without a distinguishing feature.

The Japanese tearoom group was one of the first to respond to THE TRIBUNE'S appeal for help for the needy caught in the unemployment crisis. Their spirit has been the one that spells the answer to the way the Good Fellows have met the needs of the destitute.

Many more of the same type are needed. There are hundreds of Chicagoans more able to give of their plenty than these workers of their modest salaries. Not a penny donated for any Good Fellow family is expended otherwise than for that purpose, all operating and salary expenses being taken care of by this newspaper. Your checks will be most welcome, and should be addressed to the Good Fellow bureau at THE TRIBUNE offices at Madison and Dearborn.

County Spends $600,000 to Aid 18,000 Families

The work of the county bureau of public welfare was almost doubled in 1930. The annual report, made public yesterday, disclosed that $600,000 was expended in aiding 18,000 families, as compared with the expenditure of $333,000 to help 10,000 families in 1929. The report shows that in addition about 4,000 men and women were cared for at the Oak Forest infirmary.

U. S. FUND HELPS DANISH YOUTHS LEARN FARMING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Dec. 28.—Four years ago the Rockefeller Foundation offered Danish agriculture $25,000 to develop education in agricultural subjects among the youth of the country. The donation expires with the present year and a survey of the results is interesting.

More than 8,800 boys and girls have been supported by American money so that they might have small fields of breeding establishments for stock under direct supervision of Prof. Lars Frederiksen of the Royal Danish Academy of Agriculture. Annual meetings have been held throughout the country, where young people from 14 to 18 years of age have gathered for competitions and to study the year's progress.

More than 100 of the Danish states provided consultants, each with his own territory to supervise and to report on regularly to the Royal Farming academy.

The work started with the Rockefeller Foundation funds will be continued, although with reduced expenditures, as the government has promised to appropriate funds.

CHINA SLAPS TAX ON LOW PRICED FOREIGN GOODS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Dec. 28.—The Chinese legislative Yuan yesterday passed a regulation directing the minister of finance to levy a special import duty upon foreign goods which are designed purposely to sell at low prices in order to compete with Chinese manufactured goods.

The regulation is intended to hit goods which are sold in China at lower prices than which they are sold in the country of origin or in other countries or which are sold in China cheaper than at the cost of production.

While the new regulation is primarily designed to prevent Russia from dumping goods in Manchuria, it will also affect the products of other European countries and Japan, which sell here at ridiculously low prices due to competitive drives to capture China's market as the means of relieving unemployment abroad. The regulation is the direct outcome of visits to China of numerous foreign commissions.

CHINA GIVES CABLE COMPANIES 3 DAYS TO END MONOPOLY ROW

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Dec. 28.—Imminent possibility exists of complete cessation of the submarine cable communication between China and England and other countries, including the United States, as the result of a breakdown in the negotiations between the Chinese government and the foreign cable companies, including the American Commercial Pacific, the British Eastern Extension, and the Danish Great Northern companies.

These three cable companies, whose interests here are pooled under Anglo-Danish control, have been seeking the renewal of the monopolistic concession which has existed for the last 25 years.

The national state council which has threatened drastic action in the event the cable companies do not accept the conditions laid down by the Chinese government within the next three days.

NEW YEAR'S JOBS IS SPECIAL PLEA OF SALLY TODAY

Hundreds Ask for Work of Any Kind.

Sally Joy Brown is hoping that enough jobs will be reported to her today and tomorrow to make the New Year really a happy one for a number of jobless.

Hundreds of men and women, boys and girls in Chicago's army of unemployed have gotten jobs through Sally's helpfulness during the last few months. Hundreds more have had to be turned away because not enough requests for help were received. Many of them have waited for months without hearing of a single position. Scores of them have gone hungry. Others have sought unavailingly for work until their clothing was too worn and ragged for them to brave further interviews in the types of institutions where they formerly had been employed.

See Brighter Days Ahead.

There seems to be a spirit abroad in Chicago these days that bodes well for the coming months—a feeling that the worst must be over with the departure of 1930. If you join in the feeling and can provide work for some of the jobless, or know where work is available, you couldn't do anything more certain to bolster that spirit than to report that job to Sally Joy Brown today.

From those hopeful ones waiting at the Illinois free employment service at 116 North Dearborn street she will send a man or a woman to fill the position as speedily as possible.

Many calls have come in during the last few days for women or girls to assist with housework and serving at New Year's parties or dinners. Each such call is a boon to the needy. Jobs now mean a happier outlook for 1931.

Jobs for Men Needed.

Jobs for men are even more needed than for women. Any temporary or permanent job of any nature whatever will be welcomed. Every class of tradesmen and laborers, skilled and unskilled, is listed with the free employment service. Whether you want a painter or a blacksmith, a mechanic or a salesman, a shipping clerk or an office executive, you can find one awaiting the call. Their ability is vouched for by the bureau—otherwise they are not sent out to be interviewed.

Sally Joy Brown can be reached today and tomorrow at Superior 0100.

CLARKE REBUKES 'DELINQUENTS' IN RELIEF CAMPAIGN

Hits Those Declining to Deduct Pay.

Philip R. Clarke, chairman of the five million dollar relief fund campaign to aid the unemployed, yesterday issued a statement criticising those companies which have declined to adopt the pay deduction plan sponsored by the drive committee as a means of raising the money.

At the same time Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, head of the women's division of the unemployment commission, issued a cheerful report on her division's achievements to date and cited a number of industrial groups for the cooperation extended.

"The delinquent concerns had been counted on for generous contributions," declared Mr. Clarke. "They have seemingly wished themselves out of the picture and a few have actually turned deaf ears to our requests for coöperation.

Finds Employés Willing.

"These concerns have been doing business in Chicago for many years, have enjoyed the patronage of many who may now be in need, and have benefited from every constructive movement undertaken in the community. I happen to know that employés in general—and this includes those working for concerns considering themselves exempt—are willing and eager to do their part if given the opportunity."

Mrs. Fairbank's report states that her organization, mainly comprising volunteers from women's clubs and parent-teachers' associations, has to date collected 16,000 pair of shoes, 12,000 articles of feminine wear, 30,000 articles of men's wear, 18,000 sweaters, and 10,000 infants' garments.

Shoes are repaired at a shop donated by O'Connor & Goldberg. Tailoring is done in a building at Harrison and Wells streets, everything but the labor being donated and the workers being previously unemployed persons.

Clean Garments Without Charge.

The Master Cleaners' and Dyers' association and the Chicago Laundrymen's association are cleaning thousands of garments free of charge. Space in 32 collection depots has been donated and various trucking and express companies are giving free haulage service.

"Notwithstanding the fine response we will soon be out of clothes," Mrs. Kellogg stated. "We are filling family requisitions sent out by the charities at a rate of 500 daily. We shall, therefore, continue our endeavors until we feel confident that the last available garment has been given."

THE OLD BEAR OIL.

Senator Norris has put aside Prof. Dewey's suggestion that he start a third party. He would. He prefers to have a nuisance value in the Republican party rather than to put out his lamp by trying another party movement. Mr. Norris' guiding reasons are eminently sound, but he did not state them. He had recourse to nonsense. He said it was no time to undertake such political action and would not be until party control had been restored to the people by such reforms as the abolition of the electoral college. With that would go the direct nomination and election of the President.

The democracy already indicates that its appetite is too big for its digestion. Its maw has been so widened that the rest of its organic processes are ineffectual. It can't take care of what it eats. Direct primaries had the support of seemingly reasonable theories. That these theories were any better than the theory of delegation of responsibility in representative conventions was not much examined for proof. The new theories were new. That was enough. Experience had revealed for the conventions that good theory could turn into undesirable practices. It was not considered that the same thing might happen in the direct primaries. Now experience has tested them and the results are not encouraging.

The qualities of public service obtained from the direct nomination of candidates do not seem to exclude the scoundrel or the incompetent. Much experience reveals stupidity and dishonesty have been supported and protected by the elimination of the convention in American political action. Pure democrary as a substitute for representative democracy has not proved itself by its products. The doctrine of the direct primary overidealizes the voting population. It supposes for it too much information, more willingness than it has to accept the serious responsibility of making considerate decisions, more than its actual freedom from prejudices and unwise enthusiasms and even too high a purpose. If the theory worked well, the consequences would show it. They do not and it is not good citizenship to insist that they must and shall.

It is political instinct with such politicians as Mr. Norris to pretend that the failures of government are attributable to the restrictions of popular political action. The American people have the widest exercise of political rights any democracy ever knew, and when they muddle up their governments it is because they do not use the great powers they have with good spirit and good sense. It is cheap political trickery to encourage them in the self-deception that the fault is in the limitation of their rights by some malign control.

ANOTHER CANDIDATE SPEAKS.

Mr. Cermak's announcement, accepting the invitation of the Democratic organization to run for mayor, contains as emphatic a pledge for police reform and a vigorous participation in the city's war on crime as could be asked of him. Without invidious implications, we may remark that the proof of the pudding is in the eating. Mr. Cermak, if elected, or any other candidate who may win, can make himself a national, even an international, reputation by fulfilling such a pledge in letter and spirit. As Judge Lyle made clear the other day, the mayor is primarily responsible for competent and honest police service, rather than the officers who are compelled to do his bidding. It is true that other political powers, under present conditions, intervene, but they cannot prevail if the mayor exercises his authority to prevent them.

The appointment and unwavering support of a high grade civil service commission are necessary factors in police efficiency, and Mr. Cermak promises that "the honest and faithful policeman shall have the full protection of the civil service law."

Evidence of a distinct advance in our understanding of the crime problem is Mr. Cermak's declaration that he will "regard every politician who would interfere with police operations or would aid any criminal gangs as a public enemy" whom he will hunt down as he means to hunt down every crook, gangster, racketeer, and blackmailer. We have now reached the stage when the intelligent among our citizenship realize the interrelations of corrupt politics with organized crime. Mr. Cermak recognizes that fact. It is not easy for any man committed to a political career to withstand and defeat these interventions. We trust Mr. Cermak or whoever the successful candidate may be will have strength enough to do so. It is essential to the city cleanup. The skulking politicians, minor or major, who pull the wires which trip justice have had their own way for a long time without exposure. We hope they are reaching the end of their wires. At any rate, the system of which they are a part is at last revealed, if all of them are not. A strong and honest mayor can smash the system to bits. It is time Chicago got one. We have had our fill of words. What we want now is action in the public interest.

LEGAL FEES.

Preliminary budget estimates of the sanitary district for 1932 include an item of $1,327,600 for legal services. We have not seen this figure broken down into its component items, but it is difficult to believe that the total is anything but grossly excessive. We say this with full recognition of the importance of the litigation in which the district is and may be engaged and of the complexity of the legal problems which confront it. The appropriation is large enough to retain ten $50,000 a year men as well as twenty $25,000 a year men and leave more than $300,000 over for office expenses. We wonder what legal matters the district deals with which would occupy all the time of ten first string lawyers and twenty second string men.

This matter of legal expenses by the local governments, we think, deserves the most careful scrutiny on the part of citizens and particularly on the part of the bar association. Needless to say, the legal expenses of the sanitary district are not unique. Similar appropriations will be found in the budgets of most of the local governments. It is a matter of common knowledge that these appropriations in the past have led to the employment of great numbers of lawyers and so called investigators who gave next to nothing and in some cases nothing at all in service in return for fees paid them. As a matter of fact, most of the legal work of the local governments is handled by a few employés who receive only moderate salaries and earn them.

Excessive legal expenditures at any time would be reprehensible, and in the present financial condition of the local governments it is doubly so. Chicago today is headed for another crisis like that of last spring. The catastrophe can be avoided only by the most rigorous reduction of expenditures. Budget makers must realize that the reduction in real estate values, among other factors, will result in a reduction of income from taxation. Every dollar paid to a political shyster for alleged but nonexistent legal services means a further bogging down into bankruptcy.

The bar association has already taken action to disbar the lawyers who are charged with having accepted fees from the sanitary district under a previous administration without returning service. The association is to be commended for that action, and it may well go farther in the same direction by examining the legal budgets while they are under consideration. No other body of citizens is as competent to pass upon the adequacy or inadequacy of the estimates.

DR. HOPKINS' BROADSIDE.

No one in the recent discussion of the prohibition experiment has said more in fewer words than President Hopkins of Dartmouth. Except for the constitutional aspects of the situation into which our zeal for short cut reforms has plunged us, Dr. Hopkins covered the case with characteristic insight and forthrightness.

He struck at the moral fallacy of prohibition when he said: "I do not see how individuals or organizations whose solicitude is for the building up of a spirit of temperance can continue either to believe in or to support the theory of the eighteenth amendment as defined in current legislation." There is nothing more sardonic in the prohibition period than the intemperance of this blind and blundering effort to force temperance, or rather total abstinence, by force of law. In the name of temperance the course of prohibition has been marked by persistent intemperance of thought, feeling, and action. The first duty of the nation is to get back to temperance in legislation, in administration, in public opinion.

On the practical results of prohibition President Hopkins is equally sound. His observation from travel about the country is that of every unprejudiced witness and he sums up the practical result, the fatal economic and political weakness of the system, when he says:

"Money which was originally collected in excise on liquor and paid to the national government, plus the swollen profit of inflated prices on liquor and the further profits of cutting and cheapening the liquor, has been made available to the extent of hundreds of millions of dollars for corruption. Thus the law has subsidized the building up of an underworld empire of enormous power backed by enormous financial resources."

Editorial of the Day

CONGESTED ANNUAL REPORTS.

[New York Times.]

The executive branch of the federal government still has a good deal to learn about publicity. The senate and the house may lack the oratorical crown of radio, but they have the Congressional Record. The White House has its press conferences. In his annual reports on the state of the finances the secretary of the treasury speaks to a wide audience. The other departments are not exactly dumb. They have their own press bureaus, usually called "editorial section" or "division of current information," or something like that, to escape the baleful eye of Senator Smoot, to whom a mimeograph machine in a government office is a scandalous thing. But these bureaus are mostly concerned with routine matters like crop reports and business opportunities abroad, and helpful hints about how to cure smoky fireplaces. They fail to give the public any adequate picture of the department and its activities, much less of the administration as a whole.

Of course, the annual reports are supposed to do that. But they are mostly routine affairs. A cabinet officer may rise to the surface of the news now and then with a recommendation for a 2½ cent stamp or a new public lands policy, but his bureau chiefs are generally sunk without trace. A custom has grown up, founded in some cases on an outworn statute, of dumping all the annual reports on congress, press and public during the first week in December. The first week in December, for example, four cabinet officers held forth on the same morning, a babel of tongues. Washington correspondents, editors and publishers are too busy, distracted and overwhelmed just now to give all the reports the attention they deserve. Besides, newspaper readers are more interested in what President Hoover and Secretary Mellon have to say, and what Watson and Borah and Norris and Robinson proposed to do about it.

If the heads of departments really want the public to learn what they are doing, they should take counsel together and lay their plans now for next year. First, they would have to agree on a schedule of releases, so that the reports would not fall all over each other as they do under the present regime. The last two weeks in November would be a far better time than the first week in December. Perhaps a clause or two in some of the acts might have to be changed, but a good deal could be done by informal agreement. Then the bureau chiefs would have to be taught how to tell their stories to people who don't know an anadromous fish from a sardine. Mr. Hoover himself might start the series off with a contribution about the executive branch of the government itself.

TREATING BURNS.

DR. FREDERICK CHRISTOPHER, the author of a widely used book on minor surgery, is strongly in favor of the tannic acid treatment of burns. All first aid cabinets should contain bottles of tannic acid powder, plainly marked both with the name of the chemical and the amount to be added to a pint of water to make a 5 per cent solution. Incidentally, this is 384 grains. The amount required to make an ounce of the solution is 24 grains.

The solution should be used when fresh. The surface of a severe burn is to be sprayed with this solution every fifteen minutes until the surface has some resemblance to a piece of leather. It is then left without further treatment except it be a simple dressing to keep insects away and to protect the wound against knocks and rubs. If no spray is available the solution can be painted on with a brush or with cotton or applied on gauze. If no tannic acid is available Shen uses tea for the same purpose. Eight parts of good tea leaves is steeped in 100 parts of water for fifteen minutes and it is finally brought to a boil. This makes a dark red tea with a bitter taste. This is applied by either of the methods used with the tannic acid solution.

Dr. Christopher's plan for treating extensive burns in so far as the first aid and home treatment is concerned, is as follows:

Treat pain with morphine.

Treat primary shock with morphine, external heat, and fluids internally.

Remove clothing carefully.

Do not apply any ointments to the burned surface. If they be present, remove them.

Place the badly burned patient in a heated tent and without clothing.

Use tannic acid treatment.

When the physician arrives he may trim the wound and use different fluids in various ways—simple water, salt solutions, or sugar solutions.

The advice against sterile ointments applies to burns to be treated by tannic acid. It does not apply to simple, shallow burns.

He tells us that in an experience with several hundred severely burned children the tannic acid treatment reduced the death rate by more than one-half. In fact, certain factors were reduced by more than two-thirds.

CANKER SORES.

Mrs. E. E. writes: Please tell me what you know of canker sores or cold sores. Are they dangerous? I have one now on my lower lip. It is not an open sore. It doesn't bleed, but it is a little red, sore spot. I have had them before, but they disappeared. I never get them in warm weather. What is the remedy?

REPLY.

Your description indicates a cold sore or herpes of the lip. Canker is different.

Cold sores of the lip result from infections such as malaria, pneumonia, typhoid, and sinus trouble. Constipation and digestive troubles are other possibilities. If the cause is removed, cold sores cease.

WHY EAT HEAVY MEALS?

Mrs. F. H. writes: A friend of mine always lies down, whenever possible, after a hearty meal. She is middle aged, quite stout, with a tendency toward diabetes.

1. Is this reclining position and sleep good for her immediately following a heavy meal, or any meal?

2. What fruits are best for diabetic trouble? Do grapes and dates contain enough sugar to bar them?

REPLY.

1. Yes, but why eat the heavy meal?

2. Some diabetics can eat dates with safety. More can eat grapes.

NOT MUCH DIFFERENCE.

A. E. M. writes: For breakfast we had cocoa, toast, bacon, figs, puffed wheat, and orange juice. Theoretically, in what order of sequence should they be eaten? Particularly, should the orange juice be first or last?

REPLY.

There is no difference from the standpoint of digestion. Most people begin with fruit, follow with cereal, and end with bread, meat, and drink. That order is proper.

COLLECTING SMALL DEBTS.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Do I have to employ an attorney to garnishee a man's salary for an account past due when the man pays no attention to bills sent to him? 2. Can suit be brought against a man for a bill of $30.00 without employing an attorney? 3. Can you add the anticipated cost of said suit and sue for that in addition to the amount of bill? 4. Can you advise how to collect a lot of accounts from $10.00 to $30.00 without paying the amount of the bill for collection? H. B. J.

1. As a practical matter, yes.

2. Your chances of success would not be good if you have had no experience along this line.

3. Court costs would automatically be added to your judgment. You could not include other costs.

4. If you place them in the hands of an attorney for collection it is possible that the mere threat of suit would bring results.

PAPERS NOT RATED.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—[Friend of the People.]—Can any one find out why the list of bus attendant [examination given last April] or bath attendant [examination given last September] has never been posted? I understand that the bus attendants now employed are all temporary appointees. M. A. S.

Owing to the large volume of work in the office, the papers in the examinations for bus attendant and bathroom attendant have not yet been rated.

It is not true that all bus attendants now employed are temporary appointees.

THE LAST LOVE LETTER.

I'll write you a last love letter,
And I shall say everything
I think that you never want to hear. . . .
Then I'll return your ring.

I'll chatter on of an English inn
And firelight and rain and you,
Of lilies asleep in a dim green pool,
And a red moon drenched with dew.

And love on a star splashed beach one night,
And love on a mountain top
With drift of our laughter sobbing low. . . .
Suddenly, then, I'll stop.

And let you know that I'm through . . . quite through. . . .
"The end of a perfect day!"
I'm only looking for novelty: . . .
I never "broke off" this way!

ONLY TWO MORE DAYS before our good ship Water Wagon starts on its annual tour. Ah, in the good old days we used to book the old ship to its full carrying capacity. But now it's hard to drum up any trade at all. People hate to get on the water wagon nowadays for as long as five minutes. For during those very five minutes somebody might say, "Have a drink!" And nobody is taking any chances.

YOU ARE ARRESTED FOR MURDER!

Or, if You Haven't Been, Suppose You Were?

How Would You Prove an Alibi?

Read of Callum Oop's Experience and What Saved Him.

"I was walking innocently down the street," writes Mr. Callum Oop of West Cornshucks, Ia., in a testimonial letter which we have had framed and which is now hanging in our office, where you may read it for yourself, "when suddenly I was surrounded by a fat, frowsy policeman. 'I arrest you for murder!' he snorted, and grabbed me by the neck. 'Whose murder?' I asked, quietly. 'That's none o' yer bizness,' he shouted, and rushed me to the police station. I told them there that I was a respectable citizen, a college graduate, a member of the Book of the Week club, the Pink Elephants, the Affiliated Jack Rabbits, the Amalgamated Uplifters, and that it must have been two other fellers. They only hooted in scorn and derision. 'Take him out in the back yard and hang him,' said the sergeant, harshly. As they started to lead me away something fell from my pocket. A policeman grabbed it and snooped it around. Immediately the attitude of all present changed. They shook my hand, slapped me on the back, and the sergeant gave me his gold watch, the captain presented me with a diamond stickpin, and the policeman who had arrested me took me across the street and introduced me so that I could buy a drink any time. Need I tell you what it was that fell from my pocket and caused my release? Ah, you can guess."

Yes, indeed, we knew at once. Callum Oop did not have to tell us. It was the new Linebook of 1930—only 10 cents over the counter, or 12 cents by mail.

IF BEAUTY PASSES.

I have no fear that life shall lose its beauty,
For life will cease when beauty has an end;
With her far gone, existence will be duty,
With leaden days to spend.

My feet may speed, but to a goal uncertain;
My sight will fail and short will be my breath,
With beauty past, let midnight drop her curtain,
And let peace come, with death!

THOMAS CURTIS CLARK.

HE MADE LIFE so much easier to bear for so many of us; he gave us so much sunshine and happiness. But now all we can say is: "Good-by, Kin Hubbard, to those of us who knew and loved you, things will never be quite the same again."

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 29, 1914.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The United States government today dispatched a long note to Great Britain insisting upon a "hands-off" policy in regard to the seizure of American merchant ships. It gave warning that much feeling had been aroused in this country, and that public criticism was general over unwarranted interference with the legitimate foreign trade of the United States.

CHICAGO.—THE TRIBUNE'S anti-straphanging crusade produced action last night. The city council passed a traction ordinance embodying more stringent heating and ventilating requirements to be observed by street car lines. The surface lines made an apparent effort to show a clean face to investigations by rushing more cars on the tracks.

PETROGRAD.—According to advices from Galicia, Russian forces have succeeded in crossing the Biala river and in taking possession of a twenty mile strip of territory south of Tuchow, thereby separating the two Austrian armies.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Justice Lamar of the Supreme court granted an appeal from the refusal of the federal district court for northern Georgia to release on habeas corpus proceedings Leon M. Frank, under death sentence for the murder of Mary Phagan, 15 year old factory girl of Atlanta, Ga. Frank was sentenced to die on Jan. 22, but Justice Lamar's action effects an indefinite stay of execution.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 29, 1900.

CHICAGO.—The new century will find nearly all of the great railway systems of the country dominated by two men, J. Pierpont Morgan and E. H. Harriman. The principal lines west of Chicago and the Mississippi are subject to the rule of Mr. Harriman and those east of here are directed by Mr. Morgan. Back of them is a syndicate with millions.

CHICAGO.—Keepers of fourteen "dives" and gambling houses were indicted by the grand jury. Those charged with keeping gambling houses are State Senator John Broderick, 175 West Madison street; Louis and Julius Frank, Madison and Halsted streets; Dennis Foley, 196 West Madison street, and A. Bernstein, Jackson boulevard and Halsted street. Among those indicted on charges of keeping disorderly houses are ex-Ald. Henry C. Schendorf, proprietor of the "Wabash," Wabash avenue and Madison street; ex-City Detective Dave Lewinsohn of the "Mendota," Clark and Lake streets, brother of Sol Lewinsohn, who was involved in the money loaning scandals, and Sim Tuckhorn, 286 State street.

WICHITA, Kas.—Mrs. Carrie Nation, the woman who raided the barroom of the Carey hotel and wrecked it, was brought into court for a preliminary hearing and her case was continued until Jan. 5. She refused to give bail and was taken back to the county jail by 100 members of the W. C. T. U., all of whom regard her as a martyr.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

DECEMBER 29, 1880.

NEW YORK.—Gen. McClellan contradicts the report that he has declined the presidency of the underground railway of this city.

CHICAGO.—The cold snap which was ushered in early Monday continued to cavort around Chicago yesterday. At 8 o'clock in the morning Manasse's infallible and much consulted thermometer outside THE TRIBUNE building—Madison street front—marked 11 degrees below.

DUBLIN.—The Irish state trials began in the court of queen's bench. Charles Stewart Parnell and the other defendants charged with "conspiring against the peace and dignity of the crown," were loudly cheered when they appeared. Not since the memorable trials of 1844, when O'Connell, his son, John, Charles Gavan Duffy, John Gray, and others were tried on a similar charge, has there been witnessed such a scene of excitement as that in Dublin today. After the jury was selected the attorney general presented his case. He pointed out the absurdity of the idea of parcelling out Ireland among a population of five millions, which he said would only add to the misery of the unfortunate country.

FOR LYLE.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—The announcement today that Judge John H. Lyle "opens race for mayor" I am sure is the most gratifying news the citizens of Chicago have had for a long time. He will have without doubt the wholehearted support of the people of Chicago irrespective of party. A. L. D.

ANOTHER.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—Judge Lyle has announced his candidacy for mayor and throws his nomination and election right smack into the laps of the people. He is going to expect us to keep faith with him, and rightfully he should. It will be dangerous for Chicago if the people leave this two fisted fighter flat, for the next time we protest it might not be so easy to find a standard bearer. RICHARD TAIT.

AGAINST.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—I notice that our honorable Judge Lyle, convict chaser, is running for mayor. I think it is the duty of every lawyer to vote for him because the sooner he is off the bench the better for justice. Side shows and motion picture performances exhibited in Lyle's court have been the talk of lawyers all over the country.

If the people want to put a big balloon in office and forever give Chicago the name of not being able to select a mayor, then the people should join hands and vote for Judge Lyle.

I believe that the people would do well to consult their lawyers before casting their votes for the master showman for mayor. JOHN A. WHITE.

THE $8,000 AUTOMOBILE.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—It has been brought to my attention that a Mr. J. J. Williams wrote a letter to the Voice of the People, which appeared in yesterday's TRIBUNE, stating that a car had been purchased for the president of the sanitary district.

I wish to make this statement: No car has been purchased for the president of the sanitary district nor will there be one.

I hope that this will satisfy the fears of this gentleman.

THOMAS J. BOWLER,
President the Sanitary District of Chicago.

THE $5,000,000 FUND.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—If all the concerns which are extracting the voluntary contribution of one day's pay per month from their employes' earnings were to contribute the net profit of one day once a month, I believe that the five million dollars which the governor's commission is striving for would be made in a very short time. W. H. H.

ASHES OF LOVE.

SANDWICH, Ont., Dec. 26.—Will some one kindly oblige an incurably romantic old lady, who doesn't believe in acting her age of almost 46, with a poem for which she has hunted high and low? It is entitled "Ashes of Love." Thanks in anticipation.

GERTRUDE J. F. ELLINGHAM.

BARBER SHOP EXPERIENCE.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—I think that there are many people who would get their hair cut oftener if the price was reduced. It is the only thing that has not been reduced in accordance with present conditions. E. B.

BANK RELIEF OR FARM RELIEF?

Highland Park, Ill., Dec. 26.—[Here in November the press reported certain farmers' cooperatives in the southwest as requesting a conference with Mr. Legge, chairman of the federal farm board. Very soon thereafter the Stabilization corporation bought wheat futures heavily and have since maintained a "pegged" price of 81 cents for May wheat.

It is widely believed in the grain trade that certain banks in the southwest had loaned large sums to cooperatives on wheat. This wheat had not been hedged; i. e., futures had not been sold against it as insurance against a price decline. Wheat prices kept declining the world over. The banks which had loaned money to cooperatives, which in turn were speculating [that is, were not hedging], found these loans unsafe. These banks are said to have gone to certain powerful authorities, who instructed the farm board to go into the pit and buy futures. This was done and is supposed to have saved the banks.

It follows that the famous "revolving fund" of 500 million dollars was used for bank relief under the camouflage of farm relief. At the time the government undertook its recent operations farmers had probably marketed 75 per cent of their wheat. They were just starting to sell their corn crop. The Stabilization corporation bought wheat and allowed corn to suffer a disastrous decline. One of the pet theories of the farm board is that feeding of wheat to live stock instead of corn will reduce our wheat surplus. This argument had considerable merit. Wheat was cheaper than corn and was being heavily fed to animals. The government operations have caused corn to become about 16 cents per bushel cheaper than wheat. That is one effect of the use of "farm relief" funds for bank relief.

Mr. Legge recently received wide publicity in an attack on Chicago Board of Trade practices. His charges were broad, loose, and largely in error. Could it be possible that this attack was a smoke screen to divert attention from the department of agriculture report showing a reduction in acreage of 11 per cent, when Mr. Legge had asked the farmers for a 15 per cent reduction? Mr. Legge also requested that the department of agriculture be given supervision over changes in Board of Trade rules. This suggestion is valued as intelligent as proposing an electrical engineer as adviser to the department of agriculture. EDWIN J. KUH JR.

POKER SKEPTIC.

Kankakee, Ill., Dec. 23.—Your correspondent, Mr. Marx, states that in a five handed game of poker five pat full houses were dealt. If a brand new deck of cards was used in this deal it wasn't Lady Luck, but Lady Science that was responsible for the five pat full houses. I would suggest that Mr. Marx investigate the poker playing status of the dealer who put out the hot hands. No doubt he will find that it wasn't his first game of poker. This is an old card trick that I have seen performed many times, but the dealer was not an amateur. The only thing that he needs is a brand new deck of cards and the privilege of shuffling and you can do the cutting.

FOR YOUR COLD

Physicians Say

Drink More Water

ALL physicians agree that drinking water is the first step in the treatment of colds. Seven to ten glasses a day help wash the toxins out of your system—aid your body in throwing off this threatening condition.

Then rub Mentholatum on your chest and throat. Cover your chest with flannel, for although Mentholatum does not stain, the extra warmth increases its action.

Just put a bit in each nostril with the tip of your finger. The pleasant vapors of Mentholatum rise so that you inhale them with every breath. Notice the cool, soothing effect—how easy it makes your breathing.

For 36 years Mentholatum has been a reliable home remedy. Try this faster, surer way to get relief. Order Mentholatum NOW at your favorite drug store. 30c for handy tube or familiar jar. (60c for the large-sized jar).

Write for free sample of Mentholatum and booklet, "How to Get Rid of Colds." Just send your name and address. The Mentholatum Co., Wichita, Kansas.

TWO SISTERS ARE SHOT TO DEATH IN THEIR AUTO

Former Inmate of an Asylum Held.

Blackwell, Okla., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Lyman Constant, 35, recently released from the state hospital for the insane at Norman, tonight was arrested at Enid and held for investigation in connection with the slaying of Jexie Griffith, 35, and Jessie Griffith, 24, sisters, near here tonight. They were found shot to death a mile south of Tonkawa.

Blackwell officers left immediately for Enid when informed of Constant's arrest. Enid authorities said Constant, sent to the state hospital in 1922 from Blackwell, had appeared familiar with details of the crime when questioned.

Jexie Griffith taught school at Warner, Muskogee county. Her sister was supervisor of music in the public schools of Norman.

The sisters had spent Christmas at Blackwell with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Griffith. They had left at 5 o'clock this morning to return to their respective schools.

The bodies were found four hours later by C. C. Woods and his sons, who were hunting. They were about 100 yards apart on opposite sides of the road.

Jessie's clothing was disheveled as though she had struggled with her assailant. Officers said neither woman's body showed evidence of mistreatment.

Neighboring farmers recalled having seen a man drive away in a car answering the description of the slain women's automobile. None heard shots, however.

The bloodstained automobile taken from the teachers was found late today beside the highway eleven miles north of Perry, Okla. A finger print expert was summoned from New Kirk, Kay county seat.

ZIONISTS KEEP FUNERAL VIGIL OVER MELCHETT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 28.—According to the ancient Jewish custom, a funeral watch is being maintained over the body of Lord Melchett, British financier and industrialist, who died Saturday. The Zionists provided the watchers as a mark of respect for Lord Melchett, who was president of the English Zionist federation in Great Britain and Ireland.

The first watchers were Dr. Chaim Weizmann, who recently resigned from the leadership of the world Zionist movement, and the Rev. M. L. Perlweig, honorary secretary of the English Zionist organization. Lord Melchett's last prayer was the Jewish prayer.

The funeral takes place according to the rites of the Jewish church on Tuesday.

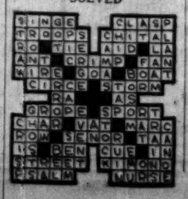
SATURDAY'S PUZZLE SOLVED



"I DID NOT KILL GIRL," SOBS SON OF TEXAS PASTOR

Student in Jail Gets Hearing Today.

Beaumont, Tex., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Robert Williams, 18, University of Texas sophomore, charged with slaying his former sweetheart, today was brought from Port Arthur to Beaumont, where he sobbed a declaration of innocence to his father, a Methodist minister. He will be given a preliminary hearing tomorrow.

Miss Elizabeth Johnson, 16, high school girl of Fort Arthur, the youth's former fiancée, was found shot to death yesterday in the student's automobile. He told officers he had quarreled with the girl over attentions paid her by a married man, but denied the shooting.

Rev. J. W. Williams, father of the youth and presiding elder of the Austin, Tex., district, talked with his son. "I didn't do the shooting," Robert sobbed as he and his father embraced. "I know you didn't," his father replied.

Miss Johnson was buried here this afternoon. Williams was denied permission to attend the funeral.

BOOTLEG COFFEE RING EXPOSED IN STATE OF BRAZIL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAO PAULO, Brazil, Dec. 28.—An attempt to bribe the chief inspector of highways with $2,000 a day to allow the illegal transportation of coffee by night, today revealed an extensive coffee bootlegging industry which has sprung up in Sao Paulo. Three trucks loaded with valuable stores of coffee, bound for Santos from the interior, have been seized. The bootlegging scheme involves the export of coffee at low prices without the sanction of the government, which holds more than 20,000,000 bags of coffee in Brazilian warehouses under its price fixing or valorization scheme.

Seeks to Bar Coffee Imports.

LISBON, Dec. 28.—(AP)—A deputation of coffee producers from the colony of Argola, alarmed by the continued slump in prices, today petitioned authorities to bar foreign coffee from Portugal, her islands and colonies.

Imports into these areas amount to 3,150,994 pounds a year, and of that amount 3,052,249 pounds alone come from the great coffee producing country of Brazil, of which Portugal is the motherland. The deputation recommended higher duties and other restrictions and also urged that foreign coffee be imported only after the Portuguese crop of 8,749,942 pounds had been placed on the national market.

Sergt. 'Johnny' Dunn, 'Cop with a Heart,' Dies at 33

Desk Sergeant "Johnny" Dunn of the Des Plaines street police station, who was known to every West Madison street derelict as "the copper with a heart," died yesterday at the Garfield Park hospital of pneumonia, after an illness of three weeks. He was always kindly and sympathetic toward the unfortunates. He was 33 years old and he had been on the force nine years. He lived at 3918 Polk street with his father, John, a retired policeman, who was on the force for forty years.

Dining Car Poll Shows 78 Per Cent for Smoking

Boston, Mass., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Dining car customers on the Boston and Maine railroad may smoke beginning Jan. 1 as a result of a month's poll conducted in dining cars of the road's crack trains. The vote revealed 78 per cent in favor of smoking and 22 per cent against. Seventy-four per cent of the women favored tobacco with their meals and eighty per cent of the men. The poll recorded the opinions of 7,182 persons.

SYNOPSIS.

Richard Chandos and his wife, Leonie, former grand duchess of Reichtenburg, are visited at their estate near Littai, in Austria, by George Hanbury, companion of Chandos in many adventures. Marya Salm, countess of Dresden, an expected guest, wires that she does not come.

Prince Paul, ruler of Reichtenburg, had hoped to marry Leonie and swore revenge. Fearing for Marya's safety, because of her friendship for Leonie, Chandos and Hanbury, with their servants, Bell and Rowley, go secretly to Virgil, capital city of Reichtenburg, where Marya resides. A peasant, named Ramon, whom they befriend, leads them through a secret border passage.

Marya tells them that she sent no message. Realizing the telegram was a ruse to lure them to Virgil, they are preparing to flee with Marya when the prince appears. The men hold the prince and his servants at point of gun and escape in the royal car. The border is closely guarded that crossing is impossible.

Ramon is sought and he hides Marya and Carol, her trusted servant, in his house. Chandos and Rowley join a traveling circus. Marya sends them a message saying she is waiting for them in Bariche, across the border, where Carol is to take them in a car he has waiting. They recognize the car as Grieg's, the chief of police. Arrived at the inn in Bariche they receive another message from Marya, stating that she is to be pardoned, but she must remain in Reichtenburg and not communicate with them.

Knowing that Marya, endeavoring to save them, has made some impossible arrangement with Grieg, they return to the border. Hanbury and Rowley pass, but Chandos is captured. He proves to the inspector that Grieg has betrayed his trust. Grieg, who has learned of the arrest, arrives and leaves with the prisoner for Virgil. Hanbury and Rowley, hearing their friend's plight, hold up and capture the chief's car. They drive to the castle of Baron Sabre, where they find Marya. Grieg they left, tied to a post along the roadside.

Marya tells them that she was married that morning to Grieg—her price for their freedom. Hanbury, who is in love with Marya, is stunned at this news. Chandos sets out to find Grieg and kill him, to free Marya—but Grieg has escaped. Chandos returns to Baron Sabre's and sees Prince Paul arrive. Hiding nearby, Chandos hears the prince and Marya arguing. Grieg is forgiven when he tells the prince he has a trap set to catch his spy that evening at the secret border pass, as well as Leonie, who is to meet them there. The prince departs. Chandos escapes with Rowley after narrowly missing a bullet fired by Grieg. He meets a young peasant girl, Lelia, who tells him she will lead him to his friends. He intercepts a telegram to Grieg, from Littai—one of many which the girl has delivered.

INSTALLMENT XXXI.

ADMITTING DEFEAT.

The telegram read:

Palette two tubes vermilion two indigo noon.

One thing only it told me. That was that Grieg's spy was playing the part of an artist to cover his dirty work. Their arrangement was simple. A list of painting materials had been turned into a code which if he had it not before him the most skillful of cipherers could not interpret one word of the messages sent. I regretted bitterly that when Grieg had been in our power we had not searched his pockets for any such document.

I handed it back to Rowley.

"Burn this to ashes," said I. "And pick a place here from which you can keep a lookout."

With that, I stepped over the threshold and into the mill.

I found myself in a hall but a few feet square. A broken staircase faced me, and an open door on the left gave directly into the room where the grinders lay. If the parlor looked on to the pond I knew it must lead from this room, and there, sure enough, was a door in the farther wall.

I was just about to approach it when it was softly opened and Marya Dresden appeared.

Her air was furtive. Her eyes, that seemed always alight, had lost their luster, her body seemed heavy laden, and she was plainly absorbed in the contemplation of grief.

Suddenly she saw me and started against the wall.

"What is it, Marya?" said I, and made to come to her side.

"No, no," she cried shrinking. "Stand back."

"What on earth's the matter?" I said. "What——?"

"Murder," says she. "Murder."

"D'you think we shall ever see Littai?"

"I have done no murder," said I. "I give you my solemn word that no blood has been shed."

"George said——"

"I daresay he did," said I. "But the bird had flown."

She drew in her breath.

"You went out to do murder," she said.

"I'm sorry Marya," I said, as I stepped to her side.

"You went out to kill him," she said, "without telling me."

"So be it," said I shortly. "And here and now I tell you that the very next time I see him I'm going to try again."

"And I forbid you," she cried. "I have the right."

"The point is this," said I. "I've only one life. And as Grieg is out to get it—well, I've got to look after myself. Unhappily his way is my way. Tonight he's going to meet some one. She doesn't know it, of course; but mercifully it's come to my ears. Perhaps you can guess who I mean?"

Marya put a hand to her throat, and though she did not speak, I saw her lips frame the word which she would have used.

"Yes," I said, "you're quite right. He's going to meet Leonie."

Marya shut fast her eyes, put her hands behind her and leaned back against the wall.

"I will stop him," she said. "I am going back to my husband, and I will make him see reason to hold his hand. I've married the man. Unless and until he gives me cause to leave him——"

"'Cause?'" I almost shouted.

"Hush," says she. "George is asleep in there. I—I don't want him waked. But for his sake," I cried. "He loves you. He's risked his life to——"

"I know," said Marya. "I know. It's a dreadful mess. I sold myself to save him, and now we're both down on the deal."

"But if you love George——"

"'If?'" She clasped her hands and put them up to her throat. "When I came out of that chapel I felt that my heart was dead. I was mentally paralyzed. My mind wouldn't work. Only my body went on. When he said 'Sit down,' my body did as he said. When he said 'Drink,' my hand and my mouth obeyed. When I signed the register, he had to spell out my name, and I wrote it down by letters just as he said. After dinner he was sent for . . . Waiting for him to come back was the worst of all. My fingers were still—he'd kissed them. It seemed as though now he'd turned my body to stone. . . . And then George came to me, Richard, and raised the dead."

"Then why break his heart?" said I. "If I kill Grieg in fair fight, it's nothing to do with you."

"Of course it is. I've got to try and save him—try to prevent the duel. Can't you see my position, Richard? You went out last night to kill him, because by my consent he had made me his wife. By the grace of God you failed and saved me from a reproach which no woman could ever bear. But can't you see that, just because he is my husband, he simply must not die at the hand of one of my friends?"

"No, I'm damned if I can," said I. "You've done your part. The deal is over and done with; and if you can't see that, he can. Two hours and a half ago I walked clean into his arms. He had his pistol out. I never suspected his presence, and he never gave me a chance. He fired without warning, point blank—and the bullet went by my ear. You say you can't marry George if Grieg dies by my hand. Can you love and cherish Grieg if I die by his?"

All of a sudden Marya began to laugh.

"I throw in my hand," she said. "I retire. I give it up. So far as I can see, I've messed everything up. I was made the decoy to get you here; I've gone and married the man who's trying his best to kill you; and, like a fool I've let George see that I love him—if I'd had any sense last night, I'd have ordered him out of the house. And now, I retire. I think I've done enough damage. And I feel I don't care what happens." She put a hand to her eyes. "O, I'm so sick of it all. D'you think we shall ever see Littai?"

"The day after tomorrow," said I, "if you do as I say."

"All right. I'm beaten, Richard. You've a compelling way. Don't you want something to eat?"

"In ten minutes' time," said I. "But first I must have a bath."

"D'you think it's safe to bathe, Richard? I mean, if they came upon you, what would you do? Without any shoes you couldn't so much as run."

"Safe enough there," I said. "If the enemy came, he'd only have eyes for the mill. Besides, he won't. Lelia says that nobody comes this way."

Marya opened her eyes.

"You know her before I did," said I.

"O, I know. The peasant girl. Isn't she sweet?"

"She is, indeed," said I. "What's more, she's out to help us."

"How much have you told her?"

"Everything," said I. "All she asks is to be trusted."

"'For beauty lives with kindness,'" Marya quoted.

With that she went away, and I made my way to the willows and stripped. The water was warm, and since I had in my pocket a small piece of soap, I made a better toilet than I had known for a week. Indeed, to leave the sweet water and put on my dirty clothes was so distasteful a step that I shirked it again and again, and twenty minutes went by before I got back to the mill.

The room where Marya and I had argued was empty, and I crossed to the door in its wall.

I opened this very gently, to see George fast asleep. Of Marya there was no sign.

Good morning!

"Divorce Among Friends," is one of those fizzy, synthetic, Hollywoodian marital mixup things. It's rather amusing in its fair, false way.

The story is about a young couple who love each other but can't seem to get along one with the other. A philandering, constantly inebriated bachelor entertains fond feelings for the wife. A dizzy blonde has nets out for the husband. The breezes sigh of separation, BUT, love is funny and when the picture ends, divorce is the last thing the gentleman and lady most concerned are thinking of.

Acting, sound, photography, etc., are well enough. If you like glitter and aren't particular what produces it, why I daresay you'll enjoy this number.

See you tomorrow.

Franklin-Hughes Theater Chain Now Announced

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Announcement of a contemplated nation-wide motion picture theater chain capitalized at $5,000,000 was made today by Harold Franklin, former president of Fox West Coast Theaters. He announced contracts had been signed between himself and Howard B. Hughes, independent movie producer, for the organization of the Hughes-Franklin Theaters. The announcement said the financing had been completely arranged with no stock to be offered to the public and that going theaters would be acquired in "important communities throughout the country."

Librarians Talk Today on Congress Proposal to Ban Alien Books

What effect a ban on imported books, as proposed in the copyright measures now pending before congress, would have on the American reader is to be one of the chief topics for discussion today at the opening sessions of the American Library association's midwinter meeting at the Drake hotel.

Restrictions on the book lover's right to bring English editions into this country, proposed in the measure presented by Rep. Albert H. Vestal [Rep., Ind.], will be outlined by Thorvald Solberg of the Library of Congress also, who will show how the proposed measure would effect librarians and booksellers.

College students' choice of literature is to be analyzed by Mary K. Reely of the Wisconsin Free Library commission. Miss Reely has recommended that books on social problems, sex, religion and philosophy should properly be included in the reading of undergraduates.

Ukrainian Chorus, in Full Costume, Gladdens Music Critic

BY EDWARD MOORE.

The Ukrainian chorus of Chicago, gayly decked out in national costumes from brilliant head dress to long boots, ornamented the stage of the Civic theater yesterday afternoon with their presence, and no less ornamented the cause of song with their voices.

In fact the songs were so interesting in their musical structure and so well sung under the direction of George Benetzky that it would be a real pleasure to some of us who do not speak the language to know what they were about. One can imagine something of the content of "The Bagpipe" by Leontowich, especially when the choristers made an entertaining variant on choral singing by humming through closed lips. Also "Suites of Christmas Songs" by Lysenko made no great strain on the mind. But what Stetzenko's "Shtchedryck" is about must as far as I am concerned remained lost in secrecy.

Much the same is true of the soloist, Maria Mashir, soprano. Again a brilliant vision of Russian costume—Mr. Benetzky and the accompanist, Harry Sukman, were the only ones who did not yield to sartorial temptations—again an able and accomplished singer of attractive songs, her meaning failed to reach some of us benighted ones. But from tha delightful applause that went up from the rest of the audience the secret was by no means universal.

The Ukrainian chorus was the first prize winner in the Chicagoland Music festival conducted by this and some thirty-five other newspapers last summer. From its colorful appearance and its skilled vocal performance it well deserved to be, and it is better now.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon Temple Is Dedicated

Dedication of the $400,000 Levere Memorial temple of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity took place yesterday in conjunction with the biennial convention of the fraternity now in session in Evanston. Only the 650 delegates to the convention attended the ritualistic ceremony of the dedication, but later a public reception was held at the temple. Gen. William G. Everson, chief of the United States militia bureau at Washington, was the principal speaker. The temple is a memorial to the late William Levere, who for 27 years was secretary of the national fraternity. It is located at 1856 Sheridan road, Evanston.

Pastors Laud Yule Spirit of The Tribune

Cite Front Page Full of Christmas News.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

In future ecclesiastical calendars, Anno Domini 1930 will be marked as the year in which Christmas "made the front page." This was discovered in reports of sermons yesterday preached by pastors in all sections of the city revealing approval of THE TRIBUNE for making Christmas the exclusive "front page" news in its city editions.

Such words as "courageous" and "daring," or "unique" were used by pastors as they expressed their appreciation to their flocks for the Christmas publicity. The Rev. Dr. J. Morrison Thomas, pastor of the Ravenswood Congregational church, 1718 Montrose avenue, told his congregation yesterday morning that the Christmas stories in THE TRIBUNE this year made the "first front page constructive religious news in years." At the South Shore Community church the Rev. David McKeith declared the publicity marked a new epoch in the appreciation of news value in religious festivals.

The spirit of the Christmas day TRIBUNE was cited by the Rev. Stephen E. Keeler, rector of St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church, and the Rev. Dr. John Thompson of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Chicago temple, in their sermons as a means, if followed through the year, would be an effective aid in the city's coming attempt at political house cleaning.

Dr. Keeler deplored the Christmas and Easter Christians—the people who flock to the churches only on the great days. He urged the ideals of Christmas day be carried through the year if best results are desired.

Likewise, said the gold coast rector, if the news spirit of the Christmas day TRIBUNE could be adopted by the publishers, more good would be accomplished toward cleaning up the criminal and political misery in the city "than all the editorials that possibly could be written." He declared the spirit of the news stories in the papers has greater moral and political influence than editorial matter.

"Imagine my amazement Christmas morning when I picked up my TRIBUNE and did not find a murder, a suicide, a bombing, a divorce or anything of that sort on the front page. It was all Christmas," said Dr. Keeler. "It gave me new heart. It encouraged goodness instead of badness. Instead of advertising the 'success' of crime it proclaimed the fact that righteousness gains ground. Newspapers have enormous moral and civic influence. If they would adopt the spirit of the Christmas TRIBUNE as a news policy through the year, Chicago would be a new city in a very short time."

Dr. John Thompson last night not only praised THE TRIBUNE for its Christmas issue but applauded the Good Fellow workers. Newspapers, he said, have been roundly criticized by the churches for doing things the churches do not like. Now, he added, when a paper does a thing we do like our praise should be as vocal as has been our condemnation.

"How that Christmas publicity united the city on Christmas day," he said. "Newspapers are great uniters of the people. THE TRIBUNE made all the people of the city feel that all were united around the manger-cradle. If the beautiful spirit engendered by the papers this Christmas could be made incandescent throughout the year it would not be long until we could unite the city and bring about a new political era in which crookedness and crime would be banished."

New German Singer Arrives for Roles in the Civic Opera

Last but not least of the newcomers to the star list of the Chicago Civic opera, Rudolph Bockelmann, baritone, arrived in the city yesterday. Having spent the holidays en route to his musical duties here, he reached Chicago in a lonely mood, and the first things he unpacked were the three pictures of his family, his wife and their two daughters, Eva, four years old, and Erika, born last October.

On Jan. 5 the new baritone will make his debut as Hans Sachs in "Die Meistersinger," his favorite of many rôles played at the Hamburg State opera and Covent Garden, where he has been singing leading rôles for several years. Mrs. Bockelmann and the children remain in Hamburg, while he fills engagements here and in Boston. He will return to Germany in February.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

LESLIE HOWARD'S laryngitis is a thing of the past, like the characters in the hallucinated scenes of his play, and "Berkeley Square" has had the full première which was denied it at the Selwyn theater last week. The first nighters, who saw only half a performance then under adverse conditions, reassembled to find this comedy of old romance and modern metaphysics completely charming and, at moments, decidedly thrilling. It is like a ghost story told by a philosopher and archæologist.

Here is acting to talk about. Mr. Howard's interpretation of the American in London who loved the Georgian era to distraction, and contrived to ride H. G. Wells' "time machine" back into it, places him among the brilliant comedians of the younger generation. John Barrymore's chair in the green room has been vacant ever since he abandoned the stage in favor of the cinema. Mr. Howard, in his suave and quizzical way, seems to be getting ready to slip into it. Margalo Gillmore is enchanting as the gentle, dreaming sweetheart of a love story that could not possibly come true. The other members of the cast—especially Louise Prussing as a vivacious belle, Alice John as a flouncing old-school mother, and Dorothy Blackburn as Gainsborough's favorite duchess—are admirably in the tone of the play.

"Berkeley Square" is the most effective play dealing with the Georgian period—a favorite background for costume comedy—since Louis N. Parker's "Pomander Walk," which dates back twenty years. It is, therefore, the best of its type for a generation. It is, moreover, a departure from the beaten track of drama that derives from Georgian theatricals. It is concerned with something more important, or at least more interesting, than the manners and costumes of the years when Sir Joshua was the favorite portrait painter of London town, and when Dr. Johnson was scattering aphorisms among his admirers and snuff on his waistcoat.

This play has a modern approach to its material. It deals with the decorative Georgians from the viewpoint of the future, and adds a dash of advanced psychology to the picture. It charms, but it also grips and stirs its audience. Its mood is quiet, but it contains a decidedly uncanny thrill.

For casual classification you may call this a "dream play," since its hero has a lively hallucination of living in the past. Or, if you prefer mysticism, you may define it as a romantic comedy of the supernatural. Mr. Howard appears as a sensitive young architect brooding over the history of the old London house which he has inherited. He is not only the namesake but also the physical double of the ancestor who had lived there, as a portrait by Reynolds attests.

Under the pressure of his morbid quest of the past, his personality snaps back from 1928 to 1784; he picks up and begins to live the story of his forbear. The past becomes the present for him, and he is a man of the future, feeling his way through it. The Georgians find a disturbing quality in this man whom they have accepted as their colonial cousin. He annoys them with his criticism of their ways of living; he frightens them with his betraying glimpses into the future. He talks about them as if they were already dead. They at last regard him as a case of wizardry, to be shrunk from and exorcised. . . . And a love story of unusual beauty enters into the story.

If there is anything to "Berkeley Square's" thesis that "time is nothing but an idea in the mind of God," then I am sure that an austere, high-foreheaded gentleman sits in the audience every night, although he died fifteen years ago. His name is Henry James, who tried devoutly to become a dramatist, but always remained a novelist. This play is founded upon his unfinished novel, "A Sense of the Past."

Thus "Berkeley Square" may be called the great literary Brahmin's first success in the theater. If the treasurer of the Selwyn feels a clammy breath upon the nape of his neck some night when he is adding up the box office statement that will be Mr. James manifesting a true literary man's interest in his share of the gross.

Science Gets Voice of Cities by New Device

While Another Foretells Sex of Babies.

Cleveland, O., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Cities sing their songs in different kinds of voices with one another; Chicago sings in bass, London in baritone and New York in tenor.

This was revealed today by Dr. William Braid White of Chicago, director of research in acoustics at the American Steel and Wire company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation.

Dr. White is exhibiting his sound portraits at the sessions of the American Association for the Advancement of Science this week.

The tone characteristics of cities were photographed by the Westinghouse osico, which reveals, Dr. White pointed out, many more things about sound than the human ear can detect.

"The osico portraits of London's voice or ground tone show it to be a wave shaped like the tower part of a rope necklace," he said.

"The waves occur at intervals of 35 cycles a second.

"New York's sound wave is shaped like a necklace hung with fossil teeth. The sound vibrates at sixty cycles a second.

"Chicago's voice vibrates at 70 cycles. The wave looks like saw teeth.

"The pitch of London's voice is low C. New York's is like the singing of a wire that carries a 60 cycle alternating current. Chicago's is like the hum of an automobile that is running without engine knocks.

"To the osico the sounds of the city down in the street level are a jumble. As you go up in a building these sounds become blended and take a definite form. Up about fifteen stories above the ground is where the characteristic sound tone of the city may be heard."

Dr. White said he found tone depends on such things as the shape of buildings, the presence of trolley wires and tracks and the number and size of lamp posts.

Photographs of the city sounds were obtained in connection with his work as chairman of the technical committee of the Chicago noise commission. He is studying city noises, so as to sort out those which are bad for the ear from the harmless ones.

The automobile horn, he said, should be abolished as nuisances and for the sake of safe driving. If not abolished, they say, "I'm coming," rather than "Get out of the way."

The gentler horn could be one with the high frequency tones eliminated.

Dr. Thomas O. Menees of the Blodgett Memorial hospital, Grand Rapids, Mich., exhibited X-ray technique designed, he said, to show the movements and condition of the child before birth, tell papa three months ahead of time whether it's to be a boy or girl and save women in numerous instances from the danger of Caesarian operations.

Dr. Menees planned to demonstrate to the scientists attending the American association sessions the possibilities of developing new methods of X-ray embryology.

"This technique can show the scientists the position of the unborn child," Dr. Menees said. "It can predict whether birth will be dangerous to the life of the mother or child. It can tell some things about the physical makeup of the child, such as the size of the head and the shape of the bones, and from that even detect some conditions of the glandular functioning. The X-ray pictures show also, in some cases, the action of the child's stomach."

Field Museum Boasts 1,000 Lb. Beryl Crystal

A beryl crystal weighing almost 1,000 pounds, found in a quarry near Albany, Me., has been presented to the Field Museum by William J. Chalmers, a member of the museum's board of trustees. The huge crystal is the largest on display in the museum's collection, more than three feet long and two feet wide at the base. Beryl is a comparatively rare mineral, and as the chief source of metallic beryllium, one of the lightest of metals, it is becoming of increasing economic importance for use in airplane construction requiring strong, light metals.

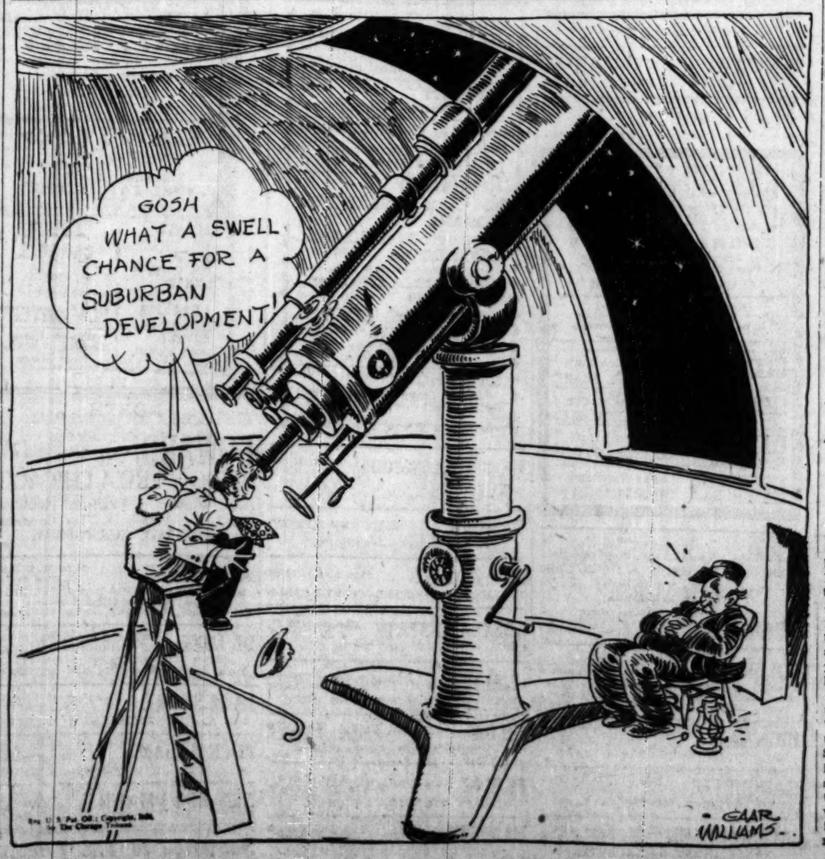
OUR SECRET AMBITION



Public Prefers Fiction; Library Circulation Only Slightly Reduced

Despite curtailment of operating expenses, necessitated by the delay in tax collections, there was only a comparatively small reduction in service and book circulation of the Chicago public library during the first eleven months of 1930, according to the annual report given out yesterday by Carl B. Roden, librarian.

Public taste in reading is approximately two to one in favor of fiction as against nonfiction. Children's books, however, were in more demand than even fiction. Juvenile books circulated numbered 4,725,583 volumes; fiction, 4,608,813 volumes, and nonfiction, 2,368,413 volumes.

"Circulation was reduced by only 686,772 volumes in comparison to the circulation last year," said Mr. Roden. "In 1930, 12,694,592 volumes were circulated, in 1929, 13,381,364. The 1930 budget was $1,594,144, as opposed to $1,907,851 for 1929. Expenditures for librarians and assistants had to be curtailed by $131,000."

"Praying Won't Grow Crops," Preacher Tells Sunday Evening Club

To the mistake of expecting religion to produce mechanical miracles is due the conclusion current among modern youth that religion is outgrown. Such was the opinion expressed last night by Dr. Charles E. Jefferson of the Broadway Tabernacle, New York City, before the Chicago Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall.

Taking for his subject "What Can Religion Do for Us?" Dr Jefferson pointed out that it cannot cure a flat tire or persuade a balky electric carpet sweeper to work, but that, "religion can do things which lie beyond the reach of science. It can answer our ultimate questions."

"Science deals with how, but religion deals with why," he added. "An infidel can raise bumper crops if physical conditions are favorable," he continued, "while religion can do little for the farmer, no matter how pious he may be, if he persists in repeating his creed when he ought to be using the plow and the hoe."

12 Knights to Joust Against Poverty Ogre

BY THALIA

TWELFTH NIGHT ball invitations go out today, and they will say that this year's party is to be as simple as possible and there will be no general motif in the way of costumes and decorations.

The Twelve Knights, having cogitated the problem at numerous luncheon meetings, finally decided that it would be as much fun and far more suitable to these times to have just a plain costume party, much after the idea of the original Butchers, Bakers, and Candlestick Makers balls, than to go in for the customary elaboration.

It is hoped that there will be a substantial surplus on the books after the accounts have been settled for a tidy contribution to the needy.

The ball is to be at the Germania club on Friday evening, the 9th of next month. John R. Winterbotham Jr. is chief knight in charge of the arrangements, and Gilbert E. Porter III, is knight in charge of invitations, while Walter Frazier will do what little there is going to be done about the decorations. I'd like to wager that a large quota of the people going to the party will be wracking their brains to devise a costume suggestive of hard times, ticker tape, and the like, although I don't imagine any one will have the courage to go in "shorts," appropriate though they might be.

Chicago's Substitute for Pickwick Club Meets.

The Skeeters, that select organization of personalities that meets every Saturday for luncheon and includes in its small membership bibliophiles, a judge, big business men, etc., had its annual holiday meeting on Saturday. There were guests present, and Mrs. Paul Steinbrecher sent German Christmas cookies, and Mrs. Horace Bridges the plum pudding, made from an age old recipe. Fritz Leiber couldn't be present, but he sent a poem.

Ambassador and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes had a quiet Christmas day at their London residence, with their daughter, Virginia, the only other member of their family with them. Dana's Christmas recess from school was too short for him to cross the ocean. Mrs. Dawes' chow, Chung, who always accompanies her when she goes out, sitting in the front seat of the car, has a new playmate, a Scotch cairn who goes by the name of Sandy.

Society Editor Broadcasts Various Bits of News.

Have you been told . . . that Countess Cardelli, who occupied the Silas H. Strawns' apartment while they were away, has now taken Mrs. Holbrook Clarke's at 999 Lake Shore drive, and that Mrs. Clarke has gone over to the Ambassador East for January, her later plans being still indefinite? . . . that Dan Morgan, known (particularly by those who have lost to him) as the best bridge player in town, is going professional and is to teach some bridge classes? . . . that the Harry L. Thomases and their two youngsters departed on Saturday night for Palm Beach, to be down there at their winter place for the rest of the winter? . . . that this week's Kinsolving musical will be tomorrow morning instead of Thursday, because of New Year's? . . . that Louise Prussing is in "Berkeley Square," returning to Chicago after a seven years' absence, and that among others, the Arthus Aldises, the John Elliott Jenkinses, and the Eames McVeaghs are giving parties for her? . . . that George Huban, who was popular when he lived here a few years ago, is back for a visit? . . . that the Frank R. Wheelers have come in from Pittsburgh, as they did last year, for a holiday visit with their friends, the Fullers, on Lake Shore drive? . . . that Mrs. Alden B. Swift is chairman for the Junior Assembly to take place at the Casino on New Year's eve (the party is the biggest affair of the year for the subdebs, and serves to get them acquainted with the boys they'll be seeing a lot of when they come out)?

Miss Helen Shimmin and J. G. Seiler Wed Next Week.

A week full of pre-nuptial parties for Miss Helen Shimmin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Shimmin of 1209 North State street before her marriage a week from today to John Gray Seiler of Louisville includes a kitchen shower her matron of honor, Mrs. Frank Sims, is to give this afternoon, a buffet supper Mrs. Sanger Hinchman (Virginia Wallace) is to give at the Wallace residence in Winnetka on New Year's day, the Howard Richardsons' dinner party on Friday evening, Mrs. Jack Schweizer's (Mathabelle Hubbard) party at the Opera club on Saturday night, and the bridal dinner at the Shimmin apartment on Sunday evening.

The Peter Connors [Louise Fort] of 11 East Elm street have a new daughter, born a week ago today at the Presbyterian hospital. . . . The Chicago Vassar club is to have a luncheon at the Chicago Woman's club on Tuesday, Jan. 6, for Margaret Culkin Banning, who is a Vassar graduate, class of 1912. . . . Subscriptions are being received with rapidity for the Bohemian dinner in honor of Mr. Insull at the Palmer house next Sunday evening. . . . The common interests committee of the English-Speaking union is to give a tea at the Arts club on Tuesday, the 6th, for the members of the "Berkeley Square" company.

More Busy Days for the Debutantes and Subdebs.

The second week of strenuous holiday festivities for the debutantes and the subdebs will get under way this evening with the dinner dance that Mr. and Mrs. Stirling S. Morton are to give at the Casino for their daughter, Miss Suzette Morton and the William Wrigleys' ball for their granddaughter, Miss Betty Offield, at the Blackstone. Miss Offield's parents, the James R. Offields, will act as hosts at the ball because Mr. and Mrs. Wrigley are in California.

In connection with the Kenwood Social Service club benefit theater party tonight for "Berkeley Square" at the Selwyn—Miss Gwendolyn Cummins is to give a tea this afternoon for the final reports of the committees—dinner parties preceding the theater party include the Lyle Harpers' at Clewe; Mr. and Mrs. J. Beidler Capp's wedding anniversary dinner; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Horton's party for the Quadrangle players, and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Johnson's dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Fred Waterman of Detroit at the Chicago Athletic club.

TO WED NEXT MONDAY

MISS HELEN SHIMMIN.

Miss Shimmin will become the bride of John G. Seiler next Monday.

BABIES DISPLAY BEST MANNERS AT NEW ASYLUM DEDICATION

Not a youngster yelled to distract the guests yesterday at the dedication of the newly completed St. Vincent's Infant asylum at 721 North La Salle street. Not a howl floated down from the top floor nurseries as Cardinal Mundelein, with his assistant clergy, moved through the halls for the blessing of each room, consecrated to the care of abandoned babies of a great metropolis by the nuns who carry on a work of centuries. Peace and dignity and quiet reigned, although the crowd numbered hundreds.

More than four years have been consumed in the erection of the new structure, built at a cost of $1,500,000 on the same site occupied for half a century by the Sisters of St. Vincent. The institution is now six stories in height, will accommodate 250 infants, forty resident and graduate physicians, and forty nurses, thirty of whom are in training, in addition to the nuns. Six of the latter also are graduate nurses. Sister Camilla is superior of the institution.

There are at present 140 babies under the care of the infant asylum. During their half century of activity in the city, the nuns have given temporary care to 48,000 babies, some of whom were kept for a few days, some for a few weeks, and some for a few years. The home is undenominational as far as its wards are concerned, infants of all creeds and colors being harbored there when deserted by their natural guardians. The children are transferred to other institutions on reaching the age of three years if they have not by that time been claimed by their parents or given out for adoption.

At the Congress hotel last night, several score of friends and supporters of the Marks Nathan Jewish Orphans' home attended the silver jubilee dinner of the institution, under the auspices of the auxiliary, headed by Mrs. Ruth David Leader as president. Members of the auxiliary earned $25 each for their plates, entitling them to participate in the observance. Mrs. Leader, serving her ninth term as president, presided at the dinner and introduced the toastmaster, Judge Max Luster. Attorney Samuel Hoffman, Charles Herron, president of the home, and Elias Trotzky, superintendent, were speakers.

Mrs. Bevans Offers Unique New Year's Card to Mothers

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

A Mother's and Father's Litany, signed by Mrs. Bevans, will be sent as her greeting of the season on receipt of a stamped, self addressed envelope.

This is a rather belated explanation of the notice about a mother's litany which has been appearing at the head of this column.

We mothers all have our moments when success with our children gives us a feeling of elation—and when we resolve to always do as well, with that success to encourage us.

I suppose, too, that all mothers have their low times—times when they see their mistakes and when they have their own special weakness in dealing with their children stands out and accuses them. Often they realize that in the hurly burly of everyday they lose sight of their ends and aims, but feel that if they could have something or somebody to jack them up it would help them to keep those ideals in sight.

So, early in the life of this column I wrote one day, as a mother, a litany for mothers. Its purpose was just to sum up the things we did not want to do to our children, the things we all devoutly hope that love and understanding will keep us from doing.

A number of people wrote me that they had cut out the litany and were keeping it to read as a gentle reminder.

It occurred to me that other mothers might like to have something of the sort, but in a more permanent form than a newspaper clipping, so I have had a new mother's litany printed in the form of a New Year's card. Calling it a mother's litany does not mean that fathers may not use it!

I am sending this card out as my greeting of the season. I should like to mail a personal "Happy New Year" to every reader of this column and to all of my correspondents—but [Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune.] it is numerically impossible.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

[Registered U. S. Patent Office.]

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

Simplicity of design is the rule this season for dresses for daytime occasions, and black Canton crepe relieved with a touch of white is the medium used for this slender looking model. An entirely new skirt treatment is introduced with inset panels, and the diagonals outline has a tendency to reduce the breadth through the hips. The crossover effect of the bodice with the attached jabot is chic, and the dress is easily fashioned.

The pattern, 2784, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3⅛ yards of 39 inch material with ¾ yard of 18 inch contrasting.

Note—Clotilde patterns are made in New York exclusively for THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE. They are perfect in fit, up to date in style, and the easiest of all patterns to use.

Here's a Rare Soul: Jilted Person Who Fails to Be Gloomy

BY DORIS BLAKE.

It can be done. You can be walked out on by the object of your tenderest passion and live to smile again, and soon! We have a testimonial to prove it has been done. By a man. Could a woman sit down and write that she was glad to have had the experience, immediately after the parting operation had taken place? Hers is more often the rôle of wistful, reproachful victim, or she takes on the character of a vindictive critter out for heart balm to soothe her outraged feelings, or else she clamps down the lid of speech entirely and goes about with a terrific pain gnawing at her innards.

Perhaps the convalescing period for men is, by reason of love not being their whole existence, a briefer one, naturally. Anyway, here's the way one of the strong sex reacted to a love that turned to shine more brightly on a rival head: "I have wondered and lately am impatient with the people who go round with a glassy eyed, dejected air, tenderly nursing their injured feelings after the romance has ended, for some reason," writes P. H. G. "I am just under 30 and after several years of free lancing I fell like two tons of damp cement. Lately I was shunted off to one side in favor of a man who has many material advantages over me, together with natural talents which I am not fortunate enough to be able to duplicate.

"My other friends have sensed the depth of my feeling for the girl and several expressed the opinion that I did not exactly get a fair shake. While I am not exactly a complete chump and realize there may be something in what they say, I refuse to become embittered. I do not regret a day, hour or minute of it."

A sane way of taking a jilting, isn't it? For of all the useless forms of self-torture, none exceeds that of the individual who lets her heart crack up completely over an unrequited love.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Renewed Interest.

"Dear Miss Blake: My friend and I quit. I met him lately and he asked to take me out. Shall I accept?

"FRANCES."

Yes, if you like him well enough. His invitation proves he still thinks kindly of you.

OVER 28,000,000 IN U. S. ELEMENTARY AND HIGH SCHOOLS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Approximately 28,104,000 students—nearly one-fourth of the nation's population—are in elementary and high schools.

This was announced today in an annual review by the federal office of education. The report said 848,500 teachers were employed in 254,200 schoolhouses and that the total annual expenditure was $2,289,000,000.

Elementary schools had 21,370,000 pupils, 4,030,000 were in public high schools, and 2,704,000 registered in private and parochial institutions.

The report said "the declining birth rate is being felt in the schools," and held there is an "apparent oversupply" of teachers in liberal arts and elementary courses.

"In an average group of 200 Americans in 1915," the report said, "five children were being born each year. In that same average group in 1928 less than four children were being born."

The teacher surplus was credited with causing more exacting requirements for entrance to teacher preparing institutions and for certification.

ENGAGEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Loughran of Asheville, N. C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret, to Stephen Harris Harrington Jr. of Chicago. Miss Loughran is a graduate of St. Genevieve in the Pines school in Asheville and of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts in New York City. She has been chairman of the play bureau of the Asheville Junior league for the last two years. Mr. Harrington attended the Asheville School for Boys and was graduated from Westminster school at Princeton, N. J., and Hobart college at Geneva, N. Y.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—Miss Candance Stimson, who has been the guest for Christmas week of her brother, Secretary of State and Mrs. Stimson, has returned to her home in New York.

Mrs. Medill McCormick gave a dance for her debutante daughter, Miss Katrina McCormick, last night in the ballroom of the home of Mrs. T. T. Gaff, which is just now unoccupied. There were about 250 guests, young people. Mrs. McCormick "took over" the Gaff house just for the day and night as the condition of the health of Mrs. Robert McCormick, grandmother of the bud, was such that the party could not be held in her Massachusetts avenue home, where it had been planned. Mrs. McCormick presented her daughter formally to society several weeks ago at a tea at the Carlton hotel.

Mrs. Marshall Field had a large company this afternoon at the tea hour, when she usually receives visitors on Sunday.

Mrs. Joseph Leiter entertained at luncheon yesterday in honor of her house guest, Miss Katherine Burrage, daughter of Russell Burrage of Boston, whose summer home is near the Leiter summer home on the North Shore. Miss Nancy Campbell, niece of Mr. Leiter, who is spending the holidays with them, also was at luncheon. She will return to her studies in Asheville, N. C., at the end of this week.

WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. George Patterson Koehler of Wheaton announce the marriage of their daughter, Marian Hayde Koehler, to Thomas Alan Rowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Casper L. Rowe of Hillsdale, Mich. The ceremony took place at the Koehler residence on Christmas day. The bride is a graduate of Wellesley college and Mr. Rowe was grauated from Hillsdale college. They are to reside in Saginaw, Mich.

White and Brown Are Smartest for Evening.

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special Correspondence.]—White and brown are the smartest evening combination in Paris fashions, just now. They are more unusual and, to many women, more becoming than the more conventional black and white.

White, as you know, is being worn for evening frocks by the famous fashion leaders of smart society and, though some of them favor white evening coats, too, the majority find the dark coat with the light frock richer and easier to wear.

White and brown are used most effectively by Redfern in the evening ensemble, sketched above. The frock is of shining white satin, which fabric bids fair to be the formal textile runner next spring. It is cut on simple, somewhat diagonal, lines, with a surplice bodice and a slender circular skirt. Fantastic four leaf clovers of dark red-brown velvet are incrusted in the skirt near the hem, two in front and two in back. One of them appears at the left side of the bodice in front. A rather high waist is indicated by an incrusted belt of the white satin.

The ankle length coat, shown on the small figure, is of the dark red-brown velvet. It is fitted to just below the hips, and there flared at each side by three godets. It has bell sleeves edged with ermine and a high Medici collar of the same.

Redfern also makes a small, waist length pelerine of dark brown velvet lined with white satin, to wear with this frock on the Riviera or in Palm Beach, where the long coat might prove too wintry.

A dark brown chiffon handkerchief is carried with this ensemble.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Use for Outgrown Garments.

"I am writing you for assistance for a neighbor. She has four little girls ranging in ages from 1½ to 5 years, who are badly in need of clothing. She is a good little mother and wife and is deserving of any help you might give her. M. D."

What do you do with the things your children outgrow? Giving them to this deserving family would be an excellent way of disposing of them. May they not have them?

Food Talk.

We had an S O S call the other day from a housewife who was fortunate enough to receive a big box of Japanese persimmons from a friend in California. She said her family just couldn't eat all the fruit raw and to prevent it spoiling it would be necessary to make use of it in some other way.

The greatest difficulty in using it for salad is to preserve the shape. To do this most satisfactorily, wash the fruit, dry and chill thoroughly. Place the lettuce or romaine on the salad plate and cut the persimmion lengthwise into slices about one-third of an inch thick. Remove the seeds, if there are any, after the slice of persimmon is in place, then peel away the skin carefully that the lettuce may show no signs of persimmon pulp or skin. White grapes and nuts combine with persimmons nicely.

If you are looking for something unusual in salads, try the following recipe. Persimmons also make a delicious mousse or sherbet.

PERSIMMON SALAD.

6 persimmons.
1 cup Malaga grapes, chilled.
¾ cup French or Vinaigrette dressing.

Choose crisp lettuce or romaine. Wash head carefully and dry. Cut lengthwise into one-fourth inch slices, keeping the slice intact as much as possible. Slice one persimmon over each slice of lettuce in such a manner as to completely cover lettuce. Remove skins and cover top with grapes cut in halves. Serve at once with salad dressing.

Yield: Six servings. One serving [total, 234 calories]: Protein, 5 calories; fat, 111 calories; carbohydrates, 118 calories.

PERSIMMON MOUSSE.

2 large Japanese persimmons.
1 tablespoon sugar.
1 cup whipping cream.
1 tablespoon lemon juice.
2 tablespoons sweet sauterne.

Remove skins from persimmons and press through a coarse sieve. There should be one cup of pulp. Add the sugar. Let stand in refrigerator about 20 minutes. Chill cream thoroughly and whip until stiff. Add lemon juice, then the persimmon pulp, folding in lightly but thoroughly. Last, add nuts and sauterne. [Sauterne is a flavoring that is available at all groceries carrying a full line of extracts and spices.] Turn into a cold freezing tray and place in the refrigerator immediately. About four or five hours are required for freezing.

Yield: Seven servings. One serving [total, 238 calories]: Protein, 8 calories; fat, 186 calories; carbohydrates, 44 calories.

CITRON GELATIN.

1 cup hot water.
¼ cup lemon juice.
1-3 cup sugar.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add boiling water and stir until gelatin dissolves. Then add lemon juice and sugar. Turn into four small molds, wet with cold water. Let stand in cold water until gelatin just begins to congeal, then add the finely minced citron. Place in refrigerator to stiffen. Serve with sliced oranges, sliced bananas, or with orange flavored sweetened whipped cream.

Yield: Four servings. One serving [total, 113 calories]: Protein, 7 calories; fat, no calories; carbohydrates, 106 calories.

CREAM OF BEET SOUP.

1 medium onion.
1 tablespoon butter.
1 cup water.
1 cup chopped canned beets.
½ cup meat stock.
1 teaspoon salt.
Pepper.
1 cup thin cream.
1 tablespoon vinegar.

Cut onion fine and cook slowly in butter until yellow. Add water, beets, and meat stock and simmer until onions are tender. Add salt and pepper. Last add cream that has been heated to scalding point. Add vinegar and serve at once.

Yield: Three cups. One serving [total, 185 calories]: Protein, 27 calories; fat, 97 calories; carbohydrates, 61 calories.

Long Skirt Isn't Exactly Friendly to the Fatted Calf

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The new skirt lengths are not proving to be the godsend to nonslim ankles hoped for. As a matter of cold fact, the day dress lengths are a bit harder on the legs than the abbreviated skirts. Even with the full exposure of the nether limbs the length of line from knee to instep did a little something to alleviate the too plump contour. Maybe not much—nevertheless you realize it was something when you see what the skirt length does that hits the fattened calf midway in its opulence. Worse still on the ankle is the twelve inch length of skirt. That means, in couturier language this current season, not twelve inches from the knee but twelve from the floor, which is quite something else again.

The very long skirt carries blessings in its folds and voluminous hems, to the leg worried. On the other hand, if you have a pair of nifties that a playful breeze will suddenly expose you got sumpin'. Or, if you can add to the lovely draping the long skirt grants, a lovely pair of underpinnings, it's something not to be held against you.

Reasons, however, needn't be further advanced for leg work, need they? They haven't ruled yet for trousered bathing suits and until they do there's a Palm Beach and a next summer season to struggle valiantly for pictorially.

No better advice can I give you for the emergency than to start kicking o. to keep on kicking.

OLD IRELAND NO LONGER NEEDS PITY OF WORLD

Few Jobless; Bogeyman of Landlord Gone.

BY HUGH CURRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Dec. 28.—Ireland of the past was formerly a pathetic object, especially around the holiday time, and her woes, due to bad landlords and bad government, evoked the sympathy of many nations. Today by a curious reversal of old conditions, it is among the few nations which can say they are "doing nicely, thank you."

Ireland, and more particularly southern Ireland, has perhaps fewer unemployed per capita than any European country except France. Its farmers have had a bad season and produce prices are low, but they recognize that, in this respect they share the world's depression. They feel that a bumper harvest next year will equalize matters.

Landlord Bogeyman Gone.

Living costs are higher, no doubt, but the old bogey of the absentee landlord no longer terrifies. The land "tenant" is also the owner, and if he is hit by a bad harvest and prices his credit is good.

Good government also has arrived. On Dec. 6 nine years ago the Anglo-Irish treaty was signed. One year later the Free State government took control with President Cosgrave as chief executive. The same party is still in office and likely to be for a long time to come.

The government has just passed a bill appropriating $1,500,000 for various schemes of work in the congested areas, where most of the unemployed will get jobs to put them in comfortable shape for the new year. A certain disappointment has been felt from the western counties, where usually at this time of the year emigrants' remittances arrive in substantial amounts to cheer the old folks' hearts.

Confident of Future.

Not within the memory of most Irish has Ireland entered the holiday season with such a spirit of peace and good will, and such universal confidence in the future.

Economists do not deny there is suffering in some sections. There is always plenty of work in the city slums for the charitably disposed and for the social workers, with whom Dublin is well supplied. The unemployable are always there, but the distress, while considerable, is in no way abnormal.

WANTS LINES RELIEVED FROM "REGULATION"

Aishton Sees Hope for Railroads.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—The recently adopted policy, which the railroads hope will gain for them an equal footing with other forms of transportation, was termed the road's most notable achievement of 1930 today by R. H. Aishton, president of the American Railway association.

The policy asks for a respite from rate reductions and suspension by regulating bodies, both intrastate and interstate, and from action that will increase the expenses of the carriers, a respite from legislative efforts, either national or state, that adversely affect rates or increase expenses of the carriers; with a withdrawal of governmental competition both through direct operation of transportation facilities and indirectly through subsidies; and a fair comparable system of regulation for competing transportation service.

Only Equal Opportunity.

"In adopting this policy the railroads seek only an equal opportunity to compete with other forms of transportation, operating as common carriers, when it comes to handling the commerce of the nation. They are not asking for any special privileges. They simply want all forms of common carrier transportation to be treated alike," a statement by Mr. Aishton declared.

"The railroads have found it necessary to take this action largely because of the marked slackening in the growth of traffic since 1920, contrasted with the average annual increase for the preceding thirty years. This diminution has come from a number of reasons—among them the increases in the use of automobiles, motor trucks, and buses; transcontinental tonnage handled through the Panama canal, and traffic over inland waterways."

Not Due to Depression.

The policy, Mr. Aishton stated, is not predicated on a falling off due to the present depression. The situation which existed during 1930, he said, will right itself, but the situation developed during a period of years is serious.

Preliminary reports indicate, Mr. Aishton said, that loading of revenue freight in 1930 fell 13 per cent under 1929, and 11 per cent under 1928. Capital expenditures in 1930 totaled 875 millions, an increase of $21,000,000 over 1929 and of $198,000,000 over 1928. The net railway operating income of class 1 roads in 1930 was 898 million dollars, giving them a return of 3.41 per cent on their investment, compared with 4.95 per cent in 1929. Passenger traffic amounted to 27,000,000,000 passenger miles, the lowest in twenty years.

PRINTED SILK FROCKS

Are Creating a Furore

It's just the time of year for the wardrobe to strike a whimsical note. After weeks of plain colors—it's fun, and awfully smart to wear a frock in a bright print. It does so much for the whole ensemble—gives the winter coat an entirely new feeling and even one's hat seems a little jauntier.

This printed frock in canton crepe—bright designs widely spaced on dark grounds of black, navy, brown, and green. Also in plain green, black, wine, navy, canton, crepe. It is a very slenderizing frock. Sizes 36 to 44.

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 28.—[Special.] The Chicago Shamrocks scored in the third period to defeat the Buffalo Americans, 1 to 0, and take undisputed lead in the American Hockey league race.

Gordon Brydson received a pass from Bobby Burns and drove it into the net over Stark, who had fallen before the net, for the lone goal. The two teams had battled on almost even terms throughout two and one-half periods of fast hockey.

Burns Takes Puck.

The Shamrocks took possession of the puck after a rush by the Americans. Sam Timmins got the puck on a drive by Thorsteinson, while two of the Buffalo squad were inside the Chicago blue line. Burns was away with a flying start and Brydson raced down the other edge of the rink to take a perfect pass.

Chicago threatened on two other occasions in the last period. Goal Fadyen led an attack on Buffalo's goal, but his sharp drive was stopped by Goalie Stark. On another attack Burns lifted the puck a foot over the cage after Stark had made a sensational stop of Mulligan's shot.

Buffalo Team Theatens.

Buffalo came nearest to scoring in the last period, when Timmins was forced to the limit to halt a shot by Thorsteinson.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

More than 12,000 of the yellingest folks in Chicago saw a whale of a hockey game at the Stadium last night. It is, however, a sad duty to inform you that despite the excellent entertainment the Toronto Maple Leafs whipped the Blackhawks, 3 to 2.

The fans were entitled to see a great game, for on paper the game was an overnight cinch to be a Blackhawk push over, seeing as how the Maple Leafs were torched Christmas night by Detroit, 10 to 1.

It should be hastily explained that Mr. Lorne Chabot, a goal tender by trade, did not work in the Detroit game. But he did last night—and how he worked!

Now, IF the Leafs—

They don't second guess much on hockey scores, but the one last night gave the "if" boys a chance, for the Hawks would have tied the score in 16 minutes 12 seconds in the last quarter IF the Leafs hadn't scored 3 seconds earlier.

The visitors had made two surprising points in the first period and the Hawks one at the close of the second. Then when the last half of the final session set in, the Hawks launched a five man offense—and the maneuver, designed to score, proved their own downfall, for Harold Cotton, who figured in every Toronto score, got the puck with no one but Goalie Gardiner in the defense zone and glided to the goal that won the bacon.

Twelve seconds later Cook took a pass from Adams and scored. For the remainder of the period the Hawk wingmen made a frenzied attempt to tie the score. But Mr. Chatbot and some others stood them off.

The customers, who had hollered themselves hoarse at the many thrilling Hawk onslaughts in the first period, were quite distressed, not to say nonplused, when the end of the opening session revealed our heroes trailing, 2 to 0.

Leafs Score Early.

The visitors got the first of their accumulation 2 minutes and 45 seconds after the playing of "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Ingram and Des Jardins were fixing to try something when the latter fell on his trunks, enabling Blair to send the puck at the edge of the Toronto defense zone. Abetted by Cotton, the rubber was carried down the ice and the score resulted when Cotton passed to Blair exactly at the right time and place.

After the period had passed the halfway point the most exciting massed onslaught of the season was staged in the Toronto defense zone. But Chabot defied the whole Hawk cast and when the prolonged foray was ended the Hawks still were in the goose egg section.

Toronto Counts Again.

The Leafs' second goal was not as exciting as the Hawks' big attack but it was more graceful, and, of course, more serviceable.

Bailey and Cotton calmly took the puck on the blue line and calmly passed back and forth till they arrived the proper distance from the cage and Cotton shoved to Bailey and in went the puck.

The count remained at 2 to 0 in favor of the enemy until the period was entering its final stages. With Jenkins and Cotton both in the penalty box and only three minutes to go, the Hawks speeded up.

Just as Jenkins got back on the ice, Gottselig took a pass from Miller and slammed it home for the Hawks' first goal.

With the Hawks playing a five man offensive the puck got away from the circle and was seized by Cotton who skated over clear ice to the goal. He rammed it past Gardiner and the score was Toronto, 3; Chicago, 1. The time was 18 minutes.

Twelve seconds after the Leafs made their marker Cook took a pass from Adams for Chicago's second score and the last of the evening.

Tribune Events Provide Sport for 200,000 in 1930

BY ARCH WARD.

While we are looking back at the high spots of 1930 sport it might be timely to recall that THE TRIBUNE provided athletic competition and entertainment for 200,000.

Many years ago the sports department of this paper decided it would not leave the exercise and recreation of its readers entirely in the hands of professional promoters. With the inauguration of the Silver Skates in 1916 THE TRIBUNE launched a promotional program which has been expanding steadily until now it is the most comprehensive undertaken by any newspaper.

There is no commercialism in THE TRIBUNE'S sport enterprises. All are free to everybody except the Golden Gloves boxing tournament. The rental of arenas, expense of inter-city bouts, etc., make it necessary to ask a small admission fee. Profits are donated to charity.

An organization known as THE TRIBUNE wrecking crew, a group of men interested in the development of amateur sport, coöperates in the promotion of these events. They serve without pay.

The 1930 schedule included the Silver Skates meet, the Golden Gloves boxing tournament, baseball school for boys, swimming meet, novice golf meet, public links tournaments for men and women, match play golf, and football contests.

The Golden Gloves meet passed the Silver Skates for the first time in patronage. The boxers drew 65,000 spectators, while the estimated gathering at the ice carnival was 60,000. The fighters had 11 days, however, in which to pile up their figures whereas the skaters were limited to two days. The skating meet still holds the lead by a wide margin in number of entrants. It outranked the Golden Gloves, 3,500 to 701, in this respect.

New events appearing on THE TRIBUNE'S 1930 program were the baseball school, swimming meet, football contests, public parks golf meets, and match card tournament. The last event drew 500 entrants. It was an innovation in golf, as it provided the spice of tournament competition without inconvenience to the contestants. A player could shoot his round on his favorite course any time he pleased. All he had to do was send his card to THE TRIBUNE and it was compared with that of his opponent, who shot his round wherever and whenever he liked.

The following figures, which show the number of spectators and contestants at TRIBUNE events in 1930, do not include the thousands who attended Golden Gloves qualifying rounds in the twelve cities which sent teams to Chicago:

	Attendance.	Entrants.
Silver Skates	60,000	3,500
Golden Gloves	65,000	701
Baseball school	25,000	.....
Swimming meet	25,000	1,400
Public links [men]	.....	200
Public links [women]	.....	50
Match card golf	.....	500
Football contests	.....	300
	175,000	6,651

SHARKEY'S INCONSISTENCY.

A psychologist probably would find Jack Sharkey an interesting clinical problem, if Jack Dempsey has the Boston fighter sized up correctly.

When Dempsey was in Chicago last week he said Sharkey never would stand out as a great heavyweight. He based the prediction on what Sharkey had showed in his bout with the former champion previous to the second Dempsey-Tunney match.

Despite his bombast and his ego, Dempsey holds that Sharkey has a marked inferiority complex.

"He's a good fighter as long as he is out in front," Jack remarked. "Once he feels that he is losing the bout he is apt to do anything. For three rounds he gave me about all I wanted. But I discouraged him when he found out that I could take it. Thereafter he was a changed fighter. I wouldn't have been surprised had he jumped out of the ring long before I finished him in the seventh round."

SAVOLDI OF NOTRE DAME.

The earthquake that shook Southern California, Dec. 6, the day Notre Dame rolled up a 27 to 0 score on the "greatest team ever developed on the Pacific coast," was not as devastating as it might have been at that.

Since Joe Savoldi ripped through a band of coast all stars for three touchdowns, the fans out there in the sunny clime think they were lucky to escape as easily as they did. It probably would have been worse had he played.

Savoldi at Los Angeles was the Savoldi that broke the heart of Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh, and Carnegie Tech. He seems to be Savoldi only when he's playing for Notre Dame. He hasn't been so hot with the Bears.

Which may prove one of two things: Professional football is a lot tougher than the college brand, or it lacks plays which enable college stars to shine their brightest.

Ski Tourney Entries Jump to 100 Mark

BY WILFRID SMITH.

There'll be plenty of action at Riis park next Sunday when more than 100 Chicago boys compete in THE TRIBUNE'S first annual ski tournament. The entry list yesterday reached the 100 mark. Entries will be received until midnight, Dec. 31.

Louis Cernocky Jr., secretary of the Fox Athletic club, yesterday sent in the names of five boys for THE TRIBUNE contest. All of these boys have leaped from the Cary slide, and if they can master that hill they certainly have splendid chances to win one of the four medals which will be awarded Sunday in each of two age divisions.

Enter Four Senior Jumpers.

Edward Cernocky, Daniel Traznick, Sam Salveson, and Sam Patriak will compete in the senior division for boys between the ages of 14 and 17, inclusive. Joe Sedvicc is the Fox Athletic club entry in the junior division for boys under 14 years of age.

It is natural, of course, that the ski clubs should welcome such a meet as THE TRIBUNE will hold Sunday. A great majority of the boys who have entered are members of these clubs, but it is of more interest that many boys have discovered the sport and have entered the tournament.

Skiing Becomes Popular.

Skiing is rapidly "catching on" with Chicago boys as one of winter's most thrilling sports. And ski officials are hoping that in the future these juvenile meets may grow as THE TRIBUNE Silver Skates Derbies have grown in the past 15 years.

Lindblom High school is the first of Chicago's secondary schools to organize a ski club, according to Bill Wendt, who organized the club last winter.

"We are interested in competing with other schools in both cross country and jumping events," Wendt writes. "Our club is planning to hold an interclub meet at Beverly in the near future. My hope is that enough interest will be shown by the high schools that skiing will be adopted as a regular high school sport."

Eddie Schroeder, 19 year old skater of the Walton Arrows Athletic club, yesterday won the two mile handicap event of the Franklin Skating and Athletic club's twelfth annual ice skating Derby. Twenty thousand lined the banks of the Humboldt park lagoon to watch the inaugural meet of Chicago's racing season.

Schroeder, starting his second year against the veterans, Frank Stack, Oneil Farrell, and William Minster, was conceded little chance against the skaters who had won title after title. Last year he was defeated in all of the fifteen meets held in Chicago.

Race to Dead Heat.

Racing with practically the same band in the one mile class A event, Schroeder, after gliding along in fourth and fifth position for more than a half mile, went into the lead with Stack and they raced side by side until the finish. Behind them were Farrell and Art Peters. All judges agreed it was a dead heat.

Then came the two mile handicap. Minster, 1930 TRIBUNE Silver Skates Derby winner, took the lead with Wallace Mitchell of the Majestic Skating club. After a mile, Stack was in front, but on the last lap Schroeder sprinted and won easily. Art Peters was second, Minster finished third, Al Keucera fourth, and Stack fifth.

Elizabeth Du Bois Wins.

Elizabeth Du Bois, wearing the colors of the Majestic Skating club, captured the one-half mile class A women's event by more than 35 yards. Priscilla Richey of the Barrett Athletic club won second place, and Helen Bina finished third.

The women's half mile class B event, which attracted 42 entrants, was won by Eleanor Thiel of the Walton Arrows. Madge Williams took second place and Phyllis Smith was third.

A team trophy donated by Charles V. Barrett was awarded to the Walton Arrows with 125 points. Barrett skaters took second place with 100, and third place went to the Majestic Skating club with 90 points.

The summaries:

MEN.

UNDER 16 YEARS OLD, ¼ MILE—Won by Dick Longton [Barrett]; Carl Hoff [Walton Arrows], second; Don Thompson [unattached], third. Time, 1:42.2.

WHEN ICE RACING SEASON OPENED

Frank Stack, representing the Amphion A. C., winning the first qualifying heat in the one mile class A event of the Franklin Skating and Athletic club Derby at Humboldt park. It was the fastest half mile race run off during the meet. The time was 1:31 1-5. Stack is being closely pursued by Eddie Schroeder of the Walton Arrows A. C. and Oneil Farrell of the Opal A. A. A little later Schroeder and Stack raced a dead heat in the main event. (TRIBUNE Photo.)

Eastern Grid Officials O.K. Extra Point

New York, Dec. 28.—(AP)—The Eastern Association of Intercollegiate Football Officials today, in effect, approved the point after touchdown, but suggested that the penalties for fouls occurring while the try for point is made now are "too drastic."

The association pointed out that under the present rules such fouls are penalized by the awarding or disallowing the point which often proves the deciding factor of the game. Instead of awarding or disallowing the point, the association would have such fouls penalized just as they are when they occur in ordinary scrimmage.

Discuss Fumble Rule.

Holding its annual meeting in the Hotel McAlpin, the association also took up the much-discussed fumble rule and went on record as favoring a uniform interpretation of that regulation so that on all kicks as well as fumbles "the ball, if recovered before it strikes the ground, may be advanced by the recovering side."

This action recalled the famous touchdown which Barres, Yale end, made against Georgia this year, when he grabbed a kicked ball as it bounded out of the arms of a Georgia player and ran to a touchdown. The legality of the score afterwards was questioned.

Regarding the extra point, the association had this to say:

"It is the feeling of the football officials that on the try for point after touchdown the penalties for fouls which occur are now too drastic. The officials believe that rules should be enforced in this case just as they would be if the fouls occurred in any ordinary scrimmage.

Suggest Special Penalty.

"Instead of awarding or disallowing the point, which often is the deciding factor in the game, the officials think a penalty as specified in the rules for that particular offense should be inflicted. For example: A team making the try has three options—namely: to kick the ball, carry it across by rushing, or complete a forward pass in the opponents' end zone.

"If on the try a player of team B [defensive team] is offside and the try fails the ball would be played on the one yard line. This would be a real penalty for that infraction of the rule because the chances of a successful try by rushing would be materially improved with the ball on the one yard line.

"On the other hand, if the foul is committed by the offense and the ball placed on the seven yard line or farther back, depending upon the penalty, two of the attacking team's three options would be practically eliminated. The distance to the goal line would be too great to chance a running play, and the defense, taking advantage of this fact, could guard more easily against a forward pass.

"In neither case would a game be necessarily decided for such a slight infraction of the rules as offside."

The suggested rules changes will be referred to the rules committee for action.

The association's meeting served as a preliminary to a week of conferences by the nation's coaches, officials, college athletic authorities, and others connected with intercollegiate athletic activities.

Washington State, Alabama Elevens Go Sightseeing

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 28.—(AP)—Football players of Alabama and Washington State, opponents in the sixteenth annual intersectional New Year's day clash, thrust the cares of the gridiron behind them today and took sightseeing tours through southern California.

Practice tomorrow will be taken up with more zest with the Cougars facing probably the hardest workout. Coach Orin [Babe] Hollingbery expects to put his gridsters through a hard session both tomorrow and Tuesday, allowing them to taper down on Wednesday.

Coach Wallace Wade has entirely different ideas for the Crimson tide. He gave his squad its last strenuous drill yesterday. From now on it will be a matter of polishing off in an effort to round the team into a proper physical and mental condition for the struggle.

Present indications are that 65,000 will witness the struggle which marks Alabama's third appearance in the annual intersectional classic and Washington State's second. The Rose bowl holds 85,000.

SAYS A. A. CLUBS MAY DEAL WITH MAJOR LEAGUES

Toledo, O., Dec. 28.—(AP)—The American association's acceptance of the draft proposal offered by the American and National leagues will stand until new action is taken, Oscar J. Smith, president of the Toledo club, said today. Smith was one of five association club owners that made up the majority voting for draft peace.

Smith said he felt that until a new parley is held the association clubs will be free to deal with the majors. A conference to reconsider the mail vote by which the association accepted the universal draft was asked yesterday by George Muehlebach, president of the Kansas City club. President Thomas J. Hickey acceded, but fixed no date for a new conference.

Ernest S. Barnard, president of the American league and official spokesman for the bill leagues in the dispute, notified all majors to refrain from player relations until further notice.

U. of C. Holiday Basket Meet Starts Today

The University of Chicago Christmas week basketball tourney will open this afternoon at Bartlett gymnasium. Seventeen teams from the City league, eleven from surrounding suburban communities, and four downstate fives make up the bracket of thirty-two. The outside teams are Wauconda, McNabb, near Streator; Bradley, from near Kankakee, and Robinson, from south of Danville.

Bowen High of Chicago is a pre-tournament favorite with a record of 14 victories out of 16 games played. Riverside and Hinsdale, first place teams in the west suburban conference; Evanston, Lake View, Calumet, Bloom, and Thornton also have good records.

York of Elmhurst and Parker of the Chicago Public School league start the ball rolling at 2 o'clock this afternoon, and games will follow until 9 tonight.

One of the best battles of the day should be at 3 p. m., when Evanston meets Marshall. Marshall has won a majority of its contests, and Evanston revealed power by crumpling Deerfield, 41 to 15. Chuck Munson and John Greenslade are Evanston's best tossers.

Today's schedule:

2 p. m.—York of Elmhurst vs. Parker.
3 p. m.—Marshall vs. Evanston.
4 p. m.—Wauconda vs. Tilden Tech.
5 p. m.—Bradley vs. Waller.
6 p. m.—Riverside vs. Crane Tech.
7 p. m.—Kankakee vs. Senn.
8 p. m.—Bowen vs. La Grange.

FOOTBALL FOR SWEET CHARITY SOURS IN N. Y.

Lose Money as 1,500 See South Win, 7-0.

New York, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Charity that suffereth long took an extra measure of punishment today along with 1,500 straggling spectators and two half frozen squads of football players as a team of southern collegians downed an eleven from the colleges of the north, 7 to 0, on an ice and snow covered gridiron.

It was the last of five contests arranged in the metropolitan sector in the name of charity, but the tiny crowd that turned out and wandered haphazardly along the side lines failed to pay the expenses of bringing together the two teams. The failure of the gate receipts also solved the problem of naming the charity for which the match was staged, a question that had not been decided up to game time.

George Davidson, quarter back from the University of Georgia, was the only man in the park able to keep his feet consistently on a playing surface better suited for a hockey game. In one flair in the third quarter, the only sustained effort either team was able to make, Davidson passed and ran 80 yards in three successive plays to bring about the only touchdown of the game.

He took the ball on South's 20 yard line after a Northern punt had rolled over the goal for a touchback and promptly passed to Holland, big end for Tulane, on North's 43 yard line, for a gain of 37 yards. On the next play Davidson slipped through right tackle and cut back 13 yards to the 25 yard line. He then passed to Jim Manger, North Carolina half back, and his Southern mate dove along the sidelines for the score. Davidson place-kicked the extra point.

Tobias to Give Away Weight in Nate Bout

Phil Tobias, challenger for the flyweight title for which Midget Wolgast and Frankie Genaro fought a draw in New York Friday night, arrived in Chicago yesterday for his battle with Georgie Nate in one half of the double winedup of the Coliseum fight show tomorrow evening. The boys will go eight rounds.

Tobias had posted a forfeit with the New York commission with a challenge to meet the winner of the title bout so was disappointed at the outcome. He holds a decision over Wolgast, but never has met Genaro.

Nate will come into the ring at 118 pounds, six pounds over the flyweight limit, but Tobias is confident he can overcome the South Bend scrapper's weight advantage.

The other windup bout will feature Jerry De Barbieux, Belgian, who claims to be the superior of his fellow countryman, René De Vos, against Baxter Calmes, blonde Wichita heavyweight, whose famous pink bathrobe is well known to Chicago fans.

The complete card, as arranged by Promoter George Ferguson and Matchmaker Jim Mullen, provides for 44 rounds of boxing. The supporting bouts are:

Danny Delmont and Benny Duke, 6 rounds, 138 pounds.
Willie Pelligrini and Paul Dazzo, 6 rounds, 123 pounds.
Peewee Gale and Nick Clementi, 8 rounds, 118 pounds.
Billy Gladstone and Jackie Davis, 4 rounds, 135 pounds.
Dick Sisk and Johnny Rich, 4 rounds, 142 pounds.
Pat Kelly and Jack Taylor, 4 rounds, heavyweights.

BRICKIES BEAT MACCABEES, 4-1; SPARTA VICTOR

The Bricklayers' soccer team defeated the Maccabee All-Stars, 4 to 1, in an exhibition game yesterday at Kuppenheimer stadium.

Sparta and Buda met in an interleague game at Sparta field yesterday, the Bohemians winning, 2 to 1.

City, Catholic Prep Quintets to Start Play

Chicago's City and Catholic High school leagues will begin the business of deciding the basketball championships in their respective divisions within the next two weeks. The City league season will get under way on Jan. 6, when the opening games of the west section bring together Harrison and Marshall, Tuley and Medill, and McKinley and Crane. The north and south sections go into action on Jan. 9, while the south section will begin play Jan. 7.

Both the north and south sections of the Catholic league will play their opening games on Jan. 9.

The champions in the two leagues are: Wendell Phillips, City league heavyweights; Calumet, City league lightweights; De La Salle of Chicago, Catholic league heavyweights, and De Paul, Catholic league lightweights.

Hunters May Lose 5 Day Chicken Hunt

BY BOB BECKER.

A movement already under way in the state of Illinois aims to give further protection to the vanishing prairie chicken, which to thousands of hunters is merely the name of a bird that "was" rather than a game bird which can be hunted. Backed by a number of conservation organizations, the plan is to remove the prairie chicken from the open game bird list and give him a better chance to survive and, if possible, increase his numbers in Illinois by complete protection under the provisions of an amended game code.

We doubt if hunters in the state will object to such a procedure. On the contrary, the majority of the thousands who take to the fields each year for sport with a shotgun will undoubtedly get behind such a movement to save the prairie chicken, because the bird is so scarce that it is time to think of conservation rather than the chance to kill two of these birds per day during the short open season in Illinois.

Season Means Little.

At present Illinois hunters are given a chance to hunt the prairie chicken between Nov. 10 and Nov. 15. If you have ever tried to get within range of any of the birds at that time you know that the season doesn't mean a great deal.

When compared to the great flocks which existed on the Illinois prairies some years ago the few prairie chickens that we have today are really a pitiful remnant. The situation here is similar to that in other states. The "chicken of the prairie" is losing ground. In Wisconsin they have closed down on the hunting of these noble game birds in order to give them a chance. This protection has helped and the birds have increased in some sections. Iowa has no open season.

Alternate Years in Nebraska.

South Dakota also has no open season on these birds and Nebraska permits a limited amount of hunting them by opening a season in alternate years.

As a boy we saw the prairie chickens disappear from one section of southern Wisconsin where formerly they were abundant. But, as is the case in many states, the advance of agriculture, the work of the plow in developing great areas of land, and too much hunting spelled the end of the chickens. Here in Illinois we have a hunch that sportsmen will welcome a chance to put this vanishing game bird, which figures in but few game bags, on the protected list.

BELIEVE WORLD GRAIN PRICES NEAR BOTTOM

All Products Sell at Below Cost.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Grain prices have suffered a drastic decline the world over and are at a level where further recessions are expected to be small, with fair rallies following the breaks. The situation is dissimilar from any previously known in the grain trade of the world.

There is no precedent on which to base opinions other than the fact that prices are extremely low, with large prevailing supplies of wheat and feeding stuffs. All agricultural products are selling below cost of production, which means that when supplies largely exceed consumptive requirements.

Liquidation by holders of grains the world over has been most severe, and the markets have shown little resistance to selling pressure for so long a period that an impression prevails amongst close observers that caution should be used in shortening the market, with purchases to be made on breaks only.

Record Surpluses.

The old year is going out with the greatest surpluses of wheat known, which is also true of most other grains. Consumption has been increased by lowering of prices, but it can only be enlarged to a moderate extent regardless of low price levels. There is always more or less waste when prices are low which should help in disposing of the surpluses, but when they are heavy there must be an unusual waste to cut an important figure.

Wheat prices in Chicago are down to the lowest in 34 years, with other grains proportionately low, and with the speculative element timid owing to losses in an effort to sustain values at higher levels, do not stand long when the markets are against them on either the long or short side.

Draws Crop Distinction.

A leading operator draws a distinction between the low price of July wheat at close to the 60c level which is new crop, and with every sale practically a short sale, as it is six months away from harvest. On the other hand actual wheat prices represent a consumptive demand at 18c above the July, with the government in control of the market. This difference should not be confounded on the part of the speculative trade and consumers who see the price of July and think that it represents real wheat at present.

Government control of December and May continues both in Chicago and Minneapolis, and shorts in December will have to even up in the next three trading days of the month which might run into a temporary squeeze. As to exports the United States is in a class by itself, being entirely out of line with the world's markets.

Better Canadian Feeling.

In the Canadian situation there is a decidedly better feeling, as leading elevator interests have practically guaranteed the farmers 50c a bu a Fort

See Bond Mart Occupying Best Position in Years

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 28.—The bond market as it squares away for a start at the new year is technically in a far better position than it has been in many years at this season.

New financing during recent weeks has been light, so that there is no burdensome carryovers into the new year, the rates to be paid on deposits by New York banks which are members of the clearing house have just been reduced to record lows, and the yields on bankers' acceptances, treasury bills, and notes stand at levels little above the banks' interest rates, and bond prices are such that the yields are the highest in recent years. Theoretically the bond market is in excellent shape.

Stress Conservatism.

The consensus of investment banking opinion at the close of the year is that a campaign to interest investors in bonds will have to be conducted along lines of conservatism. In other words, the bulk of the new bond financing in January will comprise high grade issues. Many investors are not interested in second grade bonds at any price, so that a banking house would assume considerable risk in endeavoring to market an issue that does not bear a high grade rating.

Public utility and municipal bonds are the most favored issues at the moment, and in time railroad issues and possibly high grade industrial loans will meet with increased buying. At this time, the indications are that an active foreign bond market is some months distant.

It is almost axiomatic in the stock market that investors do not generally take advantage of depressed prices to make new committment on a large scale, preferring to wait until the market shows a definite upswing. In a measure the same is true of the bond market. The extensive liquidation of bonds during the last month or two has not been conductive of investment buying of bonds since there is ever the hope of "getting them a little cheaper."

Not only has the normal buying of bonds on the part of banks been reduced to almost a vanishing point, but many institutions throughout the country have been disposed to place themselves in as liquid a condition as possible by parting with large blocks of bonds.

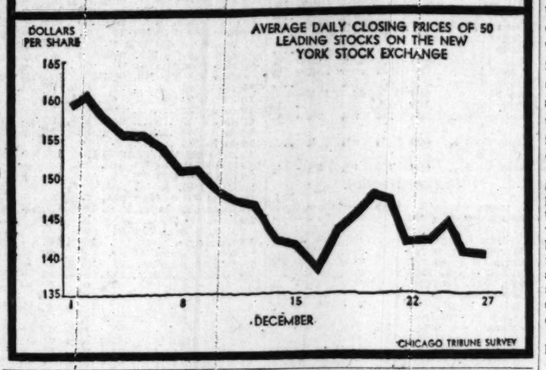
Expected to Resume Buying.

The theory is that once a wave of bank closings is over and the "window dressing" for year-end statements is at an end, the resumption of bond buying by banks will have a considerable effect on the bond market. The announcement of the list of bonds legal for investment by savings banks in this state by the state superintendent of banks at the close of last week, is calculated to have a stabilizing effect on the market.

Fears had been entertained in some quarters that the reduced earnings of railroads, whose bonds make up the bulk of the legal list, might cause a number of issues to be stricken from the list. On the contrary, only fourteen rail issues were dropped and twenty-enght added. Twelve public utility issues were added and none was dropped.

In this regard, it is important to note that with the sharp increase in savings bank deposits, these institutions are in a position to do more buying of bonds at this season than at any time in many years. Not only does this apply to saving banks in this state but also to those of many other states, since the New York legal list is more or less a pattern for savings bank investment throughout the nation.

NEW DECLINE FOLLOWED MODERATE RECOVERY IN LAST WEEK'S STOCK MARKET



HEAR CHELSEA BANK SOON MAY BE REOPENED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 28.—A statement of the condition of the closed Chelsea Bank and Trust company indicating the bank was sound and regarded as foreshadowing its reopening or reorganization, was issued today by Joseph A. Broderick, superintendent of the state banking department.

Although Mr. Broderick would not comment on the statement, presenting a picture of the institution's assets and liabilities, department officials looked upon it as encouraging and holding out the prospect of a satisfactory adjustment.

Simultaneously with Mr. Broderick's report, based upon a close study by banking examiners of the affairs of the Chelsea Bank and Trust company, the directors of the bank made public a declaration in which they pronounced their institution sound, held out the hope of substantial and prompt assistance in the form of loans to be obtained by an arrangement with the clearing house association and declared the assets of the bank were more than sufficient to pay all depositors in full. The directors said also that many proposals have come to them for reorganization of the bank. These proposals are now being considered with a view to working out some constructive program. In any event, however, the directors stated, the interests of depositors will be fully protected.

Gets Insulation Plant of Chicago Mill & Lumber Co.

The United States Gypsum company announced last night that it has acquired the insulation plant of the Chicago Mill and Lumber company at Greenville, Miss. Distribution of the products of the plant, which include insulation board and lath, will be made direct from the mill or through the warehouses of the company as heretofore, it was stated. The distribution between the Insulite company and the U. S. Gypsum, which has been in operation for fifteen months, has been discontinued.

ASSERT COMPETITION, TRADE DEPRESSION CUT KUPPENHEIMER PROFIT

Keen competition in the clothing industry and this year's general business depression resulted in a considerable decline in profits of B. Kuppenheimer & Co. The annual report for the fiscal year ended Nov. 1 shows a net profit of $278,969, equivalent, after preferred dividends, to $2.23 a share on 100,000 common shares outstanding. Net profit for the previous year was $641,016, or $5.72 a share.

This year the company paid $232,294 in dividends, set up a contingent reserve of $200,000 and paid premiums of $26,657 on preferred stock retired. As a result of those deductions, the surplus on Nov. 1 was $4,051,525, compared with $4,231,507 on Nov. 2, 1929. The balance sheet shows current assets of $3,952,874 and current liabilities of $339,660, compared with $5,470,119 and $1,295,212, respectively, on Nov. 2, 1929.

CITES EXTENT OF TRADE DECLINE IN MIDDLE WEST

Wholesale trade declined more than usual in November in the middle west, while the furniture and automobile industries showed the usual seasonal slackening, according to the monthly review of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank.

Declines in wholesale lines compared with October ranged from 16½ per cent in drugs to 28 per cent in hardware, while declines compared with November, 1929, ranged from 13.7 per cent in groceries to 38.3 per cent in electrical supplies. Department store sales declined 6 per cent from October, due to the fewer trading days last month, but daily average sales gained 4 per cent. Compared with November, 1929, total sales declined 21 per cent and daily average sales were 18 per cent lower.

Furniture production sagged to 50 per cent of capacity, while new orders and shipments were lower than in October or in November, 1929.

OFFERS RELIEF PLAN FOR WEST CANADA FARMERS

WINNIPEG, Dec. 28.—(AP)—Solution of the western Canada farmer's economic problem must be sought on the basis of next year's grain crop, W. J. Ward, president of the United Farmers of Manitoba, believes. Bonuses or artificial aid for agrarians based on the 1930 crop, he said today, would be unavailing.

"Steps should be taken to build up a firm foundation for next year's work," he said. "Conditions on the prairies are such that proposals for pegged prices, for seed and feed aid, or for direct monetary assistance in live stock purchases would not remedy existing difficulties." He urges three steps to help out the burdened west:

1—Reduction of interest rates by not less than two per cent.

2—Reduction of freight and express rates over western lines to compare with existing rates between North Bay and Montreal and assurance of low rail rates over the Hudson Bay railway and equitable marine rates out of Churchill.

3—Measures to insure lower prices for farmers' production necessities, paralleling aid now given to manufacturers, to enable competition in the world market without lowering farm living standards.

Says Public Funds Back Gov't Grain Men's Guesses

BY SCRUTATOR.

Purchases of wheat future contracts with government money have proved that it is possible, temporarily, to hold domestic prices above a world level. The antics of futures not being dealt in by the one big buyer of wheat seem to show that the influence of such purchases goes no further than the money itself; July delivery striking a new low for thirty-four years on Saturday.

A look into the old records of the grain market in Chicago shows that price fluctuations for wheat, even in the decade following the civil war, were not more spectacular as they have been during the last ten years, which were marked by the passage of at least two laws tending to place restrictions on the free expression of speculative opinion as to prices. One of these laws is that under which the government financed corporation is holding up a future price.

Range of Prices.

Spot wheat, that located in the Chicago district ready for immediate delivery, sold in 1867 at $2.85 a bushel. The lowest point reached between then and 1877 was 73¼ cents. The low in the year 1877 was more than a dollar. Two dollar wheat came back in 1888, and the all time low of 48⅞c came in the early part of 1895.

In the more modern setting we see spot wheat selling at $3.50 in Chicago in 1920 and at less than 80 cents in 1930. The relationship of top and bottom over ten years is more widely variant in the later than in the earlier period. The $3.50 was first reached while trading in wheat futures was suspended as a war measure. The present low comes a year after the federal farm board began to make active efforts to better the price of this grain.

A frank admission has been made by the farm board that it erred in its estimate of the natural course of the wheat market, made about a year ago. In its annual report it is related that the policy of lending up to stated values greater than those prevailing in the open markets was adopted in the light of the analysis of the best information available. "The action taken was based on this interpretation of world conditions, in the light of which wheat price declines appeared unwarranted," the report stated.

"This view was not borne out by actual developments. Facts eventually proved it wrong. . . . These facts only gradually become clear, but in retrospect they are inescapable."

Admit They Guessed Wrong.

It sums up to an admission that the government's men guessed wrong. If they had backed their judgment with their own funds they would have lost them. The position is still difficult. The accumulation and holding of a large amount of grain for stabilization purposes in themselves have a depressing effect and tend to prevent a swift upturn, in the event speculative judgment would suggest buying.

Thus far the historical background shows that unrestrained—by government—markets were as efficient in ironing out the price levels as those in which control is attempted. Precedent in the case of Brazilian coffee, British East Indian coffee, Cuban sugar and Japanese silk tend to indicate that price raising or even price steadying encountered difficulties becoming greater as time went on.

PAINFUL BUMPS FELT BY ALL IN THE LAST YEAR

Time to Tell Extent of Real Hurts.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 28.—What place the year now drawing to its end is to occupy in our financial history will not be known exactly until its events can be measured by the character of the year that follows.

We know already that 1930, like 1921 and 1908 and 1894, has been the inevitably violent antithesis to a period of financial extravagance and overinflated speculation which had preceded it. Whether, in the scope and character of its reactionary episodes, it was worse than those other "after-panic years" or not so bad, is a matter of year-end controversy.

Wall street's opinion on that question has seemed to be emphatic, but it is not entirely trustworthy. Judged as such things are apt to be, purely from the stock market viewpoint, we have undoubtedly fallen from a greater height than ever before, and our bruises are correspondingly more painful. But that does not prove how badly we are actually hurt.

Interesting Comparisons.

The last year presents some curiously interesting comparisons. It has witnessed a long list of insolvencies, a great fall in staple prices, sweeping increase of unemployment, heavy shrinkage of consuming power, a highly unpleasant shock to credit. Yet its bank failures suggest only faint comparison with the successive collapse of powerful institutions after 1893 and 1873, or the two weeks' run on the New York trust companies in 1907, with suspension of free cash payments by all banks. This year's company failures are hardly a reminder of the misfortunes of huge industrial combinations in 1907 or the successive receiverships for the Reading, the Erie, the Atchison, the Union and Northern Pacific railways in 1893. The reduction of prices for commodities, sensational as that has seemed to be in 1930, has been carried hardly one-third as far as the average fall in prices after the middle of 1920.

Unemployment, large as the estimated figure has become at the present year-end, will hardly be set as a parallel to 1921, not to mention the season of the railway union strike, the final trade lockout, and the march of Coxey's army during 1894.

Cities Consuming Power.

Consuming power has suffered terribly as a result both of Wall street "margin speculation" and of the gross abuse of "consumer's credit"; but no branch of business has reported such utter paralysis of consumers' orders as in the autumn of 1908. With all the low prevailing rates for money, credit facilities for merchants and producers have been put down drastically; yet comparison with the throttling influence of the "frozen credits," in which merchants, exporters, agriculturists and banks were simultaneously entangled, up to the end of 1921, makes the present condition of things seem, by contrast, almost comfortable.

Sometimes, when a financial situation has unfolded in such unexpected shape as to create complete bewilderment in the whole community, there comes to mind as a curious reflection the absolute certainty that in three or four years, when we have seen not only beginning but end of such an episode, the entire logic of events will be so plain to everybody as hardly to need discussion. The youngest clerk in Wall street understood by 1897 the actual reason and significance of events whose explanation had been given up as a hopeless riddle by the head of the house in 1894.

Seen in Perspective.

Even now most people can remember how the despair of the veterans in 1911 seemed incredible, even if not amusing, to retrospective youngsters of 1926. It may require a considerably longer stretch of time to reach the occasion when this year's events can be seen in that kind of perspective. Presumably we shall have to meet some more unpleasant surprises and shocks of disappointment in 1931.

If the stock market breaks again there will be another week or so in which all hope will be given up. On most occasions of the past, two or three years have sometimes had to elapse before Wall street was again in agreement with the distinguished veteran of half a dozen major panics and major reactions, to the effect that "the man who is a bear on the future of the United States will go broke."

Illinois Central Reports $1,711,466 November Net

The Illinois Central system yesterday reported net railway operating income for November of $1,711,466, which represents a decline of $17,665 from the corresponding month last year. Total railway operating revenues for the month amounted to $10,793,028, a decline of $3,557,178 from November, 1929. Eleven months net railway operating income was $20,794,581 which was $4,395,121 less than in the comparable period last year.

W. L. Allen Heads Board of Gleaner Combine Co.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 28.—(AP)—W. L. Allen has succeeded S. H. Hale as chairman of the board of directors of the Gleaner Combine Harvester corporation. The new chairman is vice president of the American Rolling Mill company. Hale will remain a member of the board.

WE believe that Public Utility Bonds at current levels offer exceptional possibilities for appreciation during 1931.

NEW YORK URGED TO PURCHASE BIG TRANSIT SYSTEM

Untermyer Favors Buy at Cost of $489,804,000.

New York, Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Acquisition of the rapid transit properties of the Interborough and the B. M. T. by the city at a gross cost of $489,804,000 and their operation at an inflexible five cent fare under supervision of a public corporation to be known as the board of transit control, is recommended in a report to be submitted to the transit commission tomorrow by Samuel Untermyer, special counsel.

The purchase price calls for payment of $215,300,000 for the B. M. T. subway and elevated lines and Williamsburg power plant. The price of the Interborough subways and Manhattan Railway Elevated lines is $276,504,000.

Agreements Tentative.

The prices are the result of tentative and conditional agreements reached after long negotiations between Mr. Untermyer, spokesman for the transit commission and the city, and Gerhard M. Dahl, chairman of the B. M. T. and Interborough directorates. They represent what Mr. Untermyer believes the city is justified in paying, in view of benefits to be derived from unification, and what Mr. Dahl is willing to recommend to the directors of the Interborough and the B. M. T.

The report makes it clear that the prices are not in any sense binding committals on any of the parties.

Points to Advantages.

Declaring that the prices recommended are much higher than the properties are worth, Mr. Untermyer justifies them only because of the tremendous advantages which will accrue, in his opinion, from consolidated operation under board of transit control supervision. The report submits tables and statistics upon the basis of which Mr. Untermyer predicts that by 1968—the date at which the existing contracts with the B. M. T. and Interborough would terminate if not abrogated by unification—the revenues from such operation will not only have repaid the city's new investment of $161,730,000 in corporate stock, but also its entire "frozen" investment of $286,050,000, plus accrued interest, in the existing lines now leased to the companies.

Sees Debt-Free System.

In addition, he declares, it will have paid off all the bond and stock indebtedness in the form of board of control securities, leaving the city with a debt-free subway system and more than ample funds with which to finance improvements and build new lines. All this, he declares, will be accomplished independently of the city's own subway system which, although under board of control supervision, would be paying its own way at a nickel fare by virtue of the short term bond financing now in its fourth year.

The Untermyer report presents to the transit commission for the first time since it received its unification mandate from the legislature in 1921 the comprehensive plan, including a definite financial setup for absorption of outstanding Interborough and B. M. T. securities. It is a third which Mr. Untermyer has submitted since he entered the situation as special counsel in 1927. It was formulated after previous efforts to reach a solution of the unification problem had met with strenuous opposition, first from the B. M. T., next from the Interborough, and finally from the Republican majority in the senate at Albany, which killed unification bills in 1928, 1929, and 1930.

Business Personals

The New York Stock exchange firm of Colvin & Co., established in 1847 and members of the exchange since 1897, is to retire from business Dec. 31. Arrangements have been completed for the transfer of their accounts to Wertheim & Co., investment bankers and members of the stock exchange. Several of the partners of Colvin & Co. plan to become members of Wertheim & Co. Jan. 1, while many of the members of the staff also will join the Wertheim organization. The New York offices of Wertheim will be expanded and the Colvin offices in Chicago and Pittsburgh probably will be operated as units of Wertheim.

Alvin E. Dodd, assistant to the president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., has resigned, effective Dec. 31, to become assistant to Albert H. Morrill, president of the Kroger Grocery and Baking company.

—SALESMEN—

All qualified authorities agree that from now until the end of the World's Fair Chicago Real Estate offers the greatest opportunity. W. Burke Barron, president of this great National Organization which operates in 32 American cities, just completed a trip made this unqualified statement: "Chicago offers a better market for Real Estate today, than any city in the United States. So far as our company is concerned the upward swing of the Real Estate Market in Chicago is here."

Our business has been excellent for three months.

Our salesmen are prosperous, happy and full of enthusiasm.

We are optimistic, full of fight and ready to go.

We will spare no expense or trouble to make this a record Real Estate Organization Chicago has ever seen and 1931 the best year of our unbroken record of 22 unusually successful years in Chicago.

No matter in what lines your sales experience may have been matter how tough the going this past year, if the future before you is not as bright as you would have it we offer you—

A business with earnings limited only by your ability, adaptability and willingness to work.

The tremendous financial backing, enormous prestige and long experience of the oldest, largest and most successful business of its kind the world has ever seen.

A system and course of training under successful, qualified instructors who will personally sell for you your first $15,000.00 worth of property with full commission to you.

A potential future which cannot be surpassed in the selling of any other commodity, merchandise or intangibles.

The moral and actual support of happiest, most prosperous and busiest fighting sales organization in Chicago, one which has rolled up tremendous momentum in these three months, sold steadily and consistently and refuses to be stopped by conditions or mental attitudes.

If you are a salesman, if you want a future, if you have the will to demand big earnings we'll put the light and stamina into you to get them.

Harmon has started. Any bank will tell you what that means.
